LEVY RATES IN BALANCE

Hoover's Plans Undisclosed, Although He Holds Small Deficit Not Dangerous

Decision Must Be Reached on Question Within Next Week or Ten Days

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (Exclusive)—Continuation of this year's reduced tax rates in 1931 today hung in the balance.

President Hoover made it known that prospective expenditures may exceed revenues by a "comparatively small percentage," but that as there have been surpluses for many years the Treasury can stand a small deficit "without disturbing the stability of the government at all."

While nothing was disclosed as to the President's state of mind as to income taxes, it seems still possible he may recommend to Congress next month continuation of this year's rates, which in the absence of further legislation will lapse.

SMOOT'S ADVICE

If the President determines to favor the lower tax rates, he will be going counter to the advice of Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, who today asserted that the Treasury cannot possibly stand another year of these rates. Senator Smoot and Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, who yesterday took a similar position, are believed to reflect the opinion of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who, however, is prepared to follow the President's judgment.

The President must reach a definite decision during the next week or ten days. Both his annual message to Congress and his annual budget message will be in the hands of the printer within less than two weeks.

FINAL FIGURES DELAYED

Final estimates as to expenditures and revenues for the fiscal year 1932 with which the new budget will deal have not been submitted to the President, who has desired to wait until the last possible minute before sizing up all the factors which enter into the situation. Exact figures as to the appropriations to be asked for speeding up public works construction with a view to aiding the unemployment situation will be included in the information which remains to be furnished to the President.

There seems ground for the belief that the President may urge legislation to continue this year's income-tax rates despite the admitted fact that the financial situation of the government is somewhat worse now than on August 22, last, when he announced his hope that such a recommendation could be made.

The President's statement on August 22 was made after reports had appeared in the newspapers that the threatened deficit would make continuation of the reduced tax rates impossible.

DEBT ITEMS IGNORED

Those who insist that the President will regard it as essential that tax rates shall not be increased at this time, point to the fact that the Treasury estimates of revenues have invariably ignored debt payments

LINDBERGHS BRUSH UP ON CHILD LORE

Noted Pair Accept Bid to Conference on Juveniles' Welfare at White House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Aviation, the Lindbergh guiding star, may be in semieclipse for a few November days while a pair of very prominent parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, consider another big, broad subject—child health and protection.

The Lindberghs have accepted President Hoover's invitation to attend his White House child health conference starting next Wednesday.

Several times guest of President Hoover at his summer camp and the White House, Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh may have become interested in the conference because it was a project close to the President's heart.

Then again—

What's best for babies in general has been worked out for the conference by 1200 child experts—the most up-to-date information anywhere available.

Plenty of chance for parents to pick up a few pointers to apply to one baby in particular!

DELEGATES OF SOVIET IMPERILED

Plot by White Russians to Kill Arms Conference Representatives Revealed

GENEVA, Nov. 14. (AP)—The Exchange Telegraph today said that the Swiss police have been observing great secrecy in connection with a plot discovered yesterday to assassinate members of the soviet delegation to the preparatory disarmament commission.

The agency said the conspiracy was revealed through a letter written in Russian and addressed to the soviet delegation and the secretary-general of the League of Nations.

It was stated in this letter it was the intention of a White Russian to board the train as it was leaving with the delegation for the frontier and to shoot the members of the party, including Maxim Litvinoff, soviet Foreign Minister.

The letter was not regarded as a hoax, for the police had been made aware of the presence in Switzerland of a number of soviet enemies who got into the country without passports.

American Claims for $40,000,000 Damages Denied

HAMBURG, Nov. 14. (AP)—Damage claims by Americans in two cases amounting to $40,000,000 have been rejected by the mixed claims commission dealing with asserted sabotage acts in the United States by German agents.

The commission unanimously stated that the Kingsland explosion in 1917 was not caused by German agents and in the famous Black Tom case of 1916 that the proof against the Germans was insufficient to convince the judges.

Surgery Saves Chicken That Crossed Road

BEAVERTON (Or.) Nov. 14. (AP)—The miracle of modern surgery has again been successfully demonstrated.

A hen owned by Mrs. Ed Meier of Helvetia was struck by an automobile. She took fifty stitches in the fowl, she said, to save its life, and reported today the hen "hasn't even stopped laying."

BLOOD SHED IN CLASH ON CORN GRAB

Reports Crossing Border Say Reds and Peasants in Fierce Conflict

LONDON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Fighting between peasants and Communist forces resulting in much bloodshed in the regions of Ostrov and Optokha near the Lettish-Russian frontier was reported in Reuters dispatches from Riga today.

The population of a number of villages was reported in the Riga press to have revolted after attempts had been made to enforce the seizure of corn and collectivization of farms.

The villages of Jelino and Dubki are said to have been destroyed by bombardments from an armored train, while other villages were partly destroyed.

A number of peasants are reported to have been executed and many families imprisoned.

Gas War Opens Anew at Seattle

SEATTLE, Nov. 14.—The recurrent gasoline price war broke out again here today with prices reduced generally from 21 1-2 cents to 20 cents.

A few stations are selling at 18 cents a gallon.

OPPOSITION REPULSED BY TARDIEU

French Deputies Sustain Premier Second Time in Confidence Test

PARIS, Nov. 14. (AP)—For the second time in forty-eight hours the Tardieu government today repulsed the assaults of the opposition and came out of a heated debate in the Chamber of Deputies with its majority safe.

Today's offensive turned upon the government's home financial policy, which was indorsed after a bitter exchange by a vote of 318 to 271. At the end of a long session last night the government's foreign policies were upheld by a substantial majority.

The attack was led today by the Socialists, supported by Radical members, and at one point a direct accusation of malfeasance in office was aimed at Minister of Justice Peret, who was charged with accepting a post as legal adviser to the Oustric Bank, which recently failed, after having permitted listing of Oustric stock on the Bourse while he was Minister of Finance.

Peret retorted with an indignant denial and Premier Tardieu rallied to his defense with an expression of complete confidence.

The opposition turned its debate into a distinctly political issue, and this error in tactics aided the government in obtaining its majority of forty-seven votes on an expression of confidence.

Bishop Cannon Still Has Pain

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who has been in a hospital undergoing treatment for inflammatory arthritis since October 27, last, still is unable to move without pain.

Physicians said the arthritis has not spread. They believe the trouble is caused by a latent infection left after the bishop suffered an attack of African fever in the Belgian Congo in 1927.

JAPANESE PREMIER GAINS

Hope Rises That Hamaguchi Will Recover From Wound Inflicted by Young "Patriot"

TOKIO, Nov. 15 (Saturday.) (AP)—Continued improvement after a good night of rest and the failure of any sign of complications developing brought hope to Japan this morning that Premier Hamaguchi will recover from the wound inflicted yesterday by Tomeo Sagoya, 23 years of age, supposedly demented or misguided patriot.

A bulletin issued from the hospital at 10 a.m. today said there was no sign of complications at that time and his physicians announced they consider his condition hopeful. Previously the physicians had said that unless peritonitis developed by noon today, the "warrior for peace" probably would survive the attack.

MIND CLEAR

His mind continues clear, physicians said, and he questioned his nurses about his assailant.

Eugene Dooman, first secretary of the American Embassy and acting Charge d'Affaires during the absence of Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes, visited Foreign Minister Shidehara and delivered the message of the American Secretary of State, Stimson, expressing the earnest hope that Hamaguchi's life, "which has contributed so nobly to the peace of the world, may be spared to his country."

Sagoya, the Premier's assailant, is kept secluded and it could not be learned whether he was actuated by misguided opposition to the Premier's acceptance of the London naval treaty, some other political animosity or merely by private grievance.

Hamaguchi won his title of "warrior for peace" in a sturdy fight of months for acceptance of the London treaty, which many high naval officers and patriotic extremists asserted did not give Japan adequate sea power with the United States and Great Britain, asserting that good will among nations would amply compensate for slight naval disadvantage.

Hamaguchi withstood the clamor of criticism, obtained the sanction of the Privy Council for the treaty and finally the ratification by Emperor Hirohito of the instrument of peace.

ARMS CURB PLAN WINS

Budgetary Idea Adopted

Commission Votes 16 to 3 on Scheme Opposed by United States

Method for Limiting Land Armaments Stirs Sharp Verbal Encounters

GENEVA, Nov. 14. (AP)—The preliminary disarmament commission after three days of debate adopted today the British proposal which sets forth that a majority of the commission associates itself with the principle of land-war limitation by the budgetary method.

The vote was 16 to 3, with six abstensionists, including the United States which, through its representative, Hugh S. Gibson, previously had declared the plan unacceptable.

Ambassador Gibson today explained he was obliged to abstain from voting as he would have preferred the commission to have first placed itself on record as to whether there really was a majority in favor of budgetary limitation.

WHAT IT SAYS

The British resolution, as presented by Viscount Cecil, reads:

"A majority of the commission associates itself with the principle of limitation by budgetary methods of land-war material while recognizing that certain members would prefer the direct method of specific enumeration, and that certain members would desire to see some combination of the two methods."

Viscount Cecil explained its purpose was to put an end to the long debate by summarizing the sentiment of the commission and to leave the way clear for submission of rival proposals dealing with limiting of materials.

Germany, Italy and Russia voted against the resolution. The abstensionists, in addition to the United States, were Sweden, Turkey, Venezuela, Bulgaria and China. The next matter before the commission is consideration of the French proposal that the budgetary method be placed in the hands of a group of experts for study. The results of this study would be reported to the various governments before the convening of the general disarmament conference.

VERBAL EXCHANGE

The day's session was again enlivened by an exchange of remarks between Rene Massigli, French delegate, and Maxim Litvinoff, Russian representative, who yesterday had a verbal tilt with Viscount Cecil.

Massigli, in urging the adoption of the budgetary method, asserted it is the simplest method. Litvinoff pounced on this idea, declaring if simplicity is the object of the commission it would find the simplest thing no disarmament at all. The next simplest thing, he said, is just to limit in a single sphere.

"Simplicity," he cried, "is in direct invert ratio to disarmament. We must recognize disarmament is not a simple thing."

He reiterated his contention that budgetary limitation will not touch existing war materials or those accumulated up to the moment the convention is signed. He insisted the budgetary methods will place the industrially weak or undeveloped countries at a disadvantage since they can not get so much for their money as the strong industrial states.

Before adoption of the British proposal the commission voted down resolutions offered by Italy and Russia and polled a tie vote on a German proposal. The German proposal, submitted by Count Von Bernstorff, was for direct limitation by enumeration of war materials. It resulted in a tie vote, 9 to 9, with 7 abstentions. Among those voting for the resolution was the United States.

UNITED STATES WITHHOLDS COMMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Acceptance by the League of Nations preparatory disarmament commission of the principle of limitation of land-war material by the budgetary method will not influence United States opposition to such a method, so far as its being applied to the American services is concerned.

The acceptance was not unexpected in official circles here, but no immediate comment was forthcoming.

As a result of conversations between the American delegate, Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson, and President Hoover and Secretary Stimson before the session opened, it was decided that the United States would stand firm in its opposition to the plan. Gibson has indicated, however, that the United States has no objection to the other nations applying this method to their own forces.

Just think: A man in charge of aviation that can fly; its almost like a general fighting his own war. And say, you haven't had any landing in an airplane till you land on the deck of one of these things. I sure was glad we hit it. Got to tell you more about this later.

Mexico Leads in Unification

Dozal Proposal for Solving Lower Colorado Control Meets With Favor International Commission Inspects Yuma System and Below Border.

BY JACKSON S. BERGER
"Times" Staff Representative

YUMA, Nov. 14. (Exclusive)—Mexico took the initiative here today in recommending the first move in unified control of the flood waters of the Lower Colorado River during an observation tour of the International Water Commission over the Yuma project and the irrigation canal systems below the border at San Luis, Mex.

Fortunato Dozal, chief of the Mexican section of the commission, revealed that he has suggested to his government that private efforts at control of the river on the Sonora banks be suspended, at least until the international commission has the opportunity to present its plans for co-ordinated control of the stream.

DOZAL PROPOSAL

Under the recommendation of Dozal the present channel of the Colorado, changed during the last flood period toward the Sonora side or eastern banks, opposite the Pescadero cut-off, will be permitted to remain undisturbed.

Thus did Mexico step forward toward a unified plan, which ultimately is expected to bring the muddy, unruly stream into confines to guard the flow and remove the annual threat of inundation of thousands of acres of fertile agricultural areas.

Dozal revealed his suggestion while members of the international commission stood on the bleak, sand-swept shores of the Colorado far below the border at San Luis and near the Bacamora Canal, beyond which the raging waters of last year swept through a protection levee and carved a new channel for the stream.

PLAN FAVORED

The plan of the Mexican official found instant favor with L. M. Lawson, head of the American section of the commission, who announced that tentative plans for a unified and co-ordinated scheme of river control between the two governments are progressing toward the

COLD WAVE HITS WEST

Entire Mountain Area Chilled

Snow, Rain, Frost Recorded From Denver to Pacific, South to Border

Sierra Regions Blanketed; Temperature Goes to 2 Deg. Below

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14. (AP)—To the cadence of falling snowflakes in many sections, winter came to the west today to whisk away the last vestige of Indian summer and replace it with varied temperatures that spell winter for coast and mountain State alike.

From Denver to the Pacific Ocean and from Canada to Mexico, particularly in the highlands, snow fell and in the lowlands along the coast there was frost or rain, according to the cloudiness or humidity.

Seattle had its coldest morning this fall with the temperature officially down to 32 deg. above zero. Inland there was snow and cold. At Longview it went down to 24 above.

All Oregon was visited by the cold snap. The snow was greatest at Pendleton. The lowest temperature was at Klamath Falls, where the mercury went down to 19 above. Many points reported frost.

SNOW IN SIERRAS

In California it was clear and cold in most places today following a day of snow and rain. The snow blanketed the Sierras and plateau region generally although it was not deep.

Up in Alaska, the Yukon Territory and Northern British Columbia the low temperatures extended and rivers froze over. The weather was not unseasonal, however.

In Arizona, especially in the northern uplands around Flagstaff, snow fell during the night and the forecast was for more.

Two inches of snow fell yesterday around Salt Lake City.

ARRIVES ON SCHEDULE

Wyoming's winter arrived at the exact time predicted and brought a seven-inch snowfall to Yellowstone National Park. The fall was heavy around Sheridan, extending, though lighter, to the northern border.

At Great Falls, Mont., the State's lowest temperature was recorded where the thermometer said 2 deg. below. At Helena it was 1 above. At Billings a four-inch snow stopped motor traffic but there was no suffering. The snow was general.

In Nevada a forty years' record for cold was broken for November 14. At Reno the temperature dropped to 6 above.

PROSPECT OF RAIN FORECAST FOR TOMORROW

Partly cloudy weather without rain will continue today, observers at the United States Weather Bureau predicted last night. But a prospect of rain tomorrow is noted.

No rain was added in Los Angeles yesterday during the twenty-four-hour period that ended at 6 p.m. to the .05 of an inch that fell here Thursday, to make a season total of .16 of an inch. Normal rainfall for this time of the season is 1.27 inches. Last year on the same date .32 of an inch had fallen.

First winter sports of the season are expected to attract many today and tomorrow to Camp Seeley, Los Angeles municipal playground, and to Big Pines, country recreational camp, both in the San Bernardino Mountains.

Four inches of snow were reported on the ground yesterday at the municipal center, and two inches at the county camp. Regular slides will not be open at the county playground, but it was stated enough snow lies in surrounding canyons to make short sled rides possible.

The southern end of California's watershed in the Sierra Nevadas was reported by the Southern California Edison Company to have received a general blanket of snow. At Huntington Lake the company dispatcher said 10 inches of snow was on the ground yesterday, 1 inch at Florence Lake, 4 inches at Shaver Lake and 2 inches at Big Creek Powerhouse No. 1.

Following is the rainfall in inches reported from various Southern Cal-

CAPONE TURNS SAMARITAN

King of Gangsters Feeds 2000 Chicago Jobless Daily at Cost of $2100 a Week

CHICAGO, Nov. 14. (Exclusive)—The secret of a mysterious kitchen on South State street has leaked out.

For more than two weeks passers-by have been attracted by the flaming sign that stretches across the vacant store at that address and reads:

"Free soup, coffee and doughnuts to the unemployed."

Day by day the lines of hungry, homeless men have lengthened until they form a line two blocks long at meal time.

Today it became known that Chicago's public benefactor is no other than Chicago's foremost "public enemy," the notorious Al (Scarface) Capone, the king of gangsters, cast in a new role.

After many denials by the tight-lipped aides-de-camp in charge, it was finally admitted that it was Al himself who is feeding the jobless and the down-and-outers.

"Sure! Why not?" said one of them. "Nobody else was doing it, and Mr. Capone couldn't stand it seeing so many poor fellows dying of starvation. Not heart failure, mind you, but starvation. Somebody had to do something about it, so he opened up this place. Pretty nifty, isn't it."

"Nifty," might not have been quite the word to express it, but the canteen certainly is neat and the viands of the best. A half-dozen long tables, to which crude benches are attached, are covered with linoleum. The kitchen is as clean as a Dutch housewife's.

On the counter, ready for the noonday deal, were hundreds of thick slices of fresh white bread. Coffee boilers steamed in the background, while from the kitchen wafted the appetizing odor of vegetable soup.

Breakfast is served at 7:30; lunch at 11:30 and supper at 4:30. The canteen has been feeding more than 2000 a day at a cost of $2100 a week.

In this, as in all his operations, Capone has done things in a grand way.

"We serve the best of everything," said Al's lieutenant.

"And he is going to keep it up until this business depression is over and the men on the streets can find jobs. Drop around here on Thanksgiving. We are going to serve turkey and cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie to everybody."

CONGRESS HAS HUGE TURNOVER

Nearly Fifth of Members to Give Up Their Seats

Two Will Go to Senate and Thirteen to Retire

G.O.P. in Lead, but Dozen Contests Planned

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Almost a fifth of the members of the present House of Representatives will drop from public life when Congress adjourns March 4, 1931.

The first list of members of the newly elected House compiled by William Tyir Page, the Clerk, shows seventy-seven seats will have new occupants as a result of the recent elections, the primaries and voluntary retirements.

Thirteen will retire voluntarily when this Congress expires, two will go to the Senate and the remainder will drop from the Congressional rolls through elections.

REPUBLICANS LEAD

The list, based on certificates of election and unofficial reports, places the Republicans for the new House at 218; Democrats, 216, and Farmer-Labor, one.

Contests are planned by Democrats over a dozen seats to which Republicans were elected by narrow margins. The outcome may determine whether the Republicans or Democrats hold the balance of power for organization.

All of the retiring members expect to serve during the short session beginning December 1. Their successors will not take their seats for a year, unless a special session is called.

Among the retiring members are Fort of New Jersey, Ruth Hanna McCormick of Illinois, Pritchard of North Carolina and Sproul of Kansas, who sought Senate seats.

White of Maine and Cordell Hull of Tennessee were elected to the Senate.

THOSE WHO RETIRED

Those retiring voluntarily are Mrs. Pearl Peden Oldfield of Arkansas, Fenn of Connecticut, Stobbs of Massachusetts, Doyle and Ramey of Illinois, Hoffman of New Jersey, Wainwright of New York, Watres and Esterly of Pennsylvania, Fisher of Tennessee, Hudspeth of Texas, Moore of Virginia and Brigham of Vermont.

Those carried on the Clerk's list as defeated for re-election include Merritt of Connecticut; Bell of Georgia, Sproul, Michaelson, Kunz, Irwin and Denison of Illinois; Rowbottom, Dunbar, Johnson, Elliott, Hall and Hickey of Indiana; Letts of Iowa; Craddock, Newhall, Blackburn, Walker, Mendall and Mrs. Katherine Langley of Kentucky; O'Connor and Spearing of Louisiana; Clark and Zihlman of Maryland; Hudson and Cramton of Michigan; Ellis, Halsey, Palmer, [illegible], Short and Johnson of Missouri; Sears, Sloan and Johnson of Nebraska; Simms of New Mexico; [illegible] of New York; Jonas of North Carolina; Fitzgerald, Thompson, Kearns, Chalmers, Speaks, Baird and Morgan of Ohio; O'Connor and Stone of Oklahoma; Korell of Oregon; Menges of Pennsylvania; Reece of Tennessee; Box of Texas; Whitehead, Garber and Shaffer of Virginia; Miller of Washington; Wolverton of West Virginia, and Hull and Browne of Wisconsin.

RIVER CONTROL PLAN ADVANCED

objective with speed and harmony.

The Times learns from a semi-official source that the plans for the river control include a broad survey of the tributaries to the Colorado from the Boulder Dam site to Laguna Dam, near this city. This survey will consider rainfall conditions that might suddenly throw a "flash flood" into the river, silting and desilting conditions on the river between the two dams, how the silting process will affect the flow of the river after the Boulder Dam is constructed, and other hydrographic changes that might come in the suspension of the main flow behind the giant dam.

From the Laguna Dam a close survey of the river will be made to discover its affect on the Yuma project, hundreds of acres of fertile lands now under cultivation and irrigated from the Colorado.

BELOW BORDER

Below the border to the Gulf another survey will determine by every agency of engineering skill the proper channel for the river to follow so that it may be in control at all times with complete protection to all projects which it annually threatens under present conditions.

The complete scheme is understood to be in the hands of the Mexican and American commissions now and its adoption for construction remains for decision of other departmental agencies of the two governments after members of the international commission submit their reports within the month.

Today the commissioners visited Laguna Dam, where water for irrigation of the Yuma project is taken from the Colorado, and the Mexican section was deeply impressed with the big dam that impounds the water and diverts it to the canals, Dozal said.

Following the trip to the dam the members were guests of the city of Yuma at a luncheon where J. Vasquez Schiafano, head of the Mexican delegation, declared his government to be conscious of the opportunities for development that lie behind unified control of the river.

More Victims of Slide Found

LYONS (France) Nov. 14. (AP)—The bodies of two women, crushed beyond recognition, were lifted today from the ruins of one of the twelve houses destroyed yesterday by a landside along the slopes of the Fourviere Hill.

It brought the number of bodies recovered to eight. Meanwhile, digging in the ruins must go on for several days longer, for it is probable nearly 100 bodies are still buried.

FOUR DEAD IN RIOTING AT MADRID

Dozen Seriously Hurt and Fifty Others Injured in Sudden Outbreak

MADRID, Nov. 14. (AP) — With a suddenness which left the city aghast, a series of riots exploded in the center of the business section today and within half an hour four men had been killed, a dozen seriously wounded and fifty others injured.

Thousands of workmen poured into the streets, augmenting a crowd which had gathered for funeral services for four workers who perished yesterday in a building collapse. The demonstration began as a protest against the erection of flimsy buildings which endangered the lives of workmen, but it developed quickly into a vicious battle.

Mounted police charged the crowd as the cry "Viva revolucion!" was raised and, as the rioters flung stones at the officers, sabers were swung freely. Merchants hastened to raise shutters and lock their doors as the mob stoned shops and offices.

Then, as quickly as it had begun, the fight was over and the rioters were routed.

CONTINUED LOW TAX IN BALANCE

from foreign nations, which heretofore have been used for retirement of the debt. Secretary Mellon some months ago, during the consideration of veterans' legislation, forecast a deficit of $180,000,000 for the present fiscal year if the reduced tax rates remain effective. It is estimated that the interest portion of the foreign debt payments, which can be used for current expenditures if paid in cash as expected, will amount to about $185,000,000 during this fiscal year, or more than enough to wipe out the threatened deficit. Increased expenditures for veterans and further increases in prospect for public works have upset the situation then existing but there also have been reductions as a result of an economy drive.

Even though there should be a deficit of $100,000,000 or $200,000,000, or more after using interest payments from foreign nations, it is pointed out that this could be absorbed easily by increased borrowings in the quarterly short-term financing of the Treasury. This plan is advocated by Representative Wood, Republican, Indiana, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

Cuba Quiet on Second Day of Martial Law

HAVANA, Nov. 14. (AP)—Cuba passed quietly its second day of martial law, decreed yesterday by President Machado following three days of rioting in the capital and Santiago.

With heavily armed soldiers patrolling the streets, challenging all suspicious persons and breaking up any attempted gatherings, the streets of the Cuban metropolis lost their deserted appearance and business was resumed in full.

The government announced martial law probably will be lifted within a few days. Spokesmen said a campaign against Communists, charged with responsibility for the recent disorders soon will be launched in force.

OLVANY DENIES EWALD CASE KNOWLEDGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (Exclusive) George W. Olvany, who was chief of Tammany Hall when George F. Ewald was appointed a city magistrate in 1927, devoted fifty minutes of his noon hour to the extraordinary grand jury today explaining that he knew nothing of the asserted purchase of Ewald's appointment. He had signed a waiver of immunity.

DO-X FORCED TO TAXI OVER SEA

ing the flying boat will go to St. Nazaire de Charente, a short distance farther south, and there take on fuel and possibly adjust the crippled engines.

The DO-X's adventures furnished a hectic day not only for those on board but for those on land watching its progress.

SOME LEFT BEHIND

Even this morning, when the huge ship left Calshot air station in England, several false starts were made before it could be lifted from the water. This was caused partly by a heavy fog which veiled the coast and even prevented some of the passengers from reaching Calshot in time. Robert Hartman, Lady Grace Drummond-Hay, newspaper correspondent, and another reporter were left behind, the DO-X taking off with only twenty-four persons aboard.

Thereafter the progress of the seaplane was difficult to follow. The plane's wireless was so infrequently picked up it was believed the apparatus must not be working and a confusion of reports poured in.

The events of the day caused aviation experts here to compliment the builders of the DO-X, for the great ship—it is as much a ship as it is a plane—showed it was able to descend on the water and ride through difficulties that might have brought disaster to other types of aerial craft.

There was some speculation here tonight that the DO-X might omit its visit here and hence speed the journey to Lisbon, where the departure for the United States will be made, but no definite information on that point was obtained.

NORTH REJOICES OVER SNOW AND RAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14. (Exclusive)—Except for cotton growers of the San Joaquin Valley and a few grape growers who fear damage from further precipitation, Northern and Central California generally rejoiced today in the rain that fell yesterday and today and power companies were pleased at the thick blanket of snow that nestles on the mountains from the Oregon line south. Although today's rain was not as general as that of yesterday, snow fell at many points in the Cascades and Sierras and the Weather Bureau promises a great deal more.

Weather observers expressed the opinion the precipitation will not be enough to cause serious damage to cotton or grape crops.

Shipping, however, may not fare so well. A "disturbance of remarkable intensity," it was reported, centers tonight in the upper Gulf of Alaska and is moving southeastward with a trough extending to the Oregon coast. Winds are rising and storm warnings have been ordered out the length of the Oregon and Washington coasts with a possibility of their extension southward by tomorrow night.

Executive Committee to Ask Disability Awards on Par With Other Wars

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 14. (AP)—A legislative program dealing with amendments to the World War Veterans' Act in behalf of disabled veterans was adopted by the national executive committee of the American Legion in its closing session at national headquarters here today.

The program includes a resolution the disability allowance provision be amended to provide the same rate of pay for World War veterans and their widows and orphans as is paid veterans and widows and orphans of other wars. This is interpreted to mean the Spanish American War.

Another provides the time limit be extended to July 2, 1941, in which marriage of a World War veteran may occurr and make the widow eligible for an award if otherwise entitled.

PISHAUKOS VISITED BY EXPLORER

Young Scientist Returns From Venezuela Jungles With Tale of Lost Tribe

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—Desmond Holdridge, 24-year-old explorer and ethnologist, is back from Venezuela with a suit case of human bones and a tale of a "lost tribe" of Indians who spread live ants over their bodies to ward off illness.

Holdridge returned yesterday after spending seven months in the jungle gathering material for the Brooklyn Museum of Art and the American Geographical Society.

The tribe, called the Pishauko, was located after a twenty-five-day trip up the Amazon River and the Rio Branca and a six weeks' trek on horseback. Holdridge traveled alone except for native guides, and he asserts he is the only white man to set foot in the Pishaukos' territory—deep in the brush of Southern Venezuela.

The Pishaukos, he explained, are a ferocious tribe and are continually at war with neighboring Indians. They practice self-torture to end illness, he said, and observe religiously rites of their medicine men.

British Concern Makes Deal for Russian Gasoline

LONDON, Nov. 14. (AP)—The Daily Express says that the British Electrical Federation, which controls several important road transportation companies in Great Britain, has contracted with the Russian Oil Products Company for approximately 20,000,000 British gallons of gasoline.

The price agreed upon was 9.7 pence a gallon as against a combination of other companies whose lowest offer was 10.5 pence.

The paper said it is believed in oil circles it was news of this deal which was directly responsible for the recent action of the Export Petroleum Association of America in suspending export price schedules.

"Bachelor Girl" Misnomer as Age Creeps On

LONDON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Two of England's best-known women are agreed "old maid" is not the proper way to speak of an unmarried woman, but they are in dispute concerning a substitute.

Miss Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of the Premier, said at the opening of the Unmarried Women's Exhibition today she preferred the term "bachelor girl."

Dame Louise McIlroy, noted physician, expressed a preference for "spinster."

Said Miss MacDonald:

"Women are entitled to be called bachelor girls, rather than be regarded as failures in the marriage market. I am greatly annoyed when people, discussing some attractive girl, remark she would make a good wife and wonder why she doesn't marry.

"People don't seem to realize a girl is not going to become a 'good wife' just for anyone. Her choice has been much reduced by the war."

Many girls, she added, prefer professions now open to them, rather than the alternative of "humdrum married life."

"I don't mean all married life is humdrum," she went on, "but it may appear so to some girls, compared with careers and a bachelor life of their own."

Dame Louise described "spinster" as "a good old-fashioned English word" much preferable to the modern term. She also expressed the opinion there are many more "love marriages" now than there were in the Victorian era.

NYE CLOSES HEARINGS IN COLORADO

Evidence on Campaign of Shaw Held Contradictory; Montana Quiz Slated

DENVER, Nov. 14. (AP)—Bristling with contradictions in connection with assertions and denials of public utility participation in Colorado general and municipal elections, evidence was completed tonight before the Nye Senatorial Fund Investigating Committee on Expenditures in the United States Senatorial campaigns in this State.

Chairman Nye summed up his observations during the two days of the hearing with the statement: "I feel that in no State have we succeeded in getting into the record facts of so great value as we have in Colorado."

Clare N. Stannard, vice-president and general manager of the Publice Service Company of Colorado, a Doherty concern, asserted emphatically his company had interested itself in no elections.

He is the chief executive officer of the concern whose chief legal counsel is George H. Shaw, Republican candidate for United States Senator defeated in last week's elections.

"Neither I nor the New York Doherty officials wanted Shaw to run," said Stannard. "We didn't want to lose a fine man as attorney and we wanted to avoid a situation such as this."

D. L. Welsh of Boulder, an employee of the Public Service Company, testified that he had issued cards to Shaw workers on primary election day calling for free gasoline at three stations selling Cities Service gasoline.

The committee announced assertions that eastern and California oil interests sent money into Montana for use in the Senatorial campaigns will be investigated the latter part of this month.

The investigation into the Montana election in which Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat, carried the State by 40,000 votes over Albert J. Galen, Associate Supreme Justice, will also include an inquiry into the source of money used for advertising over the signature of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Waterways to Furnish Work for Emergency

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Plans for an outlay of $5,000,000 for inland waterway equipment as an aid to unemployment relief during the next few months received consideration at the War Department today at the request of Chairman Woods of the President's emergency committee for employment.

Woods made inquiry at the department about the plans announced by Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, president of the Inland Waterways Corporation at New Orleans, for a co-operative movement to relieve unemployment.

HOPE WANES IN SEARCH FOR FLYERS

Snow and Wind Blighting Chance of Finding Lost Groups in Canada Wilds

PRINCE RUPERT (B. C.) Nov. 14. (AP)—Only slight hope of finding six missing flyers in this region remained tonight as a general snowstorm and heavy winds kept seven American and Canadian rescue planes on the ground. Meanwhile, two United States Navy planes are expected in Seattle tomorrow noon from San Diego and it is hoped they will reach here Sunday.

Thirty-five days have passed since the Canadian Pilot E. J. A. Burke, Emil Kading and Bob Marten, a prospector, disappeared north of Atlin, and seventeen days have passed since Pilot Robin Renahan, Bellingham, Wash., native, and his Seattle companions, Frank Hatcher and Sam Clerf, disappeared when almost within sight of this town. They were heading north to search for the Burke party.

Thorough searches have been made already, here and north of Atlin, revealing no trace of either party.

Capone's Large Gambling House Profits Related

CHICAGO, Nov. 14. (AP) — Testimony on how "Scarface Al" Capone's gambling houses operated in constantly changing locations at profits of between $25,000 to $30,000 a month was given in the Federal income tax evasion trial of Jack Guzik today by Fred Ries, a surprise witness for the government.

Guzik is one of Capone's leading aides and reputed operator of suburban Cicero gambling houses. Ries drew on the knowledge gained during nearly a lifetime in the gambling racket to describe the operation of the Capone-Guzik establishments. Profits in good times, he said, averaged between $25,000 and $30,000 monthly.

He was asked whether the house ever suffered a loss.

Ries hesitated, then answered: "I would say no."

England Takes Dominions Into Partnership

Each Autonomous Unit on Basis of Equality

Next Imperial Conference to Be in Ottawa

LONDON, Nov. 14. (AP)—The scattered dominions of the British Empire emerged from the concluding sessions of the Imperial Conference today full partners with the motherland in a commonwealth of nations.

This autonomous self-government empire co-partnership will be given effect in law by a "statute of Westminster." to be introduced in the House of Commons at the present Parliament.

Although the conference was successful in solving its constitutional problems, it failed to reach an agreement on any of the important economic issues placed before it. These will be taken up at an economic conference in Ottawa next summer.

EQUAL PARTNERSHIP

"The dominions of Great Britain," was the way J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for Dominions, explained to newspaper men the new status assigned England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.

"We are a dominion now and I wish to emphasize that status," he said, half humorously and half seriously. He pointed out that in 1926 Great Britain was a predominant partner in the British commonwealth, but now is a partner co-equal with Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, New Foundland and the Irish Free State.

Although under the new plan Great Britain becomes an equal partner with the dominions undivided loyalty to the throne and the British monarch was attested by the delegates.

INDIA ASPIRATIONS

India's hope of attaining a similar status was given voice by Sir Muhammad Shafti, spokesman for the Indian delegation, who said the whole of India, including its princes and its people, are looking forward to co-partnership in the empire.

Another matter decided by the conference was that work on the Singapore naval base be postponed five years, when the question again will be reviewed.

A promise was given by the British government that the existing preferential margins accorded by the United Kingdom to other parts of the empire will not be reduced for a period of three years, or pending the outcome of the Ottawa conference. The government, however, reserved the right to fix its budget from year to year.

MacDONALD REPLIES TO CONFERENCE CRITICS

BEDFORD (Eng.) Nov. 14. (AP)—Premier MacDonald told an audience here tonight it would be impossible for any British government to promise the Prime Ministers of the Dominions to tax the English people's food and raw materials for their factories.

His remarks were in reply to criticisms that his government failed to get economic benefits out of the recent imperial conference.

Gould Heiress Named in Suit

PARIS, Nov. 14. (AP)—The former Anna Gould and her husband, the Duke de Talleyrand, were sued for 3,000,000 francs (about $120,000) today by Max Guggenheim, prominent sportsman, who asserts they had damaged him to that extent by filing against him an unfounded charge of swindling.

The case grew out of a dispute which arose when the Duke and Duchess purchased part of Guggenheim's racing stable at Cannes for 3,000,000 francs.

RESPIRATOR GIRL TAKES NAP IN BED

Frances McGann Conquers Her Fears of Paralysis and Has Long Sleep

CHICAGO, Nov. 14. (AP)—For the first time in two months Frances McGann, the "respiratory girl" awoke today in bed.

Her lung muscles deadened early in September by an attack of infantile paralysis the 25-year-old student nurse at St. Luke's Hospital was unable to breathe.

She was placed in the respirator—the alternating vacuum and inrush of air filled and emptied the girl's lungs.

Gradually Miss McGann improved. Within a few weeks physicians were able to remove her from the mechanical breather for half-hour periods each day. Week after week these periods were lengthened.

The nurse, however, was afraid to sleep outside the respirator. This, her physician said, deterred her recovery.

Last night Miss McGann bucked up hre courage. She lay down in a real bed and went to sleep for eighteen hours.

Two Killed and Two Injured in Head-on Smash

SAN JOSE, Nov. 14. (AP)—Two persons were killed and two critically injured in a head-on automobile collision on the State highway near San Martin today.

The dead are Chester Peeples and Mrs. E. L. Marshall of Santa Monica, while E. J. Lupien, San Diego, and E. L. Marshall are seriously injured.

Leslie Lupien, 9-year-old son of Lupien, said his father was pointing out a train on a main line near by, a moment before their car collided with the machine occupied by Peeples and the Marshalls.

OCEAN AIR MAIL LINE CERTAINTY

Postal Official Announces Plan Complete

Pan-American and British Lines to Co-operate

Route Expected to Be Via Bermuda and Azores

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Plans for an Anglo-American airmail line across the Atlantic were said today by W. Irving Glover second assistant Postmaster-General, to be settled. He confirmed reports published this morning in several newspapers.

"Pan-American Airways, Inc., and Imperial Airways, Ltd., of England will operate the line, which has been planned to begin within another year," Glover said.

"Everything has been settled with the exception of equipment, weather reporting facilities, and location of landing fields both in the States and other points.

CONTRACTS EXPECTED

"The Postoffice Department, which has been aware of negotiations between the two companies for some time, is prepared to give mail to the line, whenever it is ready."

Glover said Charleston, S. C., may be the American terminus of the line because of its location below the bad weather belt.

"Flying boats undoubtedly will be the equipment with which the start will be made," he said, "and while present plans are only for the carrying of mail there may be later extensions to take care of passengers."

WANT GOOD WEATHER

Bermuda and the Azores will be bases for the planes and the American company, which now operates between the United States and South America, will fly the leg between the States and Bermuda.

Imperial Airways, which operates under a British government subsidy and holds exclusive air rights in Bermuda, will be in charge of the remainder of the route.

Service from Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, to Santos, Brazil, the commencement of which was prevented by the Brazilian revolution, will begin the 27th inst., Mr. Glover also announced. On December 2, direct service will be started between Miami, Fla., and Cristobal, Canal Zone. Both lines will connect with the present South American service.

SEA AIR-MAIL PARLEY SCHEDULED NEXT WEEK

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—Plans for an air-mail line between the United States and Europe are to be discussed here next week by representatives of the leading international airway companies of three nations—the United States, England and France—Juan A. Trippe, president of Pan-American Airways, said today.

The three companies at the conference will be Pan-American, Imperial Airways, Ltd., of England and Aeropostale of France.

A representative of Aeropostale has been here for several days conferring with Mr. Trippe on operation of the competing lines of the two companies in South America and Maj. G. E. Woods-Humphrey, managing director of Imperial Airways, is on his way to the United States and expected to arrive Sunday.

Fred Stanek Acclaimed Champion Corn Husker in National Competition

NORTON (Kan.) Nov. 14. (AP)—Fred Stanek, 30-year-old Iowa farmer, speeded through a dusty Kansas corn field today into his fourth national husking championship.

Stanek didn't mind the dust. He proved it by shucking a net load of 30.34 bushels in the eighty-minute contest. He won championships in 1924, 1926 and 1927.

The net load of the Fort Dodge farmer, 2123.8 pounds, was 380 pounds short of the national record established in 1925 by Elmer Williams, the praying husker from Toulon, Ill.

Guy Simms of Harlan county, Nebraska, took second place with 2075.5 pounds, or 29.65 bushels. Theodore Balko of Redwood county, Minnesota, was third with 28.83 bushels.

Ray Hanson of Cottonwood county, Minnesota, first in gross production, was awarded fourth place by the judges after deducting for corn left in the field and husks upon the ears.

News-reel cameras and a radio tower of the National Broadcasting Company recorded the bang-board battle for the eyes and ears of the nation. Thirteen men from seven States took part. Chris Peledder, Indiana runner-up, did not participate.

Observers estimated the crowd at more than 40,000 persons, the largest ever to witness a similar event.

AMES STUDENTS RUN WILD AFTER "INSULT"

AMES (Iowa) Nov. 14. (AP)—Two thousand Iowa State College students overran the business district this afternoon following publication in the college paper of a letter from a merchant charging they were not supporting the football team properly. The fire department was called to extinguish several bonfires in the streets. Little damage was done.

PRAYER COMPOSED FOR UNEMPLOYED

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—A prayer "for deliverance of civilization from grinding poverty and excessive riches" was issued today from the Cathedral of St. John the Divine to the clergy of Protestant Episcopal churches throughout the diocese of New York. The prayer was written by Rt. Rev. William T. Manning in the interest of men and women out of work.

POPULAR DEBUTANTE WEDS SPORTSMAN

SENATOR'S DAUGHTER MADE BRIDE

Miss Hawes of Missouri Weds L. T. Preston and Sails for Big Game Hunt

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (Exclusive)—Miss Eppes Hawes, most popular debutante of the nation's capital, became the bride of Lewis Thompson Preston, millionaire sportsman of New York, here today, and tonight the pair are on the high seas bound for a honeymoon hunt for big game in Africa.

Miss Hawes, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Harris B. Hawes of Missouri, was the most popular debutante of the Long Island set during the recent international polo matches, and the fact that an American finally carried her off is regarded here as a signal victory for the American male. For months some of the noblest young diplomats of foreign countries had danced attendance upon the 19-year-old brunette.

The wedding was one of the smartest and gayest of the season, and when it was over, guests accompanied the couple on a special train to New York, with a reception staged around and aboard the train. A special dance orchestra engaged for the train played all the way to New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Preston then boarded the Olympic for Europe. It sailed at midnight.

Convict Labor Rule Changed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—New regulations on imports will place the burden of proof that convict labor did not enter into their production upon the shipper.

The Customs Bureau is busy on the revision. The question of convict-labor-made goods was brought up when the Treasury temporarily barred imports of lumber and pulp wood from Russia. This action was rescinded after hearings at which it was not conclusively shown the material had been produced by convict labor.

Nord Asks Law to Guard Wife

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14. (AP)—Krist Bertelsen went to court today asking for an injunction to prevent his brother, Trygve Bertelsen, from seeking Krist's wife Ingrid, any more.

Krist charged Trygve, who is a ship's officer on the trans-Pacific liner Calawaii, has been paying court to Ingrid.

The case was taken under advisement.

EPSOM (Eng.) Nov. 14. (AP)—A verdict of suicide while in unsound mind was returned today by a Coroner's jury in the death of Mrs. Gladys Ruth Nicol of Manhattan Beach, Cal., whose body was found in a field near here yesterday with two revolvers by its side.

BULGARIAN ASKS ABOUT WEDDING

Leader of Socialist Party Interpellates Premier

Nation Declared Troubled by Phases of Marriage

Assurance Given Concerning Faith of Any Heir

SOFIA (Bulgaria) Nov. 14. (AP)—M. Pastoukhoff, leader of the Bulgarian Socialists, in the Chamber of Deputies tonight interpellated Premier Liaptcheff on the recent marriage of King Boris and the former Princess Giovanna of Italy. He said two angles to the marriage trouble Bulgaria.

He asked whether the constitutional clause relative to the orthodox religion of any heir to the royal couple has been strictly safeguarded, and whether the royal marriage would not compel Bulgaria to alter her political orientation.

ANSWER MADE

Pastoukhoff said the Fascist imperialistic policy aims to gain influence over the Balkans and small, discontented and vanquished states in order to obtain revision of treaties by violent means.

Premier Liaptcheff replied that the dictates of the Bulgarian constitution regarding the religion of any heir to the throne will be followed. As to the foreign policy, he asserted Bulgaria has no way except to observe her World War peace treaties.

The Socialist said he is dissatisfied with the Premier's explanation.

WHAT IT SAYS

The Bulgarian constitution specifies the King shall be a member of the Bulgarian orthodox church, but says nothing regarding his previous training. King Boris and Queen Giovanna were married with Catholic ceremonies in Italy under the stipulation their children will be reared as Catholics.

This is interpreted as meaning a posible heir to the throne will be brought up a Catholic, but probably will have to become a member of the Bulgarian church on becoming King.

Mind Changed About Radicals

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—The will of Charlotte S. Weiss, spinster who died at 60 years of age, records a change of mind toward intellectual radicals, as she called them.

The document sets forth that in a former will she executed trust funds for the I.W.W., anarchists, Communists, Socialists and pacifists who came in conflict with the law, but that in recent years she found relatives were her true friends and, therefore, she was leaving the radical element little. Her estate is valued at $160,000.

Legion to Sift Ohio Bombing

COLUMBUS (O.) Nov. 14. (AP)—The tear-gas bombing by World War veterans of a St. Clairsville grocery store which remained open Armistice Day will be investigated by the Ohio American Legion.

In announcing the investigation last night, State Commander John A. Elden said, "The men certainly acted without authority from the State Legion department and reports indicate their action was without capacity as Legion members."

Accident Board Vacancy Filled

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 14. (AP)—Gov. Young announced today the appointment of Edward O. Allen, San Francisco, as member of the State Industrial Accident Commission, succeeding Delgar Trowbridge, resigned.

Allen is to serve out Trowbridge's unexpired term ending January 1, 1933.

Allen has for several years been attorney for the commission.

ARKANSAS EXECUTES NEGRO MURDERERS

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) Nov. 14. (AP)—Four Negroes were electrocuted at the State penitentiary today for two murders committed in robberies last year. They were James Turnage and George Washington, convicted of killing W. H. Roberts, Little Rock filling-station operator, and Eddie Long and Willie Joe Davis, convicted of fatally wounding John Weed, North Little Rock grocery-store proprietor and City Alderman.

WILL RECALLS KIND DEED

Document, Forgotten Fifty-three Years in Family Bible, Basis of Claim to Estate

DETROIT, Nov. 14. (AP)—A will which lay forgotten for fifty-three years in the family Bible is the basis of a claim of Dr. E. J. Bolio to the estate of Mrs. Ida Marcoux, Chicago apartment-house owner, who died a year ago. His attorney plans to go to Chicago Monday to present the document.

The will was found last week after a long search and recalled to Dr. Bolio the dramatic circumstances under which it was made. As a girl Mrs. Marcoux boarded in the home of the physician's parents. Later she was arrested and detained temporarily in connection with the suicide of a married man.

After some years Dr. Bolio, as a young physician, was appealed to by persons living in the neighborhood of a house he owned to oust his tenant, "the notorious Marcoux woman." On investigation, he recalled, he found that she was "living down" her reputation, working as a seamstress. He refused to disturb her and in gratitude she wrote the will leaving him all her property. "I have only a little," she said.

The will and the incident passed from memory until word came from Chicago the woman on her deathbed mentioned having drawn the testament.

CULT WOMAN SERVING LIFE ASKS FOR PARDON

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14. (AP)—Mrs. Evelyn Rosencrantz, serving a life term in San Quentin prison, today petitioned the State Supreme Court for her freedom on a writ of habeas corpus charging she was improperly committed. Mrs. Rosencrantz, former devotee of W. E. Riker's Holy City cult in the Santa Cruz Mountains, was sentenced to life under the Habitual Criminal Act. She was convicted four times of writing spurious checks.

GRANGE HEARS PLEA BY HYDE

Co-operation With Federal Farm Board Urged

Other Speakers Also Laud Marketing Measure

Gov. Roosevelt Recipient of Body's High Degree

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) Nov. 14. (AP) Three national leaders of agricultural thought indorsed the Federal Marketing Act and urged co-operation with the Federal Farm Board by the National Grange, in speeches before the convention of the Grange here today.

Secretary of Agriculture Hyde urged farmers to curtail production to prevent an even greater problem of crop surplus than now faces them. Farmers must make further effort to organize with the object of "unity of action, collective thinking, planning and marketing," he said.

ADJUSTMENT NEEDED

The Federal Farm Board is convinced adjustment of production to demand is a necessary step in any farm relief program, James C. Stone, vice-chairman of the Farm Board, declared, urging the marketing act remain unchanged.

The necessity of full co-operation with the Farm Board on the part of every organization and individual interested in improving the farmers' position was stressed by Charles S. Wilson of Hall, N. Y., member of the Farm Board.

ROOSEVELT PLEDGE

Further work for revision of modern town and county government and equalization of the taxes on real property was pledged by Gov. Roosevelt in his address.

After his address, Roosevelt was inducted into the seventh or highest degree of the Grange in a special ceremony. Nearly 15,000 men and women were given the degree tonight in colorful rites marking the high light of the conclave.

HURLEY WILL KEEP GOODS OFF MARKET

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Decision by Secretary Hurley the War Department will not offer any property for sale on the domestic market until business conditions change materially, was announced today by the department. Only small amounts of salvaged or unserviceable property will be offered for sale. The statement of decision was made to refute rumors the department is planning to put large stocks of property on the market.

AID TO BEAUTY OFFERED FREE

Y.W.C.A. to Give Treatments to Assist Feminine Job Seekers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—That women seeking work may appear prettier, to help their morale and possibly their luck, the Young Women's Christian Association in New York City has offered to give them free beauty treatments.

This is but one of the many responses which have reached the President's committee dealing with unemployment. Another is an effort by the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs to do away with corsages at luncheons, devoting the money to relief means.

JOBS-HUNT CALL SENT TO WOMEN

Mrs. Gilbreth of Hoover Committee Broadcasts Appeal for United Action

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—A call for assistance from the women of America in the campaign to aid the jobless was sounded tonight in a radio address by Mrs. Lillian Gilbreth of the President's emergency committee for employment.

Speaking over the Columbia Broadcasting System, Mrs. Gilbreth the committee's director of women's activities, said "there are about 60,000,000 females in these United States and we do approximately 85 per cent of the buying, and there is not one of us who cannot help in some way."

"There is plenty of money, plenty of food, and relief will be provided," she asserted. "The government, the industries and individuals all are being informed of the employment problem and urged to share in its solution. There is no cause for fear or hysteria. There is every cause for sympathetic co-operative action."

Recommendations by Mrs. Gilbreth included surveys of homes to ascertain what improvements are needed and action to insure that an employment bureau is available to aid jobless persons in obtaining work.

Rail Workers Ponder Plan to Cut Their Time

CHICAGO, Nov. 11. (AP)—A suggestion from the president of the Railroad Security Owners' Organization that employees reduce their working time to twenty-six days a month in order to provide more jobs was taken under advisement today by the five leading railway brotherhoods.

A telegram from Milton W. Harrison, president of the National Association of Owners of Railroad and Public Utility Securities, was read to the assembled union delegates and referred to a subcommittee.

Harrison called attention to the necessity of maintaining the financial integrity of the carriers and said the six-hour day, which has been suggested to the brotherhoods, would be impracticable and untenable if it included provisions for eight-hour compensation or shortening of the straight day and lengthening of the overtime period.

Rolph Mum on Appointments

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14. (Exclusive)—Major appointments for State administration will not be determined upon for some days, Gov.-elect Rolph said today upon his return from a four-day visit to Los Angeles, where he conferred with campaign workers and Republican leaders on the subject of selections for his official family at Sacramento.

"I am making a thorough canvass of citizens available for important State positions, but I shall make haste slowly, for I intend to appoint only those who are most fitted for the positions to be filled," the Governor-elect declared.

ONE-TIME VAUDEVILLE BIG TIMER SENTENCED

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (Exclusive) Tired of granting suspended sentences to Billy Montgomery, once the highest-paid performer in vaudeville, the justices of Special Sessions sent him to the penitentiary today for an indeterminate term of six months to two years. He appeared before them charged with the theft of a pair of fur cuffs, valued at $3, from a department store. The two-a-day success of the last decade has been appearing in Special Sessions on various charges for the last five years. He was accused of either shoplifting or taking narcotics.

SAN FRANCISCO WILL MAKE DEAL FOR WATER

LAMONT SCORES TARIFF CHANGES

Tells Political Science Men Rise Badly Timed

Morgan Associate Explains Cause of Depression

Overproduction Cited as One Reason for Conditions

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—Thomas W. Lamont, member of J. P. Morgan & Co., assailed the recently enacted tariff as "badly timed," in an address tonight before the Academy of Political Science.

"Rampant speculation, artificial price stimulation, overproduction and political unrest," were advanced by Mr. Lamont as the chief causes of world-wide business depression.

"We must not try to overstimulate ailing business with nitro-glycerine pills, for if we do we may have further explosions," he said.

In discussing the tariff the Morgan partner said: ". . . We have complicated this situation of ours . . . by hanging the load of a new tariff act around our own necks. The increased rates have certainly led to a certain feeling of dismay and ill-will abroad and to some retaliatory tariffs.

DEPRESSION ANALYZED

". . . It would be easy to magnify the ill results of the new American tariff. We cannot class them as controlling factors in our present depression. But there can be little dispute that we chose a most inopportune time for this particular tariff enactment."

Mr. Lamont, who was alternate member of the committee of experts on reparations last year during the drawing of the Young plan, analyzed the world-wide "phenomenon" of depression, ascribing present conditions to the following causes:

"To production outrunning consumption not only in many basic commodities, such as cotton, wheat, copper, rubber, silk, sugar, oil, but also in many manufactured products.

"In part to the effort made in many parts of the world to hold up commodity prices artificially, whether in rubber, cotton, wheat, coffee, copper or what not. When prices for such commodities finally gave way, the severity of the business collapse was accentuated.

OTHER CAUSES CITED

"To the fall in the price of silver, and thus in the purchasing power of perhaps one-quarter of the world's population as represented by India and China.

"To shifting, on an almost unprecedented scale, of gold holdings among various countries. Thus, from the beginning of 1929 to date the Bank of France and the Federal Reserve banks of America have increased their gold reserves in the aggregate amount of approximately $1,120,000,000, a large part of this being drawn from the central bank reserves of other countries.

"To political unrest in many quarters of the globe, including notably India, China and South America.

"In certain countries of the globe, especially America, to a spirit of rampant speculation. For some years many people lost interest in investing their money in good bonds, returning a fair rate of interest. They have wanted quick speculative profits, with the inevitable result that everybody knows."

National Drive on Illiteracy Set in Motion

CLARKSBURG (W. Va.) Nov. 14.—(AP)—War on illiteracy was declared here tonight with the launching of a nation-wide crusade of enlightenment by a national advisory committee appointed by President Hoover.

The occasion chosen for the official opening of the campaign was the annual convention of the West Virginia State Teachers' Association, West Virginia having been the first State to organize an advisory committee to work in collaboration with the national body.

Names and addresses of illiterates have been obtained through the medium of the 1930 census by action of Congress.

Another Victim of Sea Recovered

EUREKA, Nov. 14. (AP)—The body of another man who perished in the foundering of the steamer Brooklyn off Humboldt Bar last Saturday was brought to Eureka tonight, bringing the number of victims found to seven.

The body was identified as Johan Gustason, 48 years of age, a seaman. Another of the bodies found was identified as Capt. T. J. Tufveson, the vessel's master. Eighteen are believed to have been killed in the disaster.

DESTROYERS SOLD AS JUNK

VALLEJO, Nov. 14. (Exclusive)—Two more worn-out United States Navy destroyers, the Wood and Henshaw, with an original cost of $1,700,000, were sold for junk today for $11,000. Twenty obsolete vessels remain to be disposed of in the same manner.

POSTAL QUIZ AT CHICAGO TERMINATED

Mystery Enters Senate Hearing as Jacob Kulp Gives Testimony

CHICAGO, Nov. 14. (AP)—The Senate committee investigating asserted irregularities in postoffice leases ended the Chicago phase of its inquiry tonight after a day which saw a mystery injected into the hearing by Jacob Kulp, Chicago investment broker.

An unidentified man, Kulp testified, had come to him with the warning he was "going to get into trouble over the St. Paul (commercial substation) lease," and offering to square things "for a consideration."

Part of the day was devoted to questioning Kulp in regard to a proposed, but never-built, substation in New York City over the Pennsylvania railroad tracks.

He told of learning from Dr. Hubert Work, then acting Postmaster-General, that a contract for the building had been awarded to a subsidiary of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the deal involving $24,900,000 over a twenty-year lease. Later, Kulp said, bidding was reopened and he and several others submitted bids, Kulp's being low at $19,245,000.

He had understood, Kulp testified, the Pennsylvania subsidiary was to turn over the land to the low bidder for $2,000,000.

"But," Kulp added, "we never got the land. We got a letter from the Postoffice Department saying if we didn't get the land by a certain date we might consider ourselves the same as if we were not low bidders. We never got the land."

HEN OR EGG QUIZ POSER TO EINSTEIN

Scientist Says He Doesn't Know Which Came First in Talk to Students

BERLIN, Nov. 14. (AP)—Dr. Albert Einstein, originator of the relativity theory, lectured on the laws of cause and effect tonight before a crowd of young radicals assembled in Humboldt Hall, where the busts of former German emperors looked down on the proceedings.

The audience tried to induce Einstein to answer questions regarding politics, but he parried their queries with jokes. He refused after the lecture to discuss with newspaper men his proposed American trip.

The savant spoke informally and without using notes. For that reason he asked reporters not to take the speech down for publication verbatim.

He encouraged his young audience to ask questions and not imagine they were foolish questions.

"For before God, we are relatively all equally wise or—equally foolish," he remarked.

He touched on the metaphysical and psychological aspects of causation. He said he saw nothing to prove the world was "casual." As to the "first cause," he said he couldn't even now tell which came first, the hen or the egg.

Chicago After Public Enemies

CHICAGO, Nov. 14. (AP)—Municipal Judge Lyle tonight issued warrants for arrest of two "public enemies" and a third man on charges of stealing bonded whisky from the Morand Brothers' Warehouse in March, 1927. This was one of Chicago's most notorious liquor conspiracies.

The "public enemies" named are James (Fur) Sammons and William (Klondike) O'Donnell. Jimmy Driscoll, alias George Davis, was the third man named.

Judge Lyle set bond for each at $75,000 today.

Salvation Army Chief Victorious

LONDON, Nov. 14. (Exclusive)—Gen. Higgin and his supporters triumphed tonight over the American "reformers" who have been trying to establish a general staff or cabinet for the Salvation Army.

By the narrow margin of four votes the conference of Salvationist commissioners decided to place no curb on the general's powers and to permit no council to share powers with him.

ESTATE EMBEZZLER MUST SERVE TERM

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14. (Exclusive)—Charles L. McEnerney, disbarred attorney who dissipated the $100,000 estate of the late John Quinn, must go to San Quentin, it was decided today. A jury in Superior Judge Trabucco's court found him sane after previously finding him guilty of grand theft. Sentence will be passed Monday. He faces a term of one to fourteen years.

THEATER GHOST WALKS ---AND NOT ON PAY DAY

LONDON, Nov. 15. (Saturday) (AP)—The Daily Express said this morning a ghostly apparition of a man in armor, floating above the heads of the dancers in the Covent Garden Opera House last night, brought the music to an abrupt halt while the conductor, Herman Darewski, sank into a chair and dropped his baton.

The paper quoted Darewski as saying he noticed the drummer had stopped playing and was staring with eyes of horror across the hall.

Darewski, looking for the cause, saw a helmeted and armed figure resembling Wagner's Siegfried, he said. It was moving slowly through the air across the arena, he added, and it so shocked and unnerved him he collapsed in a chair.

The orchestra stopped playing and the amazed dancers flocked toward the conductor, thinking he was ill. Amid the excitement, the Express stated, the ghost vanished.

Some members of the orchestra were credited by the paper with seeing the figure, but apparently none of the dancers noticed it.

Darewski said he feared the apparition is an omen of disaster.

NATION'S POWER IN PARITY TOLD

Admiral Pratt Sets Forth New American Role

Need to Court War to Avoid War Held Possibility

Views Presented in Paper for Meeting at Boston

BOSTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Naval parity under the Kellogg pact places upon the United States a responsibility that may make it necessary to court war to avoid war, the Institute of International Problems of the United States was told today in a paper prepared by Admiral William V. Pratt, United States chief of naval operations, and read by Capt. Arthur Eberle, Chief of Staff of the First Naval District.

Admiral Pratt, who expresses approval of naval limitation but not of complete disarmament, says there can be no hope of lasting world peace while one group exists which changes its governments by revolution, and another group exists that believes in war, revolution or any means, fair or foul, to spread its own conception of social order throughout the world.

BALANCE OF POWER

"With parity in our hands," he says, "we welcome practically the balance of power in any war threatening to become a World War, and as we decide the war is apt to go. Not that we can stop war when once it is started, for the time taken for our preparation would exclude that, but we can limit its duration and extent, and we might, even before war started, by throwing our influence one way or the other, prevent its starting.

"Parity has placed a great responsibility on the shoulders of our country. Do we shirk it or do we not? Regardless of what those may say who do not like to see the truth, because it is extremely unpalatable sometimes, it inevitably will change our ideas about many things which we now regard as fixed and stable. In fact, it may change entirely our stand on neutrality.

NEW ORDER CITED

"With parity in fleet strength we become a first class power and with all of its advantages it carries with it obligations, which we must learn to think about in order that when the time comes we may act intelligently and quickly and not be guided entirely by formulae which may have lost their force.

"Make no mistake. If we wish to avoid war we can in all possibility do so with a fleet second to none. Without it we may be forced in against our wishes. The power of parity gives us the power of choice, but the power of choice places great responsibility upon us to choose wisely and correctly. If we face the truth frankly, we may have to court war to avoid war. Of course we may refuse to accept our responsibilities, but is this a dignified course for a great world state to take?"

C. C. TEAGUE MAKES PLEA OVER RADIO

California Member of Farm Board in Warning to Rural Schools

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (Exclusive)—Speaking over the radio from Washington tonight, C. C. Teague, California member of the Federal Farm Board, urged that rural schools stick closer to rural teachings and help solve the farm problem.

"The rural school," he said, "can and must become the key to unlock the door of economic and social security and stability in the agricultural industry. And with this responsibility resting upon it, it may well be asked whether at the present time the rural school programs are designed to cope with the situation. Too often such programs are lacking in definite relationship to rural life."

With this start Teague proceeded to rap the tendency of our country schools to ape the schools in the cities.

"Too frequently," he declared, "the country schools are but cheap imitations of programs for city schools. Not infrequently the instruction leads definitely away from rural life rather than toward it. Wherever such a condition exists in a community the agricultural problem grows progressively worse and not better."

Commissioner Teague reiterated his oft-stated opinion that solution of the farm problem will come through farmer-owned and farmer-controlled co-operative marketing organizations.

President Faces Dilemma Over Norris Measure

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Differences between President Hoover and some of his Republican leaders in the Senate over the Norris measure for government operation of the Muscle Shoals, Ala., power and nitrate plant remained to be settled tonight before the threat of an extra session of Congress next spring is dissipated.

Senator McNary, Oregon, assistant Republican leader, is standing firm for the government operation bill which is in conflict with the House measure for private operation. McNary is chairman of the conferees.

A compromise between the Senate and House is sought.

Senator Brookhart said today if Congress passed a bill for government operation of Muscle Shoals and it is vetoed, President Hoover "had better choose not to run in 1932."

HOOVER'S SECRETARY KILLS WILD TURKEYS

HAGERSTOWN (Md.) Nov. 14. (AP)—Four wild turkeys and seven pheasants have been sent to Washington for the White House table Thanksgiving Day. They were killed by Lawrence Rickey, one of the President's secretaries, and Henry P. Bridges, secretary of the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club.

PICKLES SOUR ON THEIR NAME

So They Have it Changed to Pickford in Attempt at Avoiding Wisecracks

SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) Nov. 14. (Exclusive)—Probate Judge Denison agreed today that Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pickles have a right to a more dignified name to confer upon their offspring, so he legally established them as Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pickford. He held that the name of Pickford would inspire less thoughtless mirth.

MEDALS FOR DISTINCTION GO TO FOUR

Arliss Included in Group Honored by Academy of Arts and Letters

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—Medals for distinction in four fields were presented today by the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

To Mrs. Anna Hyatt Huntington, wife of Archer M. Huntington of New York, went the medal for sculpture, Lorado Taft making the presentation.

To Willa Cather, novelist, of Nebraska and New York, whose "One of Ours" won the Pulitzer prize in 1922, the medal for fiction was presented by Robert Grant.

To George Arliss, English actor of the stage and screen, went the medal for good diction on the stage, presented by Prof. George Pierce Baker.

Alwyn Bach, announcer for the National Broadcasting Company, won the newest medal of the academy—for good diction on the radio. It was presented by Hamlin Garland.

MASONIC LODGE BOMBED

BUCHAREST (Rumania) Nov. 14. (AP)—A bomb exploded in the premises of the Great National Masonic Lodge in the center of the city today. A second bomb failed to explode. Political opponents are suspected.

SOVIET PRESS FLAYS FRANCE

Asserted Intervention Plot Laid to Paris Diplomacy

Russia Held Ready to Shift "From Defense to Advance"

Warning Given on Danger of Another World Conflict

MOSCOW, Nov. 14. (AP) — While thus far there has been no actual evidence indicating possibility of a diplomatic break between Russia and France the official government organ Isvestia today openly denounces the French as instigating and abetting the asserted intervention plot against the soviet union for which eight Russians now are awaiting trial.

The paper says it has been plain that behind the stage French diplomacy and influential politicians in military circles are working to prepare intervention against the soviet union.

"We don't fear intervention," says the paper. "If we are attacked we will be able to shift from defense to advance." Isvestia adds if intervention does come it will bring great suffering on all people because it will mean the beginning of a world war.

The paper objects particularly to recent French newspaper reports that the soviet government had invented the intervention plot in order to find a "goat" for economic crisis in Russia.

RAIL MACHINIST DIES

TUCSON (Ariz.) Nov. 14 (AP)—Ralph W. Bowen, 53 years of age, for more than twenty years foreman of the Southern Pacific machine shop, died suddenly today.

The continent that became a neighborhood

THROUGH slim wires etched against the sky . . . through cables laid in the earth under cities and fields . . . millions of Americans, miles or days' journeys apart, speak to each other as readily as though they stood face to face.

Over her telephone, a housewife in an Oregon town inquires about a dress pattern from a friend who lives nearby. Over his telephone, a business man in Los Angeles talks to another in New York. Over her telephone, a mother in San Francisco asks her son at college fifty miles away if he will come home for the week-end. Over his telephone, a cabinet member in Washington gives instructions to an assistant in Seattle. Regardless of distance and the complexity of modern living, they talk directly and immediately with anyone, anywhere, at any time they choose.

The function of the Bell Telephone System is the vital one of making it possible to maintain social and business contacts in cities that contain many times more people than this nation once boasted . . . in a neighborhood which the Census reports to hold 127 million people.

Year after year from its beginning, the Bell System has increased its facilities, its personnel and its usefulness. Looking ahead and planning for the future, it has forwarded the growth of this nation by meeting its communication needs fully and economically. Today it overcomes the hindrances of distance and time . . . and unifies a civilization geared to the habit of instantaneous communication.

Because it serves all who call on it, by enriching their lives and helping to make their enterprises more successful, the telephone plays an increasingly useful part in the every-day activities of the American people.

BIGGER AND BETTER

PRESENTING THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX

CHEVROLET

Today the Chevrolet Motor Company presents the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six, a new model of the six-cylinder car which has enjoyed such wide popularity.

In both the chassis and body of this new six-cylinder Chevrolet you will find expressed, as never before, Chevrolet's well-known policy of progress through constant improvement.

For—without departing from the basic features which have won the enthusiastic approval of over 2,000,000 buyers—Chevrolet has produced a six-cylinder car which represents an entirely new standard of quality, value and refinement in the low-price field.

Your first impression of the new Chevrolet will be one of striking fleetness, grace and beauty. The car is longer, lower and modernly smart. The radiator has been deepened and its appearance enhanced by a curving tie-bar and chrome-plated parabolic headlamps. The long hood lines sweep back unbroken to blend gracefully into the new Fisher bodies. And never was Fisher's fine craftsmanship more evident than in the bodies of the new Chevrolet Six!

Not only are the bodies roomier and more comfortable, but as you study them you will discover many gratifying new features and pleasing refinements—many examples of that painstaking attention to detail which is the basis of true quality.

Mechanically, too, the new Chevrolet Six is a better automobile. The wheelbase is longer. The frame is stronger. The steering is easier. The clutch is more durable. There is a smoother, quieter, easier shifting transmission. In fact, wherever finer materials and more advanced design could add to Chevrolet quality or increase Chevrolet's traditional economy of ownership—improvement has been made. See the new Chevrolet Six—and you will agree that here is the Great American Value!

» » AT NEW LOW PRICES « «

Chevrolet has long been one of the lowest priced cars in the world. Yet due to the savings of volume production and increased manufacturing efficiency, the Bigger and Better Chevrolet is offered at new low prices. Come in today. See and drive the new Chevrolet Six. Learn the new economy of owning a modern, fine quality, six-cylinder automobile.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

FLYERS IN FOG CRASH TO DOOM

Lieut. W. B. Hollingsworth and Mate Pierson Killed

Lieut. R. L. Fuller and His Mechanic, Wood, Unhurt

Both North Island Planes Go Down Near Fallbrook

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 14.—Two North Island aviators were killed and two other airmen narrowly escaped serious injury when two navy training planes crashed late yesterday in a storm-swept part of Northern San Diego county, according to a naval report issued today. The dead: Lieut. W. B. Hollingsworth, 33 years of age, of 860 B avenue, Coronado, who has been here about ten years; A. O. Pierson, aviation machinist's mate, second class, whose home before he came here, was at Oakland, Ill.

The two who escaped injury are Lieut. R. L. Fuller, pilot, and Mechanic Wood. They crashed into the northeast side of Red Mountain halfway between Fallbrook and Rainbow. The two craft crashed within half an hour of each other and both fell near the highway, according to the naval report. The four flyers had flown to Riverside earlier in the day and were returning to the naval air station here when the accidents occurred.

Fuller and Wood crashed first and thirty minutes later the second plane, carrying Hollingsworth and Pierson, roared through heavy fog to its doom. Knowledge of Hollingsworth's crash was not learned until early today when Henry Bush, rancher, discovered the plane's tail sticking up some distance from the ranch house. Investigation by Bush revealed the bodies of the airmen and he notified North Island officials at once.

Four navy planes left North Island this morning to further investigate the two accidents.

'Pop' Burglars Throw Party in Candy Stand

ONTARIO, Nov. 14.—Pop burglars who made a little party of their fourth robbery of the L. B. Kay confectionery stand at 1263 West A street are sought by police today.

Kay reported that during the night robbers entered his place, drank all the pop and near-beer they could stand, threw the empty bottles about the place and then left with practically all the cigarettes, cigars and candy in the place. The rear door was pried open. Kay's place has been robbed four times within a short period of time.

BANDIT GETS PURSE BUT AN EMPTY ONE

GLENDALE, Nov. 14.—A. E. Garvin, 1431 Dixon street, is chuckling over the bad luck of a bandit who forced him to the curb and compelled him at the point of a pistol, to hand over his purse. The bandit worked with the air of one who had wide experience in the hold-up business. Driving a dilapidated flivver, the thief crowded Garvin into the sidewalk at Chevy Chase Drive and Acacia street, thrust forward a gun held in a white-gloved hand, and ordered him to "shell out and be quick about it." That accomplished, the bandit ordered Garvin to "keep going." The joke consists in the fact that Garvin's wallet was empty when the bandit snatched it from his hand. His joy is tempered, however, by the fact that the bandit also took his watch, which he valued at $15.

ONTARIO YOUTHS GET AWAY FROM CUSTODY

ONTARIO, Nov. 14.—Claude Womack and Fred Curtis, both 15-year-old local boys, have escaped from the county detention home at San Bernardino, according to word received here. The boys were arrested last week at Barstow while fleeing from Ontario after raiding the Lincoln school building, from which they assertedly took a number of articles. They left here on a freight train but were halted at Barstow. Other trains are now being watched, to prevent the boys from getting out of the State.

Redlands University in Home-coming Today

Costly Hall of Letters to Be Dedicated

Above, new $175,000 Hall of Letters at University of Redlands, which will be given informal dedication today by the thousands of alumni returning to the campus for the annual home-coming day. At lower left, President Victor L. Duke of the university, and right, Prof. H. C. Merrill, who will act as master of ceremonies today.

ALUMNI RETURN TO CAMPUS

Seventh Annual Homecoming Today at University of Redlands to Include Banquet

REDLANDS, Nov. 14.—The seventh annual homecoming on the University of Redlands campus will be held tomorrow, extensive plans being made to welcome back alumni and former students and friends of the institution. Dr. Victor L. Duke, associated with the university since its founding twenty-one years ago, and the president since 1915, will give a welcoming address at the all-university banquet on Saturday evening. Prof. H. C. Merrill of the university history department since 1920 and popular among alumni and graduates, will act as general master of ceremonies at the banquet.

The occasion will also mark an informal dedication of the new Hall of Letters, completed in the late summer at a total cost of $175,000, and which many of the alumni have not yet visited. Providing additional class rooms and individual offices for the faculty members, the new building is a welcome addition to the campus which now has a total of fifteen buildings, several of which have been designed by Herbert Powell '20, an architect with March, Smith & Powell of Los Angeles.

DOUBLE-HEADER GAME

The program for "homecoming" includes a variety of entertainment. At 12:30 p.m. on the football field the Bull Pups will meet the Whittier frosh and at 2:30 p.m. the varsity will meet California Christian College in a conference tangle. Following the game the dormitories will be thrown open for visitation of alumni and friends. In previous years President and Mrs. Duke have entertained with an informal reception, but this year all faculty members will open their homes to former students and friends.

The all-university banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the Currier Gymnasium, the principal address of the evening to be delivered by Dr. Frederic D. Woellner of the University of California at Los Angeles. Representing the alumni will be Douglas G. McPhee of the class of '22, one of Redlands' most successful alumni, who is at present the editor of Western Advertising and Western Business published at San Francisco, and the leading magazine in its field issued west of the Mississippi. He will speak on "Those Who Work in the Shadow."

Carey K. Berger of the class of '17 will sing several baritone solos during the evening. He was a member of the U. of R. octet, while in college and now is a member of the faculty of the Franklin High School of Los Angeles, until recently having been the assistant superintendent of the Whittier State School.

The student body's own Houdini, Judson Brown of the class of '32, will be on the program with "Mystic Moments of Magic," and a representative of the student body will also speak. Prof. Merrill, who is to preside as master of ceremonies is a part president of the Redlands Kiwanis Club. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa from his alma mater, Colgate, and one of the founders of the Redlands Scholarship Society, Delta Alpha.

GREEKS MEET GREEK

Following the banquet, opportunity will be given for general reunion of alumni, to be followed by meetings of the Greek letter organizations of the campus. It is expected that a number will remain in Redlands Saturday night and visit university church groups on Sunday morning.

The general committee in charge of homecoming is composed of President Duke, chairman; Walter Kentschke, representative of the board of trustees; Hilton Bell, president of the Associated Student Body; Prof. L. E. Mitchell, director of publicity, and Prof. A. D. Jacobsen, editor of the Alumnus.

The members of "Lo-Ha-Se," sophomore pep and service club, composed of the fifteen most representative girls of the sophomore class, will help in activities during the day and John Marvin Dean, former yell leader, is in charge of an all-student parade through the city in the morning, when cars decorated with maroon and gray bunting and the official "bulldog," will announce the game. Merchants of the city of Redlands are giving their co-operation by using university colors in the decoration of their store windows, helping to make the university homecoming a community affair.

SANTA ANA GIRL FIGHTS OFF ATTACK

Evangeline Anderson Tries to Use Penknife on Youth; Screams Bring Mother

SANTA ANA, Nov. 14.—Seized by a Mexican youth and dragged into an adjacent orange grove as she was on her way to school shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, Evangeline Anderson, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Anderson, residing at Ball Road and Brookhurst avenue, was the victim of an attempted assault.

The attack upon the girl was frustrated when her screams brought her mother to the scene, and the Mexican youth fled. An exciting man hunt that followed had not been successful late today but the search was expected to be maintained throughout the Magnolia and Stanton district.

A posse headed by Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff F. W. Howard picked up the Mexican's trail at the scene of the attempted attack where the girl had dropped a pocket knife which she evidently tried to use in her own defense.

The officers followed the trail about three miles through orchards and across fields and highways but finally lost it on the pavement at Magnolia and Ball roads. Near-by Mexican settlements were searched without success.

Western City Votes to Join With Gardena

GARDENA, Nov. 14.—By a vote of 187 to 48, residents of the Western City section voted to annex to this city yesterday. There are about 1000 residents in the district and a number of unsuccessful annexation projects have been advanced there during the past few months.

The section is comprised of the territory adjoining Moneta on the west and is a part of the Moneta fire district.

DESERT PLAY MAKES BOW

Initial Presentation This Season of "Tahquitz" Will Be Given Today at Palm Springs

PALM SPRINGS, Nov. 14.—Vanguard of the throng of visitors to attend the tenth annual desert play, "Tahquitz," arrived here today. The Indian drama is scheduled to have its first 1930 presentation at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in a natural amphitheater near the city limits.

Arrangements have been completed to accommodate a record-breaking throng for the opening of the spectacular Indian drama, which this year is to be staged on a greatly elaborated scale under the direction of Phil Whiting, of Ramona Pageant fame, with Arthur Belasco as production manager.

The Desert Play, instituted ten years ago by the late Garnet Holme, wizard of California pageantry, annually attracts visitors from all over the world, and the Palm Springs Associates, the new community organization sponsoring the drama, have left nothing undone to insure hospitality to those who attend. Parking space for 5000 automobiles has been arranged and famous resorts of the region are prepared to expand their facilities if necessary.

Its story, based on the most colorful of Indian legends of the region, "Tahquitz" will be presented without the use of artificial properties of any kind in one of the most beautiful of rustic settings. The action is timed so that the drama reaches its climax just as sunset bathes the desert in gorgeous colors.

The personnel of the cast, headed by Wallace MacDonald, widely known screen and stage actor, and Dolores Brown, young film and footlight ingenue, includes Kenneth Randall, David Henderson, Jeffrey Williams, Adelaide Schumann, Arthur Lovejoy, Hal Crane, Jack Carington, James Nudeen, George Gerwing, Elizabeth Ross, Eulalie Jensen, and many others. A group of Indians from the St. Boniface School at Banning will contribute a picturesque touch.

"Tahquitz" tells the story of a warrior from a distant land who resorted to incantations in an endeavor to win the hand of the daughter of the chief of the tribe that he had invaded, with tragic results. The play will be repeated tomorrow afternoon and on the afternoons of the 22nd and 23rd inst.

OLSON RITES TODAY

ORANGE, Nov. 13.—Funeral services will be held here Saturday afternoon for John Olson, 72 years of age, who died Wednesday in a Los Angeles hospital. Olson, who made his home for some time with his daughter, Mrs. E. R. Baier of 612 East Walnut street, was a native of Norway and resided in Minneapolis before coming to this city three years ago.

THREAT TO KILL MADE IN LETTER

"One Week From Today You Will Be Shot Dead," Says Message to H. Vose

PASADENA, Nov. 14.—"One week from today you will be shot dead," is the text of a threatening letter received Tuesday by Howard Vose, former head of the Ku Klux Klan in this city, it was learned today.

Friends of Vose, who at present is local representative of the Marbelite Company and active in the Foothill Breakfast Club, fear that the death threat may have been sent by an ex-convict the local man once sent to prison while serving as western manager for the Burns Detective Agency.

"I'm not worrying about dying next Tuesday," Vose laughed. "I've been threatened many times and have learned that a killer never notifies his intended victim in advance."

The letter, written on fine stationery in long hand, was opened by Mrs. Vose in the belief that it was an invitation.

Mr. Vose recently has been the central figure in investigating charges that Marbelite ornamental light standards on North Lake avenue had been maliciously defaced by persons wishing to discredit the firm with the Board of City Directors.

Residence Rule Declared Broken by Employees

PASADENA, Nov. 14. — Seventy-four city employees are residing in Altadena in violation of the rule that those who receive their salaries from Pasadena taxes be residents of this city, it was revealed today.

The names of the nonresident Pasadena employees are contained in a circular letter sent out by William D. Davies, a member of the Altadena Citizens' Association.

The list is asserted in the letter to be "For use when annexation petitions, propaganda or newspaper articles appear."

It is believed that the list was compiled with a view to discredit a recent petition seeking annexation of Altadena to this city which was filed with the Pasadena Board of City Directors. The names of more than a score of Pasadena employees appeared on this petition.

The list contains the names of eleven Pasadena policemen, including high police officials, and four firemen.

ARCADIA BEGINS RED CROSS ROLL CALL

ARCADIA, Nov. 14. — With Mrs. Elmore M. Funk, chairman of the Arcadia chapter of American Red Cross, supervising, the annual roll call is under way and is expected to reach its quota within ten days. The city has been divided into six districts for the canvass, and women participating in the drive represent every organization of the city.

DEER UNDERGOES AMPUTATION

Dr. F. N. Davidson, Ontario Veterinarian, Called by Youths Whose Car Struck Young Buck and Mangled Its Leg, Performs Operation

UPLAND, Nov. 14.—If the wild animals of the mountains adjoining San Antonio Canyon are as kind as humans have proven to be, a young buck will continue to enjoy the life of the mountains, even if he does so while hopping about on three legs.

Two youths, driving to Camp Baldy, high in the canyon, late in the evening, were startled when a buck, probably 1 year old, leaped from the brush into the highway, directly in front of the automobile.

Before the car could be stopped it had struck the deer, and one front leg was broken and mangled.

Hoping to save the life of the suffering buck, the youths called Forest Ranger McClure at Camp Baldy. He assisted the youths in carrying the deer to Camp Baldy, and Dr. F. N. Davidson, Ontario veterinarian, was called on the phone to examine the animal.

Dr. Davidson is an ardent lover of the outdoors and animal life, and lost no time in rushing to Camp Baldy. He found it necessary to use a knife on the buck to save its life, and the badly mangled front leg was amputated.

The buck withstood the ordeal remarkably, and after the shock had worn off, he hopped slowly into a thicket. The rangers said they intend to keep a sharp lookout for the deer to prevent any other beasts taking advantage of its crippled condition.

FRIENDS OF MEXICANS MEET

Conference Convenes Today at Claremont

More Than 300 Teachers of Spanish Expected

Harry Carr to Tell "Story of Two Races"

CLAREMONT, Nov. 14.—With more than 300 teachers of Spanish as well as welfare workers and others interested in the Mexicans in this country, planning to attend, a record attendance is expected by James H. Batten, executive director of the Inter-American Foundation, at the sessions of the Friends of the Mexican Conference to be held here tomorrow.

The morning session, which will be held in the auditorium of Holmes Hall, will be presided over by Harry M. Shafer, assistant superintendent of Los Angeles city schools.

The program is as follows: 10 a.m.—Invocation by Rev. E. M. Sein; 10:10 a.m.—Appointment of committees; 10:15 a.m.—The contact of two cultures by Dr. Paul S. Taylor, associate professor of economics at Berkeley; 11 a.m.—Discussion led by Hollis P. Allen; 11:45 a.m.—"The Inter-American Foundation," by James H. Batten; 1 p.m.—Luncheon at Claremont Inn.

SESSION IN AFTERNOON

The afternoon session will also be held in Holmes Hall with Rev. Thomas O'Dwyer, director of the Catholic Welfare Bureau, presiding. The program begins at 2 p.m. with a song, "Mi Mexico," by the assembly; 2:05 p.m.—"The Proper Balance Between Cultural and Vocational Training for Mexican Children," by Ray F. Glenn, principal of Ramona School in San Bernardino; 2:30 p.m.—"Major Problems in Mexican Education," by Dr. Merton Hill of Chaffey; 3 p.m.—"Do Mexicans Respond to Our Educational Ideals," by Miss Druzilla Mackey, director of immigrant education in Fullerton schools. At 3:25 p.m. a discussion will be led by Dr. A. A. Douglass of Claremont Colleges, following which a business meeting will be held. At 5 p.m. exhibits will be open to the public in Mason Hall and at 6 p.m. dinner will be available at Claremont Inn.

Dr. James A. Blaisdell will preside at the evening session in Bridges Hall. At 7:30 p.m. musical selections will be sung by a Mexican girls' chorus from Chaffey school district; 8 p.m.—Greetings, by Senor Rafael de la Colina, Consul of Mexico at Los Angeles; 8:15 p.m.—"The Story of Two Races," by Harry Carr of the Los Angeles Times; 8:45 p.m.—"Modern Mexico," an interpretation by Senor Enrique Aguirre, Director of Recreation of Mexico City.

J. H. BATTEN, DIRECTOR

Organization of the conference includes many prominent names. James H. Batten is director, with an advisory board composed of Dr. A. A. Douglass, Miss Grace Ruth Southwick, Mrs. Magdalene Wanzer, Miss Flora Dell Smith of Los Angeles, Ray F. Glenn of San Bernardino, Miss Christine Lofstedt of Pasadena and F. A. Pesqueria of Nogales, Ariz.

A committee on nominations is composed of Arthur Wickland of Pasadena, Miss Beulah Paul of Redlands and Miss Catherine Sexauer of Monrovia. Mrs. Blanche T. Reynolds of Ventura, Miss Nellie Forster of San Diego and Mrs. Honora Smith of Long Beach compose the committee on recommendations.

Miss Lela Ackerman is in charge of registration, while Miss Esther Martens and Miss Martha Ackerman are in charge of exhibits which will be shown during the day.

CHAFFEY DEBATING TEAM MEN CHOSEN

ONTARIO, Nov. 14.—Chaffey's debating team for the winter season was announced today by W. H. Kegley, coach of debate at the high school. The team will consist of John Tate, Henry Reese, Robert Lutz and John Merkle. They were chosen from a field of twelve who entered the tryouts for the team. The question for debate in the Citrus Belt League this season will be, "Resolved, that the five-day working week be adopted by American industries."

Chaffey's first debate will be December 5, the negative team meeting Redlands High School at Chaffey Auditorium and the affirmative team going to Redlands.

PASS-KEY BURGLAR BUSY

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 14.—During the absence of Edward Herman from his room at one of the hotels yesterday some one used a pass key to the door and, entering, ransacked the place, leaving with three suits of clothing and a wrist watch, the value of the lot being $140.

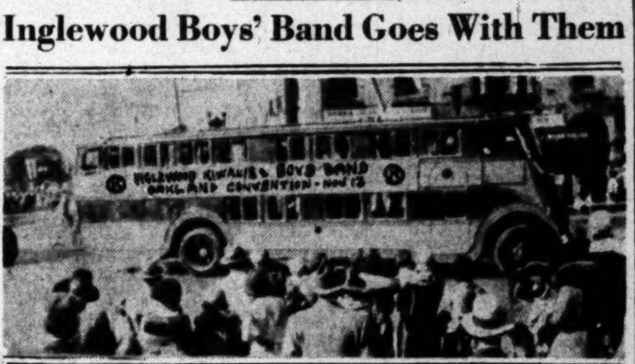
Inglewood Boys' Band Goes With Them



Service Club Men Leave for Oakland Convention

Inglewood's delegation to the Kiwanis International convention at Oakland chartered a coach in which to make the journey, and took with them the Inglewood Boys' Band, an organization of thirty-five pieces, with which to make music en route and at the convention.

INGLEWOOD, Nov. 14.—The Inglewood delegation to the Kiwanis convention at Oakland has left by a special Pickwick de luxe coach, accompanied by the thirty-five-piece Inglewood Boys' Band.

The boys' band, sponsored by the Inglewood Kiwanis Club, will appear in two featured spots on the convention program, one prior to the Governor's ball and one at the convention sessions Saturday morning.

The trip has been entirely worked out by the Inglewood Kiwanis Club, which had the co-operation of the city of Inglewood and the Inglewood schools, as well as the Pickwick company, which furnished the de luxe bus gratis. All expenses are being paid by the club.

The band, under the direction of Herbert K. Smith and Wilson Carter, manager, has developed in a little more than a year into a splendid musical organization. At a recent competition at Redondo Beach it won first place over many more experienced bands. The sponsorship of the band is one of the Inglewood Kiwanis Club's major acivities.

In addition to appearing on the program the boys will give concerts in many cities on the way up. They also will visit Stanford and California universities, thus combining a little education with the pleasure derived.

Much credit is given by the clubmen to Fred Laxdal, Jake Danielson, Roland Robbins, Wilson Carter, Ray Dishmans, Fred Krause and Dr. Elmer Charland, who worked on special committees for several months in planning this trip.

WINNERS IN CONTEST ANNOUNCED

Results of Second Annual Garden Competition Held at Pomona Told

POMONA, Nov. 14.—Awards in the second annual Pomona garden contest were made at last night's meeting of the City Garden Club at the Emerson High School auditorium. The feature address of the evening was given by J. V. Harvey, head of the department of botany in the San Bernardino Junior College, his subject being "Plants as Good Citizens." Prof. Alfred Cookman of Pomona College gave a brief talk emphasizing the need for water conservation, to preserve plant, bird and game life in California.

Mrs. Cathcart won a pewter vase offered in Class 3.

Second Student Crash Victim Dies in Hospital

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 14.—Arthur Edward Reveney, 20-year-old San Francisco University of California student who was injured with three companions in an automobile accident near here last Tuesday morning, died in a local hospital today. This is the second death as a result of the accident. Robert Black, 18, companion of Reveney, died Tuesday night.

Reveney was a native of California. With his three companions he was returning to San Francisco after having attended the University of Southern California and University of California football game at Los Angeles last Saturday. While driving north the boys took turns at the wheel to avoid drowsiness, but it was while the driver was dozing, that their machine went over an embankment onto the Southern Pacific right of way.

AVOCADO GROWERS TO MEET AT LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Nov. 14.—The second quarterly meeting of the California Avocado Growers' Association will be held here the 22nd inst. An open directors' meeting will be held in the morning. H. E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm adviser, will speak on "Avocadoes in Foreign Lands," drawing upon his observations made on a recent extensive trip abroad. A questions-and-answers session will feature the program.

Glendale Prosperity Plan Will Be Drive in Week Beginning 24th Inst.

GLENDALE, Nov. 14.—As a means of promoting prosperity and stimulating business in Glendale, besides aiding unemployment, the committee of local business men who are fostering the return of normal business conditions, are planning to wage a campaign whose aim it will be to place $1,000,000 in circulation in Glendale business channels. The week devoted to the campaign will start the 24th inst., and an educational program will be carried out prior to that date by special committees who will present the campaign in all its aspects.

The average weekly expenditure in Glendale has been estimated at approximately $400,000, and it is the belief of those in charge of the program that this amount can be increased to $1,000,000 with very little extra effort on the part of the city's residents.

The fact that the $1,000,000 week includes Thanksgiving is regarded as furnishing an added factor in the success of the movement.

Motorist Hit by Train but Escapes Unhurt

SANTA PAULA, Nov. 14.—R. R. Richards, rancher west of this city, had a miraculous escape from death or serious injuries this morning when the Southern Pacific motor car crashed into his small coupe at the Haines crossing, four miles west of here. The car was damaged but Richards escaped injury.

Failing to see or hear the approaching train, Richards drove onto the crossing. Attempting to avoid the crash, he swerved his car about, but the cow-catcher hit the side rear of his machine, pushing it off the track. The engineer jammed on his brakes in time to avoid a more serious crash.

ROY C. PETERSON OF SANTA ANA EXPIRES

SANTA ANA, Nov. 14.—Roy Charles Peterson, prominent local business man, former Exalted Ruler of the Santa Ana lodge of Elks, died today at his home here after a prolonged illness. Peterson, an ex-service man, leaves a widow, Mrs. Alice Norton Peterson.

TEMPLETON SAID YESTERDAY---

OAKLAND, Nov. 14. (AP)—An already acute football, situation was blasted wide open today. R. L. (Dink) Templeton, track coach at Stanford, and a newspaper sport writer of note, speaking before a gathering of California and Stanford alumni and officials, urged an investigation by the two universities to determine "why the University of Southern California gets the best football players and other athletes."

The affair was one of the annual luncheons, preceding the "big game" between California and Stanford, November 22.

Startling in its frankness, Templeton's talk caused a furore in the meeting and quickly spread throughout football circles in the Bay District. He told listeners, "the future of Pacific Coast athletics depends on an investigation. Until Stanford and California get a break on athletic material there is no chance for them to compete with Southern California on an even basis."

The Stanford track-and-field mentor, a convincing orator, told the assemblage, "It is high time Stanford and California should get together and find out why this situation has arisen.

"Why has U.S.C. such athletes and football players? Maybe it is the Southern California climate; the waving palms or the U.S.C. campus buildings; or the courses offered at U.S.C. That is responsible for these athletes going to U.S.C.?

"All coaches know the first principle of success is man power, regardless of miracles or magic up their sleeve. It would be a good idea for California and Stanford to co-operate in an investigation and find out what has happened.

"Southern California was so much better than Stanford in their game, I thought the score should have been 60-0. (Southern California defeated Stanford, 41-12.)

"This is the first time in history, since the New Zealand All Blacks (famed Rugby team that toured the United States several years ago,) that the Pacific Coast has had such an athletic organization of big power as the U.S.C. football team."

STANFORD UNIVERSITY (Palo Alto) Nov. 14. (AP)—W. B. Owens, Stanford professor and president of the Pacific Coast Conference, said tonight that R. L. (Dink) Templeton was "not in any way officially representing Stanford" when he spoke at an Oakland luncheon today.

Templeton proposed Stanford and the University of California cooperate in an investigation of why so many athletes go to the University of Southern California.

Owens said, "Mr. Templeton was merely expressing his personal opinion and was not in any way officially representing Stanford in his presentation."

TEMPLETON SAID IN JUNE---

(Stanford Illustrated Review)

Stanford students haven't changed—at least they haven't changed yet—and as usual at this season of the year all of the Stanford campus as well as the outside world is looking forward to next year's football season.

Pop Warner especially.

You might think that because four of the greatest players in the country, Heinecke, Smalling, Fleishhacker and Capt. Muller, are all lost to the team, it would be in for a bad season. Nothing could be farther from the truth. Mister Warner has developed experienced, capable men to take their places. He is not even worried about personnel. In fact, he is not worried at all. He has a new system of play ready for the season, and like all the rest he has ever brought out, it is ahead of the rest of the football world and promises to be a wow. It runs off a new formation. This formation will probably be known as "C."

IRISH SLEUTH LATE; DRAKE COACH SCOUTS OWN ELEVEN

SOUTH BEND (Ind.) Nov. 14. (AP)—Believe it or not, Ossie Solem, coach of Drake's football team, was a Notre Dame scout last week.

Coach Rockne sent Tim Moynihan, an assistant, to scout the Drake game, but Tim didn't arrive until Saturday and the game was played Friday. Solem heard of the incident and scouted his own team for the Irish. He drew several diagrams of Drake's plays, outlined the weakness and mailed his findings to Rockne.

Rockne used the "dope" to drill his team for Drake's invasion tomorrow.

UNEMPLOYMENT DOES JOB

Generals, Admirals and Congress Fail but Army and Navy Will Meet for Those Out of Work

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Unemployment has brought about an Army-Navy football game after generals, admirals, Congressmen and civilians failed.

The service elevens will meet in New York December 13 for the first time since 1927 and the gate receipts, expected to be more than $500,000, will go to help those out of work.

MAJOR RALPH SASSE

Maj.-Gen. William R. Smith, superintendent at West Point, announced today the Navy's proposal for the game had been accepted and afterward Maj. Philip Fleming, Army's graduate manager of athletics, left for Washington by airplane to arrange details.

He landed at Philadelphia because of murky weather and probably will confer with Naval Academy officials at Baltimore tomorrow. The Navy is playing Southern Methodist University there.

The field for the game, the price to be charged for tickets and even the date itself are tentative. The tackling in an Army-Navy game is always jarring and Secretary Hurley said today he disliked the idea of the boys tumbling about on a frozen field. He added he hoped Navy would yet find it possible to cancel its game on December 6 with the University of Pennsylvania and play the Army instead.

The details, however, are inciden-

TROJANS MEET HAWAII TODAY

Roaring Rainbows Confident of Keeping Score Down

Kaakua Expected to Star for Visitors in Coliseum

Southern California First String Starts Game

BY RALPH HUSTON

Confident that they will offer local football fans the best-played game shown here in the Coliseum this season, the Roaring Rainbows from the University of Hawaii will oppose the bone-crushing Trojans in the big bowl at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

HIRAM KAAKUA

Howard Jones's athletes have run up a flock of points against U.C.L.A., Oregon State, the Utah Aggies, Denver and California, in their local appearances this season, with the Webfeet making the most respectable showing. The Hawaiians, while not expecting to win, are determined that they will make an equally imposing appearance.

The game should be a colorful, and an exciting one, despite the fact that the Trojans are heavily favored. The Hawaiians have not been scouted, and this means that their attack will be entirely unknown until they start performing. Otto Klum's outfit is known to feature a flashy passing attack, and expects to score at least once, and possibly oftener.

ARBELBIDE OUT

Jones yesterday reiterated his intention of starting his regulars, with the exception of Garrett (Arches) Arbelbide, the bulky end, who is favoring an injured shoulder. Ernie Clark will occupy his place at end. The other regulars who will start include "Dutch" Wilcox, end; Bob Hall and Ernie Smith tackles; Rupert Black and Johnny Baker, guards; Stan Williamson, center; aMrshall Duffield, quarter; Erny Pinckert and Marger Apsit, half-

SINGER KAYOED IN QUICK TIME

Title Battle Lasts Minute and Six Seconds

Fans Cheer, Then Boo at Sudden Finish

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, (New York) Nov. 14. (AP)—Quicker than he won the crown, quicker almost than the eye could follow, Young Al Singer was stripped of his lightweight title tonight by Tony Canzoneri, brisk little Italian, who started his fantastic fight career as a bootblack in the streets of New Orleans.

TONY CANZONERI.

Singer, hailed as the new Benny Leonard when he crushed Sammy Mandell in a single round last August to mount the 135-pound throne, lasted only two real punches, and one minute and six seconds against the attack of the former featherweight champion. Tony nailed the sleek Jewish lad with one left hook to the chin, whanged him again and the battle was over in the first round of what started out to be a fifteen-round match.

VIEWED WITH ALARM

The "viewers with alarm," became very busy the minute Singer hit the floor, as busy as they were when Mandell, a pale, lifeless ghost of himself, was battered into senselessness by Singer in something over two minutes last summer. The crowd of about 16,000 rose and booed, howling Singer from the ring, though they cheered the exit of Canzoneri, the new king. Heads have been wagging over rumors for days and there were reports of a betting coup when Singer entered the ring a two and one-half to one favorite.

As for the fight itself, there was so little action as to be hardly understandable. Singer, apparently in splendid shape, sidled from his corner as Tony, a grinning miniature of Babe Ruth from shoulders the affairs of commission are handled unbusiness like and inefficient manner and the board is not efficiently familiar with the fight game. Members have outside interests that take practically all their time, he said. The commissioners serve without pay.

last year, and away," Hoffman testified the other day he bought forty-nine pairs of silk socks at one crack. He also bought two expensive automobiles and a $35,000 home for his parents." Baer was called to the stand late this afternoon. He repeated his story of the asserted bribe offer of August R. (Gus) Oliva and stood pat on the affidavits he made before Commissioner Traung, accusing Oliva.

Baer said Oliva, Latin-quarter politician, came into his dressing-room before his first fight with Tiny Abbott, and offered him an expensive automobile to let his opponent "stay" five rounds, after taking him to dinner about a week previously to "approach" him on the proposition.

"He told me Abbott was a setup," said Baer, "and that nobody stood to make any money on the fight unless Abbott came up for the fifth round. He said if Tiny was still on his feet in that round, we could make several thousand dollars."

Asked if he believed Louis Lippi, who signed an affidavit corroborating Baer in the Oliva bribe story, had later repudiated the signed statement because he had been paid to do so, Baer replied he does not know but "it looked kind of funny because Louis suddenly bought a lot of clothes and seemed to have a great deal of money."

"Anyway," he said, "I've learned my lesson. It's quite a jump from pitching hay to this here business, you know. I can't keep up with these here racketeer fellows."

PACIFIC COAST TITLE AT STAKE

Washington Huskies Have Chance to Throw Conference Race Into Mix-up in Washington State Cougar Game Today; 40,000 to Witness Grid Struggle

SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 14. (AP)—The Pacific Coast Conference football championship will be at stake tomorrow when the grid machines of Washington State College and the University of Washington battle before the greatest crowd ever gathered in the Pacific Northwest.

JIMMY PHELAN

More than 40,000 spectators are expected to jam every nook and corner of the Washington Stadium to witness the twenty-fourth annual game between the Cougars and Huskies which will decide whether Washington State will close its conference season with an undefeated record and bring the football championship to the Northwest for the first time since 1925.

The 38,000 seats in the stadium have been sold out for nearly two weeks. The total will be raised to 40,000 when 2000 standing-room tickets are put on sale at game time, breaking the attendance record of 35,266 established in Portland this season.

Rival coaches—Jimmy Phelan of Washington and "Babe" Hollingbery of Washington State, tonight offered the same old chestnut—"We look for a tough battle" as the teams rested to await the call to arms.

"We'll give the Cougars all we have," said Phelan. "If it isn't enough we will have the satisfaction of knowing we did all in our power. We realize we are facing the outstanding team of the conference in Hollingbery's Cougars. It has a marvelous and proud record behind it to date. Naturally, we are for the championship title staying in the Northwest, but we'll be doing our best tomorrow to sink the Cougars."

"I look for the hardest fight we have had since the Southern California game," said Hollingbery. "The Huskies are set and primed to battle and I have a wholesome respect for the team.

"The Cougars are not looking toward the game with any feeling of security. They realize this game may or may not mean the championship and I have confidence in every one of them to say here that they will battle to their last ounce of strength to bring home the title for Washington State."

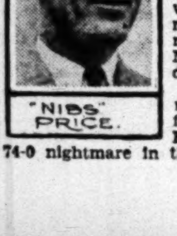
Washington State is a heavy favorite, but Washington has nothing at stake and is expected to resort to tricks and an open-passing game in an effort to win. Rain is forecast.

NOTICE BOARD COPS CUP

DERBY (Eng.) Nov. 14. Sixteen horses ran the mile and three quarters of the handicap, which was worth about $5000 and has been run since 1902.

GOLDEN BEARS BATTLE NEVADA WOLVES TODAY

BERKELEY, Nov. 14. (Exclusive) Cool weather set in this afternoon to add to a week of cool reception from fans, sports scribes and townsfolk as the University of California football varsity engaged in its final light practice for the University of Nevada match tomorrow afternoon in the Memorial Stadium.



"NIBS" PRICE.

It has been a most hectic week for the Golden Bears, since that 74-0 nightmare in the Los Angeles Coliseum last week.

The regular line will start the game, according to indications in tonight's practice. The one exception will be Ralph Stone, who is scheduled to start in the place of Togo Thornton at end. The line will find Stone and Avery at the wings; Timmerman and Cahn as tackles; Capt. Handy and Beckett as guards; and Eickmeyer, center.

A new backfield combination, used for the first time this season, will be tried out against the Nevadans.

Joe Hickingbotham, in view of Rusty Gill's indisposition, will go back to his old place at fullback. Sheldon Potter, third-string quarterback, will work out as safety man. Ed Kirwan, first St. Mary's, one of the outstanding elevens on the Pacific Coast, has been defeated only once in two years, and the thirty-three Huskies "Slip" brought with him are determined to keep their record clean.

Dopesters, viewing the records of the two teams, were inclined to call the result a toss-up. Both teams rested today.

OXY TIGERS TRIUMPH, 21-0

Santa Barbara State Roadrunners Bow to Bengal Eleven in After-Dark Grid Battle

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 14.—Before a home-coming crowd of 4000 fans at Pershing Park tonight Santa Barbara State College suffered its first defeat of the season when the Occidental Tigers pounded out a 21-to-0 triumph in the last half of an exciting grid clash.

After being held scoreless during the first half, the Bengal attack began functioning in the third period and the invading gridders from Eagle Rock rushed across two touchdowns to pile up a 14-to-0 margin. Another 7 points were chalked up in the last period to add insult to injury as far as the Roadrunners were concerned.

STONEY JOHNSTON

Stoney Johnston Tiger quarterback, accounted for a pair of Oxy touchdowns, plunging over from the 2-yard and 3-yard marks to climax Bengal drives down the gridiron. Tuffy Reid, elusive Oxy left halfback, made the first touchdown of the game when he galloped 5 yards around right end to reach scoring territory. Bill Myers, Bengal right halfback, converted all three Oxy touchdowns with neat place-kicks.

Santa Barbara, which had held the conference-leading Caltech eleven to a 7-to-7 tie, kept Dick Glover in check, but were unable to stop the line plunging of Johnston, Reid and Myers.

The Roadrunners came their closest to scoring when Hickman got loose for a 65-yard gallop that was nullified because he stepped out of bounds while breaking away.

Line-ups:

Santa Barbara (0.)		Occidental (21.)
Hopkins	L.E.R.	Meeks
Barth	L.T.R.	Schurch
Davis	L.G.R.	Waddel
Johnson	C.	Chappell

BRUIN HARRIERS MEET TECH RUNNERS TODAY

Determined to make a comeback from their defeat by the University of California Golden Bears, Coach Guy Harris's U.C.L.A. cross-country squad will clash this afternoon with the Caltech harriers over the four-mile Pasadena course. The Bruins, by virtue of their victories over the Engineers for the past two years, are the favorites but expect heavy competition. Capt. Art Thurman and Art Van Meres are the Westwood stars, while Ray Skoog is the Caltech distance star.

BIG TEN TITLE WILL BE DECIDED BY TILTS TODAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 14. (AP)—The Western Conference football championship will be settled tomorrow, with either Northwestern or Michigan winning or sharing gridiron honors of 1930.

Northwestern, undefeated, and with victories over Ohio State, Minnesota, Illinois and Indiana, plays its final game of the Big Ten season tomorrow, meeting the powerful Wisconsin eleven at Evanston, while Michigan, also unconquered, engages Minnesota at Ann Arbor. Victory for both Northwestern and the Wolverines will virtually assure them a tie for the title, as Michigan, which closes its season a week hence against Chicago, figures to triumph over the Maroons, who have not won a conference game this season.

While Northwestern and Michigan are fighting for premier honors, a good old-fashioned football game will renew the Chicago-Illinois rivalry at Stagg Field. Neither Illinois nor Chicago has won a conference victory and Illinois' slump this year has made the Illini something of an even match for Chicago for the first time in years. In the other game on tomorrow's schedule, Pittsburgh will come across the State line to battle Ohio State at Columbus, while Penn State will invade Iowa to engage the Hawkeyes at Iowa City. Purdue, last year's champion, has a breathing spell, meeting Butler at Lafayette. Indiana has an off date.

Washington State vs. Washington: Washington State should win.

Oregon vs. Oregon State: Oregon; chance for an upset.

Southern California vs. Hawaii: Trojans ought to win.

Stanford vs. California Tech: Stanford.

California vs. Nevada: California.

Montana vs. Gonzaga: Toss-up.

The championship of the Pacific Coast Conference for the 1930 season will undoubtedly rest in the Northwest following today's football games. Washington State and Oregon University close their respective conference schedules, and although there is a chance that one or both may be upset in these games I really look for each to win.

Washington State faces a traditional foe in Washington while the Oregon-Oregon State game has always been looked upon as the big game of the year by both teams. Of the two I think Oregon is the more likely to be surprised because Paul Schissler's team appears to have been improving while Washington did not look so strong in losing to Stanford, 25 to 7, last Saturday.

If both undefeated teams win tomorrow I think Washington State will be more entitled to the championship than Oregon because Coach Hollingbery's team will have gone through much the stiffer schedule of the two. Washington State will have played six conference games as against but four for Oregon. In addition Oregon met none of the stronger California teams, while Washington State not only faced but defeated California and Southern California.

There is a possibility of an upset in both games tomorrow, however, for neither Washington State nor Oregon is so far above its foe as to be immune from a surprise. However, Washington State defeated Washington, 20 to 13, last year, and with a better team this season ought to close an unbeaten campaign at the expense of the Huskies. Oregon trimmed Oregon State a year ago, 16 to 0, but tomorrow's game should be much closer with there being a strong possibility of Schissler's team winning.

We of Southern California are glad to welcome the University of Hawaii team to Los Angeles for an intersectional game. Football has made rapid strides on the island in recent years and Hawaii has a colorful team which specializes in use of the forward pass.

California Tech will be unable to do much with Stanford, although the score may not be large, inasmuch as the Cardinals will be saving themselves for next week's game with California.

The same situation exists in the California-Nevada game, where the Bears will take things easy.

Montana and Gonzaga ought to have a close game.

YALE SHOULD BEAT PRINCETON, SAYS COACH

By W. W. Roper

Princeton Football Coach

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

PRINCETON (N. J.) Nov. 14.—In the East this Saturday the Princeton-Yale game at Princeton holds the center of the football stage. This interest is due more to the traditional rivalry between these universities than to any public expectation of a close game.

On paper Yale should have a runaway. The Elis have a powerful team with a splendid season's record. Yale has tied Dartmouth and Army and won from Brown. Yale's showing places the team in the forefront in eastern football.

Princeton has had a bad season. Yale has a wealth of substitute material and is particularly strong in the backfield. Princeton has little or no reserve material. The team is inexperienced and green. I admit the outlook for a Princeton victory is very slim. My choices:

EAST

Army-Kentucky Wesleyan: Army.
Amherst-Williams: Williams.
Brown-Columbia: Brown.
Bucknell-Washington and Jefferson: Washington and Jefferson.
Cornell-Dartmouth: Dartmouth.
Colgate-Syracuse: Colgate.
F. and M.-Dickinson: F. and M.
Harvard-Holy Cross: Harvard.
Haverford-C. C. N. Y.: Haverford.
Lafayette-Temple: Lafayette.
Lehigh-Rutgers: Rutgers.
Navy-Southern Methodist: Southern Methodist.
Notre Dame-Drake: Notre Dame.
N. Y. U.-Georgetown: N. Y. U.
Penn-Georgia Tech: Penn.
Penn State-Iowa: Iowa.
Pittsburgh-Ohio State: Pittsburgh.
Swarthmore-Ursinus: Ursinus.
Villanova-Oglethorpe: Villanova.
Yale-Princeton: Princeton's outlook "slim."

SOUTH

Alabama-Louisiana: Alabama.
Arkansas-Baylor: Arkansas.
Centre-Transylvania: Centre.
Georgia-Tulane: Georgia.
South Carolina-Sewanee: South Carolina.
Vanderbilt-Tennessee: Vanderbilt.
Virginia-Washington-Lee: Virginia.

LOSS OF RENTNER MAY HURT PURPLE

By Bob Zuppke

University of Illinois Football Coach

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

URBANA (Ill.) Nov. 14.—Give me a football team that has higher average speed and more agility than the other fellow, for it will win nine times out of ten.

That is why I think Northwestern will take Wisconsin in the most important Big Ten battle this week. Northwestern's personnel as a whole is faster than the Badgers, and more agile.

One bad break for Northwestern is the probability that Rentner, their best passer, will not play. Coach Hanley has other fair passers in Bruder and Lee Hanley, but they are not as good as Rentner, who is probably the best in the conference except Harry Newman, Michigan. Rentner's accurate throws to Baker turned the tide against Illinois and Ohio State after the Northwestern running attack had been halted, and if the Badgers are stubborn his loss will hurt a lot. My choices:

Northwestern-Wisconsin: Northwestern. But the Badgers have their chance.
Michigan-Minnesota: Michigan. Michigan is scoreless without Newman—but it'll have him.
Ohio State-Pittsburgh: Ohio State. The Buckeyes are improving.
Illinois-Chicago: A close one between two of the weaker Big Ten teams this year.
Notre Dame-Drake: Notre Dame. No explanation is necessary.
Purdue-Butler: Purdue. Rest Saturday for the Boilmakers.
Kansas-Oklahoma: Oklahoma. A tight one. Beef against speed and elusiveness. Anything may happen.
Iowa State-Kansas Aggies: Iowa State. But anybody's game.
Nebraska-Missouri: Nebraska. Missouri is improving and may make it a game.
Marquette-Detroit: Marquette. A close one.
Iowa-Penn State: Iowa.

Phoenix Puts on Auto Race

The southwestern auto racing spotlight will shift to Phoenix this afternoon, where, on the fairgrounds' mile track, more than thirty-five pilots, headed by Ralph De Palma, will compete in a program of events under A.A.A. sanction. De Palma, en route here from Detroit, is stopping off at Phoenix to "warm up" for his appearance at the Legion Ascot Speedway here one week from tomorrow. It will be the first time in several years that the veteran Italian speed king has driven on a western dirt track.

is an insult to the University of Southern California. I think that California authorities owe us an backs, and Jimmy Musick, fullback.

Jones plans to leave his first string in long enough to work up a bit of perspiration, and he also plans to give his second squad a lengthy workout. If possible and logical, the third outfit will be given a chance to attempt to hold the invaders in check.

The Hawaiians use the Notre Dame shift and style of play, and go through the motions right snappily. Klum's outfit isn't as puny as some people think, averaging 180 pounds on the line, and 178 for the entire eleven. Ted Nobriga, the quarterback, stands 6 feet 3 inches, and weighs 198 pounds.

KAAKUA STAR

A lot of interest has been aroused over the appearance of Hiram Kaakua, husky halfback, who is called the "Grange of the Islands." Hiram played for the town team in Honolulu, before he started to the university, and sparkled against the Olympic Club one year. Island fans declare he is better than Lemon (Rusty) Holt, who looked like a great back a couple of years ago when the Rainbows defeated Occidental in the local Coliseum. He is reported to be exceptionally fast, a shifty runner, and all that, and it has been freely predicted that if his mates manage to break him into the open successfully, the Trojan secondary will have to do a flock of running to get within hailing distance of the visiting star.

After tomorrow's encounter, the Trojans do not play again until Thanksgiving Day when they will meet Jimmy Phelan's Washington Huskies. The line-ups:

	Southern California.		Hawaii.
37	Wilcox	L.E.R.	Wescoatt	11
33	Hall	L.T.R.	McAlevy	42
30	Baker	L.G.R.	Kauaihilo	44

ARMY AND NAVY TO MEET AGAIN

tal. The game is on and tradition and its setting make it probably the brightest spot of the autumn football season.

The news of the game probably aroused more interest in the War and Navy departments than any since the armistice. Secretary Adams and Secretary Hurley were represented as—being "very much pleased."

The Yankee Stadium is favored for the game. Studded with temporary seats, it will seat 80,000. Five dollars a ticket has been about the top price for eastern football classics.

The Army, on form, should win this year.

GOEDDERS STOPS HANNA

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 14. (AP)—Joe Goedders, Santa Ana light heavyweight, won a technical knockout over Jimmie Hanna, Los Angeles, in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round bout here tonight. Hanna was unable to answer the bell for the eighth round.

RABBIT PUNCHES
BY PAUL LOWRY

ANOTHER ATHLETIC BREAK?

THE 1924 athletic break between California, Stanford and Southern California is of too recent memory to bring a smile over the latest sophomoric outbursts.

The California tackle who popped off doesn't know any better.

Dink Templeton does.

Some of these sweet days the college faculties of our grand and glorious State are going to take matters out of undergraduate hands.

They are going to wag their fingers at the boys and say: "See here, you boys can't get along together without fighting.

"We're going to punish you by making you stand in the corner.

"After that, you can indulge in nothing but intramural athletics.

"No more big games or intercollege sports of any kind."

JUNE AND NOVEMBER

AND when the time comes Mr. Templeton and fellow-coaches will be looking for other jobs.

Intramural athletics won't pay the fat salaries engendered by big football games and big track meets.

In view of Mr. Templeton's Oakland speech it's too bad he has such a short memory.

Six years ago it took the combined effort of some of the biggest men in the State to heal the rupture between California, Stanford and Southern California.

And it's a shame Mr. Templeton's remarks don't jibe.

For example, what he said about Stanford material last June and what he says now.

SOUTH VS. NORTH

MR. TEMPLETON'S specialty is track and field. His rating is high.

But Mr. Templeton deplores the fact that the University of Southern California gets so much good material.

Well, why shouldn't it?

A tremendous majority of the best athletes are developed south of the Tehachapi, and there is no particular reason why they should go north to school. Not with U.C.L.A. and U.S.C., two big universities, in our midst.

Take track and field for example.

For four years running you'll find by digging into the statistics that no northern high school has finished within the first five places in the State interscholastic championship meets. The north hasn't had a look in.

BEARS SHOULD APOLOGIZE FOR CAHN POPOFF---JONES

immediate apology for what Cahn had to say.

"Nothing was said about professionalism when we lost to California, 15 to 7, last year," went on Jones. "And of our so-called regulars, only two men, Ernie Smith, tackle, and Orv Mohler, quarterback, were not on the squad last season. All the other men who started against California last Saturday, with the single exception of Ralph Wilcox, end, also started in the game last year. Smith as a freshman last season couldn't even win a regular position and he was our third string varsity tackle when the 1930 season opened. Tappaan played the whole game against California last year so there was no opportunity to use Wilcox."

"Nobody said anything about our players being subsidized when we lost to Washington State," continued Jones. "It looks like California and Stanford are just unable to bear it now that we have trimmed 'em both in the same season. I am really surprised that they have to be such poor sports about it."

When Jones got started on the Templeton angle he fired up anew. "If I were Dink Templeton I would keep my mouth shut," was the Trojan mentor's comment.

"Why it was Dink who said before our game with Stanford that there wasn't an outstanding player in our line and that Stanford linemen would outplay us from end to end," said Jones. "After the game, when we had won, 41 to 12, somebody asked Dink what about Stanford's line, and they tell me he replied, 'What line, I didn't see any Stanford line.'"

"As for material all you have to do is get the June issue of the Stanford alumni review and read Templeton's own words," continued Jones. "He thought very highly of Stanford's material at that time and I don't think it was much different when we played 'em."

"What makes me mad," went on Jones, "is that you can work all season with a fine bunch of boys as we have done here at Southern California, accomplish our objective in our two major games, and then have a bunch of short sports come out with statements such as have been made by Stanford and California supporters. It makes you wonder whether there is any use working so hard.

"If they have anything to prove I'll be more than glad to listen," continued Jones. "They've made a lot of accusations, now let them try and prove them. They can't do it and we can talk back, too.

"As for material, don't both Stanford and California get a large percentage of their athletes from Southern California?" queried Jones.

"Just look over their rosters and you'll get what I mean. How about Hillman, Rothert, Moffatt, Neill, Tandy and many others at Stanford, and Medanich, Griffiths, Handy and many more at California?"

Dr. Hugh Willett, faculty athletic representative at Southern California, said: "I never consider a wild student rumor. If Dean Putnam, faculty representative of California, has any official charges to make concerning the University of Southern California football team let him do so officially to me.

"The alleged speech of Cahn is unfortunate for all concerned, but please remember that it was only the wild statement of one who does not officially represent the University of California."

Regarding accusations that Orv Mohler was being paid to play football for the Trojans, an official stated that Mohler works as a salesman for a local automobile firm, adding "He gets a commission of $20 on each car sold and stories that he is paid to play football are entirely without foundation. If a boy can't work his way through school then we might as well quit and acknowledge that athletics are only for the sons of rich men."

Mohler, in a lengthy statement, denied all accusations and told what his commission was on cars sold. "It looks like you scored a few too many touchdowns against the Bears, Orv," smiled one coach. Mohler tallied four times against the Bears last Saturday.

Although neither Hunter nor Jones would commit themselves it is felt that an official statement, particularly in regard to Templeton's outburst, will be forthcoming from Southern California officials before many hours have passed.

CANZONERI IS NEW CHAMPION

to the top of his crinkly hair, danced toward him.

They met in the center of the ring, sparred cautiously, fell into a clinch, and pounded each other's ribs in desultory fashion. They boxed in the open again without landing a blow, fell together and once more swung apart.

The big crowd, almost a capacity throng, waited tensely for something to happen. Then when it seemed certain that nothing was going to break through the cautiousness for a while at least, the roof of Singer's championship castle suddenly smashed right down upon his head.

Canzoneri drew back from a clinch, crouched, swung a roundhouse left hook to the jaw. It landed flush on the side of Singer's head, the first genuine punch of the fight. Al staggered forward, pulled himself together, bobbed under the next left hook, but took the third squarely on the button. He flopped down on his face, came to one knee, apparently recovered at the count of seven, and then flopped over on his back. He wound up on the ledge outside the ring ropes and pulled himself to his feet there long after Jimmy McAvoy, the referee, had counted him out. The crowd sat stunned for a moment, started a cheer and wound up booing lustily.

The knockout of Singer, amazing as was its suddenness, probably means the end of the flashy youngster's big-league fighting career, although he is only 21 years old. The Jewish youngster soared with amazing suddenness to the top, but a questionable bit of judgment sent him into battle with Jimmy McLarnin, the Vancouver welterweight belter, a few months after he conquered Mandell. McLarnin knocked him out and the effects of the beating he took that night seem still to be lingering with Singer.

The knockout marked the third time in lightweight history that the title has changed hands in the first round. Joe Gans, the immortal, knocked out Frankie Erne in less than a minute in Fort Erie, N. Y.

STERN AND DONNELL COP HANDBALL TITLE

Dr. Art Stern and Jack Donnell, the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A.'s two-fisted handball combination, won the Southern California senior handball doubles championship at the Elks' Club last night by defeating Fred Olney and Fred Spalty, 21-18, 21-13, in the tournament finals. The match was bitterly contested and filled with brilliant handball.

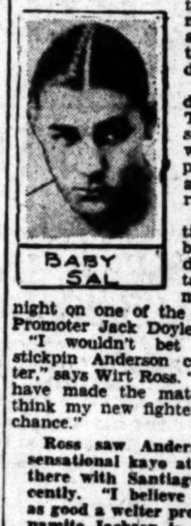
REISTER MAY BATTLE SORIO

Young Knockout Stars Are Olympic Prospects

Bobby Reister and Baby Sal Sorio—star knockout prospects—are certain to clash at the Olympic some time this month, it was announced at the club yesterday.



Both are under contract. The bout was slated for next week, but was postponed due to a bruise on Sal's right hand.

The sensational Reister boxes Bert Anderson, Montana copper miner, Tuesday night on one of the five star bouts Promoter Jack Doyle has carded.

"I wouldn't bet my diamond stickpin Anderson can take Reister," says Wirt Ross. "But I wouldn't have made the match if I didn't think my new fighter had an even chance."

Ross saw Anderson score a sensational kayo at Butte when there with Santiago Zorilla recently. "I believe Anderson is as good a welter prospect as Dynamite Jackson is for a heavyweight and Jackson is the best big fellow on the Pacific Coast."

Reister scored his thirteenth knockout when he stopped Don Burchard with a solar plexus blow his last fight. But Wild Man Macias, who boxes Tony Portillo on the Grand-avenue card Tuesday, leads all young Coast fighters for knockouts with thirty-nine in fifty-three fights.

Macias, they say, will be a sensation. He is a stocky Mexican with terrific strength in either hand. His muscles were developed tossing brick at the Simon kilns near Santa Ana.

Matt Codan, who gave Benny Miller a stand-off fight, was knocked down eighteen times in four rounds by Macias. Young Harry Wills was on the floor twelve times when he met the Wild Man's punches.

Other bouts on the Olympic card are Bobby Pacho vs. Benny Pelz, Billy Papke, Jr., vs. Billy Wagner and Chalky Wright vs. Ray Cervantes.

Poet Eleven Goes Against La Verne Team

Playing the only Southern Conference game of the day, Whittier travels to La Verne this afternoon to meet the Leopards there. Wallace Newman's Poets' sparkling performance against Pomona last Tuesday, makes them odds-on favorites to wallop Lee Eisan's outfit.

Bill Krueger and Merle Mashburn will strike terror into La Verne hearts with their murderous jaunts off-tackle and around end. However, the Leopards should not be too easily trampled, for under Eisan's coaching the former weak sister of the league is acquiring plenty of strength.

After giving the Sagehens a drubbing, the Quakers may yet be weary from the struggle. A tough line and an offense with a real scoring punch should give Whittier the verdict.

Capt. Cecil Baker will probably start at center for Whittier and will be flanked at guards by Daugherty and Frank Jones. Gibbs and Davidson, tackles, and Lewis and Bonner, ends, complete the line.

GOLDEN BEARS BATTLE WOLVES

choice as quarterback, is out for the season with injuries, it is feared.

Hank Schaldach, California's backfield ace, is still nursing hurts that must be healed for the big game with Stanford, so Price will use Ray East in his place. The other halfback job will be intrusted to Ed Griffiths, who played this position last season. Griffiths is just recovering from injuries. He has been tried out as quarterback so far this year but enjoys halfbacking much more.

BANNING LOSES IN PRACTICE GRID TILT

Perris trounced San Jacinto, 27 to 9, and Beaumont nosed out Hemit, 13 to 6, yesterday in the only two games played in the Riverside County League. The Elsinore-Coachella battle was called off by agreement between the two schools because the result would have no bearing on the title and the institutions are over 100 miles apart. Banning, who is leading the league, drew a bye, but played a practice game with Victorville and was soundly trounced, 16 to 0. Banning apparently did not take the game seriously and was unable to get going, when Victorville proved to be a tougher team than they were credited with being.

POSTPONE ELECTION OF YACHT OFFICERS

Because the Notre Dame-Trojan football game falls on the date set aside for the annual election of officers at the Newport Harbor Yacht Club, the yachting officials have put that event ahead to December 13. This announcement came yesterday from Commodore Leon Heseman of Newport. The board of directors of the club has been notified to gather one week later for the election. Al Rogers, genial skipper of the good ship Synnove, is slated to succeed Heseman as commodore for 1930.

Troy, Bruin Gridmen to Be Honored

Trojan and Bruin football players will be guests of the Los Angeles Athletic Club Wednesday and Thursday night at the Olympic Auditorium where the pre-Olympic amateur boxing tournament will be staged. Charley Keppen, athletic director of the club, invited the gridiron boys yesterday through Bill Hunter and Steve Cunningham.

The boxing tournament will be by far the largest staged here in some time. Keppen has almost one hundred entries at present. The list closed last night. The winners in the two-day show here will be sent to the far western championships at San Francisco on December 2 and 3 Keppen announced. Snowy Baker and Ernie Clark will act as judges. Lieutenant-Commander Duke Kenworthy and Lieut. Jack Kennedy will referee.

Bruins Must Work Today

Wasting no time in preparing for next Friday night's game with the strong Oregon State eleven at the Coliseum, Coach Bill Spaulding will send his Bruin gridders through a workout this morning on the Westwood gridiron, starting at 9 o'clock. Scrimmage against the "All-Americans," led by Frosh Coach Freddy Oster at fullback and Assistant Frosh Coach Cliff Simpson at quarterback, is a part of the program for this morning.

The Bruins took one on the chin yesterday when it was definitely announced by Trainer Billy Burke that Howard Willoughly, 200-pound first-string tackle, is out for the remainder of the season with a dislocated cartilage in his knee. Willoughby will be out of the Oregon State game and also the Idaho game on the 29th inst. His place in the line-up will probably be taken by Lloyd McMillan, the battling Missourian.

Bruin players and fans are extremely interested in the game to be played up north this afternoon between Oregon's Webfeet and Oregon State. The Westwood Villagers held Johnny Kitzmiller and Oregon cohorts to a 7-to-0 score last Saturday in the mud up at Eugene, and the result of today's game will indicate the probable chances of the Bruins for upsetting the dope with a win over the Oregon State Beavers.

The Bruins are pinning their hopes for a victory over the Orangemen on the ball-lugging abilities of Bob Decker, Norman Duncan and Buddy Forster, with a passing attack featuring either Capt. Eddie Solomon or Leonard Bergdahl on the throwing end and Mulhaupt, Wellendorf, Forster or Roberts on the receiving end, as the "ace in the hole."

MILLER AND GARCIA TO TANGLE TONIGHT

Abie Miller and Bobby Garcia will box the six-round bout topping the Main-street Athletic Club card tonight. It will be Miller's first Main-street appearance as a 126-pounder. The former national amateur bantamweight champion has confined most of his activities to the smaller clubs since turning professional and has been making rapid progress.

Al Herrera, a hard-hitting Mexican welterweight, will meet Bert Sampson in the six-round semi-wind-up. Joe Pimenthal and Louis Ramos, featherweights, will box the six-round special. Vincent Martinez and Jack Keenan, 145-pounders, will box the fourth six-rounder on the card. Jack Kay and Joe Stube, welterweights, will box the four-round curtain-raiser.

CARNERA SAILS FOR SPAIN

GENOA (Italy) Nov. 14. (AP)—Primo Carnera, cutting short his mildly successful exhibitions in Italy, sailed today for Barcelona to train seriously for his fight there with Paulino Uzcudun, Spanish heavyweight, the 23rd inst.

AL FAY BEATS DOMAN IN RING

Eastern Heavy Takes Nod in Slow Legion Go

Al Fay, who couldn't break an egg with one of his punches, took a ten-round decision over Vigo Doman in the main event at the Hollywood Legion Stadium last night. Doman, who is famed locally for his jelly-fish knees, managed to keep on his feet all the way.

In the ninth round, however, Fay slammed Doman with a right and Doman skidded across the ring more off balance than anything else.

After being on the floor in the first round for a nine count, Pickles Heintz came back in the second round to knock out Gus Heib. The scrap was billed as the semi-wind-up and was scheduled to go six rounds.

Young Papke almost kayoed Ritchie King several times in the special event, but King managed to last the limit and Papke took a six-round decision. King was on the floor twice for nine counts, in the first round and again in the fourth.

Frankie Mann beat Al Levis over four rounds, while Domingo outpointed Joe Miceli in the four-round curtain raiser.

ROMAN HARRIERS WIN OVER GARFIELD SQUAD

The Los Angeles High School cross-country team scored a 23-to-33 victory over the Garfield Bulldogs yesterday in a two-mile race held on the Roman's track. Halloway of Los Angeles led the pack to the finish in 10m. 54s. His teammates, Wilson and Kein, came in close behind him. Garfield's first entrant to finish, Mulando, wound up in fourth place, followed by Wilkerson, also of Garfield. The Bulldog representatives failed to uphold the prestige that Garfield has enpoyed in distance running for the past four years.

JORDAN WINNER OF BILLIARD TOURNEY

By defeating J. Boseman, 50 to 49, last night in the final match of the three-cushion billiard tournament held at the Clifford Jones Billiard Parlors, Charley Jordan finished unbeaten to win the Southwest sectional title. Jordan will meet the Northwest's sectional winner at San Francisco next week with the winner going on to enter the national tournament. Jordan's high run was eight, while Bozeman's best string was seven. In the afternoon match William Lane trimmed J. Van Gilder, 50 to 27, in fifty-five innings.

MATA WINS FROM RETZLAFF ON FOUL

COLISEUM (Chicago) Nov. 14. (AP)—Antonio Mata, a strapping heavyweight from Madrid, Spain, won on a foul from Charley Retzlaff of Duluth, Minn., in the first round of their scheduled six-round wind-up in the Coliseum tonight. After a minute of fighting with honors even, Retzlaff accidentally sank a right-hand punch low in foul territory.

Previous to losing tonight's contest, Retzlaff had scored thirty-six knockouts. Mata weighed 189; Retzlaff, 196.

HOPPER, JONES CLASH FOR SQUASH LAURELS

Harold Hopper, Hollywood A. C., and Wilson Jones, University Club, will meet for the national senior squash handball championship today at the Los Angeles Athletic Club courts in a match that is scheduled to start at noon. Hopper won his way to the finals last night by defeating Bob Ackley, L.A.A.C., in a spectacular match, 21-13, 10-21, 21-16, while Jones captured his semifinal match from Willard Mullen, L.A.A.C., rather easily by scores of 21-4, 21-5.

MANUAL ARTS RUINS FAIRFAX

"Booming Bill" Howard Is Big Star in 41-0 Win

With "Booming Bill" Howard leading the way, Manual's Toilers piled up a 41-to-0 City League triumph over Fairfax yesterday on the Colonials' gridiron.

"Booming Bill," who has proved the City League's leading scorer this season, rambled to four of the Toiler touchdowns and converted five out of Manual's six scores.

Fairfax defense was utterly helpless before Manual's smashing attack and the Toiler steam-roller rumbled over the turf for twenty-one points in the first quarter. After that Quarterback Faegan took the seam-roller out of high gear and the Toilers satisfied themselves with only one touchdown in each of the remaining three periods.

Lazarovich and Easton tallied Manual's touchdowns that Howard didn't make.

As a result of yesterday's City League struggles Manual is tied with Lincoln, Fremont and Hollywood for first place in the scrambled City League race.

COMPTON AND PASADENA PLAY TIE GAME

Compton and Pasadena high school football teams battled to a 6-to-6 tie at Compton yesterday in a Coast League game. The Pasadena squad scored first in the second quarter, when Cotton, flashy fullback, received a pass from Ayers, sub halfback, and then ran 15 yards for the touchdown. The conversion was blocked. Coach Herschel Smith's Tartars came back fighting in the second half, however, and punched over a touchdown in the final quarter. Dan Boone smashed the ball over for the marker. Nuzum and Lawrence starred for the home team while Cotton was the outstanding man for the visitors. The line-ups:

REDSHIRTS TRIP BELMONT

Hilltoppers Give Hollywood Eleven Hard Fight and Lose Contest by 6-0 Score

A scrappy Belmont football squad almost ruined the Hollywood High Redshirts' chances to tie for a City League championship yesterday when they held the Kellymen scoreless to the end of the last quarter only to succumb to a powerful Red rally and lose, 6-0.

The two teams showed plenty of pep every minute of the fast encounter and played all over the field. Late in the fourth period with Hollywood in possession of the pigskin on the Hilltoppers' 45-yard line Terry faded back and threw a long pass to "Ham" Judson, who was downed on the 15-yard strip. On two plays Pacht and Terry advanced to the 11-yard mark, and then Coach Kelly sent in his star tackle, Dave Zabriskie, who had been on the bench due to injuries received in the Manual game. Along with Zabriskie Kelly sent in Harwood, regular end, and Campbell, substitute half. On the next play the latter tore over his left tackle for a first down with four to go for the touchdown. With two plunges Pacht made a little over three of the four, and then Phillips romped around right end to score standing up. Judson failed to kick the extra point.

Coach Witherow's charges completed several lengthy passes, one of which nearly netted them a score. In the second quarter Al Betrino completed a 30-yard throw to Fox and it looked like he was away to a touchdown but Frankie Phillips, Crimson half, overtook him and made a nice tackle on the 5-yard line. The Hilltoppers advanced the ball to the 2-foot mark but lacked the drive to push it over. Nick Verdugo started the game out with a neat 30-yard jaunt over right tackle for the Crimsonmen. Pacht and Terry played steady games at full and half, respectively, and Phillips played a flashy game at half for the winners. Summary:

EXCELSIOR PILOTS TRIM GARDEN GROVE, 19-6

A powerful first-half attack that netted three touchdowns gave Coach Bob Ashton's Excelsior Pilots a 19-to-6 win over the Garden Grove Chili Peppers in an Orange County League game yesterday on the winner's field. Williams and Champlin went over for the Pilots in the first quarter and Roman added the extra point on one of the touchdowns. Ravera scored for Excelsior in the second period. The Chili Peppers' lone touchdown came in the third quarter when Hates took a pass and rambled 40 yards over the goal line.

TARTARS WIND UP SEASON UNDEFEATED

Coach Jim Purcell's Beverly Hills Tartars wound up an undefeated season yesterday by trimming the weak Owensmouth grid team, 26 to 0, in a game played on the latter's field. Beverly Hills cinched the championship last week, today's game having no bearing on the race since Owensmouth finished in the cellar. Bruce and Harry Ells led their team to victory with the able assistance of Pottle and Scherer. Scherer led the scoring with two touchdowns, while B. Ells and White accounted for the other markers. The feature of the game was a 50-yard dash through the Owensmouth team by Bruce Ells.

SAN FERNANDO WINS OVER VAN NUYS

Featured by a 65-yard return of the opening kick-off for a touchdown by Fullback Hynes, the San Fernando football squad scored a 14-to-6 victory over the Van Nuys eleven yesterday in a game played on the victor's gridiron. The winner's other score came in the second quarter when Henry made a sensational 70-yard run through the visitors to the goal line. Poli accounted for Van Nuys' score when he plunged over from the 2-yard line in the second period. The line-ups:

UNIVERSITY UPSETS NORTH HOLLYWOOD

Playing three games in eight days proved to be too much of an undertaking for Sam McClung's North Hollywood grid team, which fell before the inspired onslaught of the University Warriors yesterday on the loser's gridiron. The score was 12 to 7, in favor of the Warriors. The Lions played last Friday and again on Tuesday. Yesterday's encounter found them far from their best form. North Hollywood had lost only one game, while University had lost all of its games until they met. Hollinberg scored both of the Warriors' touchdowns, while a 65-yard pass from Jones to Huff accounted for the Lions' only score.

CHAFFEY DEFEATS REDLANDS, 13-6

REDLANDS, Nov. 14.—Chaffey defeated Redlands, 13 to 6, in a Citrus Belt League game here this afternoon, scoring in the first and third quarters. Redlands put on an attack in the fourth quarter with a long pass, Bauer to McClelland, and then bucking the ball across. Chaffey scored first on a lateral pass that was grounded, then picked up by Smith, who took it across. Conversion failed. On the next touchdown Bigeley bucked across and Brest scored on an end around.

LAURIE OLIVER STARS AS JEFFERSON WINS, 19-0

Coach Harry Edelson's Jefferson grid machine crashed through with its second City League victory yesterday afternoon, when it defeated the Franklin eleven, 19 to 0, on the Democrat gridiron. While the final result was not a big surprise, the size of the score was an upset.

Laurie Oliver, diminutive quarterback, who has been the backbone of the Democrat team the past two years, was just about the difference between the two teams. Oliver scored two touchdowns himself, and threw a pass to Jordan for the other touchdown, as well as drop-kicking the only conversion of the day.

The first touchdown came in the second quarter, Oliver diving over tackle. Oliver converted to make the score at half-time 7 to 0. In the third quarter, the Democrat signal caller uncorked a 40-yard forward pass to Jordan, who ran over the goal line. Oliver then sent his men back to the attack in the final period, and culminated a drive by scampering over the line on a run around end from the 6-yard line.

JAYSEE TEAMS IN TITLE TILTS

Two Divisions Battle for Championships Today

Championships of both divisions of the Southern California Junior College Conference will be at stake today, when the Pasadena Bulldogs meet the Compton Tartars in the western section, and the Chaffey Panthers meet the Riverside Tigers in the eastern section. Other games scheduled are: Santa Ana at Los Angeles, Fullerton at Long Beach and Santa Monica at San Bernardino.

Compton is leading the western division with three victories and a tie, but the Pasadena team has an even chance of upsetting the favored Tartars in the game today at the Crown City. The Bulldogs have been improving in each game, and expect to win the Jaysee title by humbling the undefeated Tartars. Riverside and Chaffey have both run wild in their section, having won all their games by large margins. The outcome of this encounter is a toss-up, with slight odds favoring the home team, Riverside.

Santa Ana is expected to win easily from the crippled Los Angeles Cubs, and Fullerton probably will win from the Long Beach eleven in the other western division contests. San Bernardino is favored over Santa Monica in the other eastern section battle.

L. A. HIGH ROMANS ROLL UP 46-0 TRIUMPH

Los Angeles High's "Roamin'" Romans took the Garfield Bulldogs into camp yesterday afternoon out at L. A. Hight to the tune of 48 to 0. "Chuck" Cheshire, the Roman candidate for All-City honors, accounted for twenty points single-handed in the first half of the game with three touchdowns and two conversions. One of these touchdowns came on a 76-yard jaunt around his own right end, and another on an 11-yard trip over right tackle. Max McClain also gave the fans a thrill with a 65-yard run around his own left end for a touchdown. Almada pass to Funk was good for 25 yards and another touchdown just before the end of the half.

The line-ups:

GLENDALE JAYSEE AND INELIGIBLES TIE, 0-0

Because Glendale J. C. had no game listed for this week-end, Coach Sam Tennison's eleven had a practice game yesterday afternoon on the Hoover Field with a team of ineligibles. The ineligibles, using Compton J. C. plays, held the varsity eleven to a scoreless tie. Glendale meets Compton on Thanksgiving Day.

Loas, Meehan, Ward, Eubanks and Lorborough starred for the ineligibles, while Jolley, Lewis, Edwards and Taylor stood out on the regulars.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, ORANGE TIE, 13-13

Huntington Beach and Orange battled to a 13-13 tie yesterday afternoon at Huntington Beach. It was a practice game, the regular Orange County League game between the Oilers and the Anaheim Colonists being postponed.

BLACK-FOXE CLAIMS PREP BEE TITLE

Coach Cunningham's Black-Foxe Military eleven swept to a 56-0 victory over the San Diego Army and Navy Class B eleven yesterday afternoon on the Black-Foxe field. The victory gave the lightweight prep school title to the Cadets according to Black-Foxe officials. Pendergrass led the scoring with seven to his credit. He tallied two times in the first quarter; three times in the second, and twice in the third and fourth periods.

Coach Cunningham announced that he would accept the challenge of the Fairfax lightweights to a game that will decide the city championship.

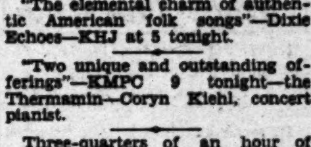
BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

"They're in a huddle—they're up to the line"—football will be king again today.

KHJ at 10:30 a.m. is to open the day with college songs preceding the Fordham vs. St. Mary's game at the Yankee Stadium, New York City. The kick-off is timed for 10:45 a.m. KFI will carry the broadcast of the clash between Yale's Bulldogs and the Princeton Tigers at 10:50 this morning.

Then listeners-in will return to the Pacific Coast, with KHJ at 2 p.m. taking the Stanford vs. California Tech contest while KMTR, KFWB, KFI and KNX are to bring the U.S.C.-Hawaii game to the dial at 2 o'clock.



They tell us that—

"The elemental charm of authentic American folk songs"—Dixie Echoes—KHJ at 5 tonight.

"Two unique and outstanding offerings"—KMPC 9 tonight—the Thermamin—Coryn Kiehl, concert pianist.

Three-quarters of an hour of beautiful string music? Calmon Luboviski and his violin choir—KNX at 7:15 tonight—a recital of classics.

Ice Hockey? KMTR at 9:30 tonight—the Sun Freeze team and the Shell Oil Tigers are to tangle.

"No one understands child psychology better than Ernest Schelling who conducts the Children's Concert of the New York Philharmonic—KHJ at 8:15 this morning. Teach the kiddies to love music.

Loyce Whiteman, Dorothy Dee—KTM at 11 tonight—another half-hour skit. They're out in a flivver and promise complications.

Who won that game? KFWB at 7:40 tonight will give nation-wide results.

"O'Brien the Contractor"—three-act melodrama—Columbia's "Showboat"—7 tonight—ah, ha, "Fossie" is the name of the che-ild—a quart of villains — heroes — detectives and what have you. Dial a tear or two.

Do you like piano recitals? George Liebling—KFI at 9 tonight—Liszt and Liebling's own compositions.

KFWB at 9 tonight—a review by the United Chain of its best programs for the past week—an hour that promises variety.

Thirty minutes of fast-moving, old-time melodies and dialogues—KTM's Branch Hour, 9 tonight—a violin solo by Ted and ensemble numbers.

KNX—frost warnings—beginning at 8 tonight and to be continued throughout the winter—a real service to Southern California ranchers.

Here comes another Merrymakers' program—KHJ at 8:30 tonight—and through KHJ to KTM and KGER—Chevrolet dealers promise thirty minutes of real entertainment.

"They're over the border"—Ted White's Night Club—KHJ at 9:30 tonight. It can't help but be a bit Latin in romance and song.

At 6:30 tonight—KHJ—Columbia sends its National Radio Forum—they promise a man of international prominence as speaker.

About to sit down to the supper table? Then dial KFI at 6 p.m. An N.B.C. concert that should please.

And there's a radio day of music and football.

Firemen Seek Seventh Win

Los Angeles City Firemen seek their seventh football victory of the season tomorrow when they tangle with the strong U.S.S. California eleven at the Rose Bowl, Pasadena. The game, which gets under way at 2 p.m., looms as one of the toughest on the Hook-and-Ladder boys' schedule. To date the Firemen have beaten San Jose State College, West Coast Army, Oneonta Military Academy, Santa Barbara American Legion, Submarine Base players and Arizona State College.

One week from Sunday the Firemen will play the San Diego Marine Base team at the Rose Bowl. They are one of the strongest team in service circles. Johnny Blewett, brother of Bill, is the coach of the marines.

E. O. Barnett, athletic director of the fire department, announced today that seats for the North Dakota University football team at the Coliseum on Christmas Day are now on sale.

Christmas Shopping Here to Reap Benefits

Bank of America Club Fund Over $6,000,000

National Distribution Over $600,000,000

Indications that the withdrawal of savings for Christmas shopping in Los Angeles may reach a new record this year is revealed in a report of the Christmas Club of the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association issued yesterday showing an increase in the number of club members and a new high aggregate disbursement.

Through the growth of the Christmas club savings movement approximately 180,000 members of Bank of America's club will receive checks on December 1, totaling between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000. Last year there were some 168,000 members and the aggregate payment was slightly under $6,000,000.

NOLAN COMMENTS

"The liberation of this large sum of money ought to be most helpful in aiding our merchants in their 'Shop Early for Christmas' campaign," E. J. Nolan, chairman of the bank, stated.

Union Bank and Trust Company will disburse approximately $300,000 among some 5000 members of its Christmas club, according to Ben R. Meyer, president. Mr. Meyer pointed out that a greater proportion of members who joined at the first of the year maintained their regular deposits to the close than was the case a year ago, and that the average payment on December 1, will be $55, against $48 last year.

While only a few banks operate a Christmas savings plan, savings accounts built up by individuals for a similar purpose will greatly augment the known total to be disbursed through clubs, bankers assert. It is unofficially estimated that some $10,000,000 will be drawn out of Los Angeles banks by savings depositors to pour into the channels of Christmas trade.

TOTAL LARGE

For the nation as a whole, National Bancservice Corporation and other New York organizations sponsoring Christmas club savings plans, have estimated a cash distribution of more than $600,000,000. Payments, they estimate, will be made to 9,000,000 to 11,000,000 club members through some 8000 banking institutions.

The national surveys point out that the average payments are less this year, but that the number of members have so increased as to swell the aggregate disbursement to a new high figure. The movement was originated about twenty years ago and each year has shown a greater enrollment, the increase this year being less than the rate of gain in other more prosperous periods.

Oil Supply to Pay Usual Rate in Coming Year

Directors of the Republic Supply Company declared yesterday four quarterly dividend payments payable in 1931 of 75 cents a share each on an annual rate of $3. The payments are to be made on the 15th of January, April, July and October to stockholders of record the first day of the month.

This declaration sustains the rate on the common stock that has been paid during the current year. Last year directors made a similar declaration of four quarterly payments in advance, which represented a 50 per cent increase over the prior rate.

While an audited statement of earnings for the fiscal year which ended October 31, last, will not be issued for about a month, J. A. Crawford, president, recently intimated that the company expected to show earnings of about $575,000. Dividend requirements on the 200,000 shares amount to $600,000. The current position of the company, he said, is excellent, and sales in recent months have shown a decided improvement over the earlier months of the year.

CONSUMPTION OF RUBBER POINTS UP

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—Consumption of crude rubber by United States manufacturers in October totaled 27,271 tons, an increase of 8 per cent over September, the Rubber Manufacturers' Associatino reports. In previous years there has been virtually no change in the consumption for October as compared with September. Stocks on hand October 31 totaled 184,701 tons, an increase of 9 per cent over stocks at the end of September and compared with 88,483 tons at the end of October last year.

Size of Copper Price Advance Moot Question

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—The price situation in the domestic copper market was somewhat confused today.

In some quarters it was reported that producers had increased the price to 12 cents a pound for delivery to the end of March, an increase of 2½ cents in three days. In other sections, however, the price was said to be 11 cents, with some reporting they were unable to sell the metal at 11 1-4 cents.

In the trade it was said reports of progress toward curtailment of production had caused a rush of small users to buy, but large consumers, with stocks bought ahead against their future requirements, were not so eager to purchase.

Sales of export copper yesterday totaled 9,000,000 pounds and this morning aggregated around 6,750,000 pounds.

Chrysler Cuts Common Stock Dividend Rate

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—Directors of the Chrysler Corporation today reduced the quarterly dividend to 25 cents a share, compared with 75 cents previously paid.

A statement by Walter P. Chrysler, accompanying the dividend announcement said:

"Notwithstanding a strong and liquid financial position and surplus disclosed, your directors feel that the uncertainties attendant upon the immediate future of the business dictate, as a matter of prudence, the modification of the corporation's dividend policy, and the fourth quarter has been cut to 25 cents a share, payable January 2, to stock of record December 1.

"This conservative action has been taken with a view to affording the stockholders' interests the maximum of protection through the conservation by the corporation of its resources, pending definite indications that business conditions have really turned the corner."

The corporation reported for the third quarter net loss of $916,108, against net profit of $6,635,179, equal to $1.49 a share, in the third quarter of 1929. In the June quarter this year, the corporation had net profit of $3,228,139, which lacked 2 cents of meeting the dividend requirements for the quarter.

RATE OF FAILURES SHOWS SLACKENING

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—Only a moderate change appeared in the number of commercial failures this week, 495 defaults being reported by R. G. Dun & Co., compared with 489 last week. The report points out, however, the current statement was relatively better, in that last week's returns covered only five business days. At some cities, this week's report also is for five business days, although in the majority of instances the figures are for six days. A year ago failures numbered 404.

MARTIN-PARRY PLANS CASH DISTRIBUTION

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. — Frederick M. Small, president of Martin-Parry Corporation, today informed stockholders that as soon as settlement for the Indianapolis plant has been made by General Motors Corporation, the directors feel that they will be able to make a distribution of $4 a share, retaining sufficient cash for the operation of the windshield business at the York (Pa.) plant.

OCTOBER SALES OF TEA COMPANY OFF

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. — Sales of Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company for October totaled $100,960,189, as against $105,995,108 for the same month last year, a decrease of 4.7 per cent, according to a report issued today. For the ten months the sales were $901,129,179 as against $856,940,565, a gain of 5.1 per cent.

MINES OF COPPER COMPANY CLOSED

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. — All mines of Cerro de Pasco Copper Corporation in Peru have been closed because of rioting. According to latest information the power plant at Oroya is still in operation and the pumps running in the mines. How long the disturbance will continue cannot be judged at present.

STOCK SEERS ACTIVE AGAIN

Encouraged by Copper News, Prophets Find Bottom Hit and Security Prices Started on New Lap

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Long silent stock market prophets were vocal again yesterday under the encouragement of a four-day rally in stock prices and further improvement in quotations for copper metals. The wire news and brokerage-house comment were loaded with advices to buy stocks at this point for sale some time next year.

Most of these prophets also discovered that last week's low prices were the bottom for 1930. From these low levels, it was predicted, the market will gradually push forward through 1931 to culminate in another bull market in 1932 and 1933.

OTHERS CONSERVATIVE

More courageous observers had advised a month ago, in some instances, to start the accumulation of stocks on the scale down. These earlier recommendations were not so positive about the time when stocks would strike their 1930 low or when the time for profit-taking would appear.

Most followers of the market will probably agree that the basis is being laid for improvement in business and increases in the prices of equity securities. But it is hardly conservative forecasting to say that the current rally is the beginning of a pronounced upward turn in stock prices when there are still many unfavorable factors awaiting correction.

Copper is the only basic industry to demonstrate improvement. Important as copper is in the commodity situation, full consideration must be given to iron and steel, rubber, petroleum, sugar, wheat, cotton, etc., before it can be said that commodity prices have stabilized to the point where business is ready to return to normal levels.

Ordinarily the iron and steel trade does not begin to show seasonal improvement until the early spring, and without the help of the steel industry it is not likely that business progress will go very far. Production of the automobile industry similarly will not reach substantial levels until the spring months, and the building industry will not know where it stands until the winter season is over.

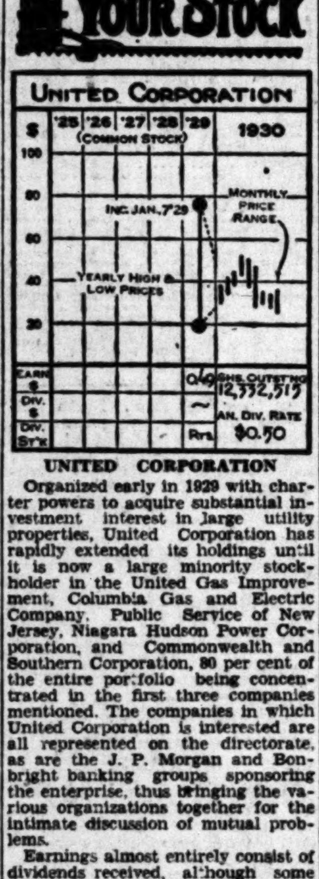
STOCKS TO FOLLOW

Until the stock market sees visible evidence of increasing production, firming prices and increasing profits in the major industries, it is doubtful if any sustained rise in stock prices will take place. This is contrary, it is true, to the accepted theory that security prices discount changes in business, but in previous business depressions the records show that stock prices follow rather than precede. Timidity of speculators resulting from costly experiences in the bull market collapse probably accounts for this lag.

Firming of copper prices is bullish news the speculators can see and understand, and it is natural that stock prices have rallied. But some of the other industries will have to contribute their evidence if the upward movement is to swing into a sustained advance.

For investors, it is probably true that invisible forces are at work in the business situation that warrant the accumulation of stocks for the pull between now and the end of the year.

WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK



UNITED CORPORATION

Organized early in 1929 with charter powers to acquire substantial investment interest in large utility properties, United Corporation has rapidly extended its holdings until it is now a large minority stockholder in the United Gas Improvement, Columbia Gas and Electric Company, Public Service of New Jersey, Niagara Hudson Power Corporation, and Commonwealth and Southern Corporation, 80 per cent of the entire portfolio being concentrated in the first three companies mentioned. The companies in which United Corporation is interested are all represented on the directorate, as are the J. P. Morgan and Bonbright banking groups sponsoring the enterprise, thus bringing the various organizations together for the intimate discussion of mutual problems.

Earnings almost entirely consist of dividends received, although some income is derived from the sale of securities. The 1929 results amounted to only 49 cents a share. On September 3, 1930, liquidating value was estimated at between $34 and $35 per share.

CAPITALIZATION

Funded debt none; $3 cumulative preferred stock (no par,) 2,479,387 shares; common stock (no par,) 12,332,515 shares; warrants, 3,732,059.

Current data: On October 1 a dividend of 50 cents per common share was paid to stockholders of record as of August 25. It is reported that a total of 75 cents may be disbursed in 1930.

BANK BOARD ELECTS NEW PRESIDENT

Dain Sturges Advanced by Central National Directors

Election of Dain Sturges as president of the Central National Bank in Los Angeles to succeed Frank C. Mortimer, resigned, was announced yesterday by the board of directors. The board also announced the election of George Acret, attorney, as a director and the resignations of Harold G. Ferguson, William S. Porter and J. E. Webster as directors.

Mr. Sturges recently resigned as vice-president of the Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank to accept the executive vice-presidency of the Central National Bank. He is treasurer of the Downtown Association and active in the Los Angeles School Savings Association, California Bankers' Association and the American Bankers' Association.

In their resolution accepting the resignation of Mr. Mortimer as president and director, the directors expressed their appreciation of his efforts and constructive achievements. Mr. Mortimer for several years was an executive of the National City Bank of New York and on his return to California became vice-president of the Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank, which office he held until he was elected president of the Central National Bank.

Readjustments are being made in the board of directors and the personnel in preparation for a campaign to enlarge the facilities of the Central National, it was stated. According to Mr. Sturges the bank has made reasonable progress for a fairly new institution, its deposits having increased in two years from $612,000 to $1,454,648.38 and its resources from $1,400,000 to $2,286,645 during the same period.

N. R. TUCKER HEADS TRUST SUBSIDIARY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Nion R. Tucker has been elected president of Pacific American Company, subsidiary of Goldman-Sachs Trading Corporation, succeeding Frank L. Taylor, who becomes chairman of the advisory committee.

POLICY OF GLASS WORRIES

Probable Action of Senator's Subcommittee on Banking Makes Wall Street Uneasy

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—What will the Glass subcommittee, appointed to investigate the operation of the Federal Reserve and the national banking laws, really do? The re-election of Senator Glass and his vigorous blast against stock-market speculation spells some awkward moments for certain people in New York.

Wall street followers are particularly interested on how the investigation is going to affect their business. They realize that there are plenty of things to investigate, once a thorough inquiry gets under way.

The sweeping victory of the Democratic party in the election will give that party much more courage in attacking this problem than it would have had if the Republicans had won.

As it is, Wall street men are on edge, wondering what it is all about and how far it will affect their pocketbooks.

The United States Department of Commerce reports that for the week ending the 8th inst., bank debits, outside of New York City, registered an increase over the preceding week, but were lower than the corresponding period in 1929.

Stock prices and bond prices were both lower than for the preceding week.

Wholesale prices remained about the same, while the price of wheat at Kansas City, cotton at New York, and iron and steel products all fell off to a lower level than that of a week ago. Receipts of cattle and hogs at the principal markets increased a little, but declines were noted in the production of steel ingots, bituminous coal, petroleum and lumber, carloadings and building contracts.

No sign yet of increased business activity!

Down, down, down go the brokers' loans! Last week, for the seventh consecutive week, they made a big drop, the decline for the week being $219,000,000, dropping to $2,235,000,000, lower by $174,000,000 than the previous low record of May 19, 1926.

What's back of the declining brokers' loans? During the past two months, a constant and continuous liquidation of speculative accounts has been going on. The weekly statements of the twelve banks in the Federal Reserve System last week showed a decline in rediscounts of about $21,000,000. But an increase in acceptance holdings of about the same amount squared that.

Until the distressed marginal accounts are cleaned out, the stock market will continue to drag. But, remember stock buying today is largely on a cash basis. The market technically is getting stronger and more healthy every day.

FINE GRADE WOOLS KEEP MART LEAD

Demand, However, Rules Light and Price Level About Unchanged

BOSTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

Demand for wool still is slow. The finer wools continue in chief request. Prices are hardly changed here for the week.

Manufacturers report little change in the price goods market and for the moment continue rather indifferent to the offerings made but possibly there is more sampling being done. The market, in all its phases, seems to be healthy, though inactive.

In the foreign markets, Merinos are in good demand and prices are further against the buyer. Crossbreds, on the other hand, have declined a bit further in South America.

Mohair is slow of sale and prices nominally unchanged.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1930, to November 13, 1930, inclusive, were 117,223,500 pounds against 157,129,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1930 to November 13, 1930, inclusive, were 305,506,412 pounds against 282,428,500 pounds for the same period last year.

The Bulletin will publish the following quotations:

Diamond Match Extends Time

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Diamond Match Company today announced the extension of time for deposit of stock under the plan of reincorporation and recapitalization to the 24th inst.

W. A. Fairbur, president, in a letter to stockholders stated that in regard to the proposed sale of 350,000 shares of common stock of the new company at not less than $30 a share in cash an agreement conditioned on the consummation of the plan was made by the company for the sale of such stock to bankers for the sum of $13,000,000 in cash, or over $37 a share. This agreement, he said, was made before the shares of stock of the new company were traded in on a "when-issued" basis on the New York Curb Exchange.

Business Review Notes Cheering Tone in News

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—Dun's Review tomorrow will say:

Half of November has passed without really significant change from the business trends of earlier months, but some of the news of the present week had a more cheering tone. The facts of a major commercial recession remain prominent and the probability of only a slow recovery is now more generally recognized, yet even scattered indications of betterment strike an encouraging note. In moderate degree, certain very recent movements, although not in themselves representative of any broad improvement, have had a stimulating effect.

The rise in the price of copper, following a drastic downward readjustment, has been the outstanding feature, and its influence has spread to other channels. The immediate and favorable reaction to this development, with a sudden halting of the protracted stock market weakness, had demonstrated the prevailing sensitiveness of sentiment, which is not unnatural phenomenon of economic transition. During periods when adverse phases are predominant, any upturn, especially in a great basic industry, is helpful.

It is made clear by Dun's comprehensive list that stability in wholesale quotations is yet to be attained, while advices from the principal centers of manufacture and distribution supplement the other evidences that buyers continue to hold a distinct advantage in most instances.

Weekly bank clearings, $8,544,562,000, a decrease of 41.4 per cent from a year ago.

EARNINGS OF NICKEL COMPANY DECLINE

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—A strong demand for railroad obligations whose yields were enhanced by recent declines featured trading today as the bond market advanced for the second successive day. Activity on the buying side was the best in several weeks, and swelled the turnover to the largest figure in more than a month.

Reflecting the better tone in the stock market, a long list of carrier obligations and a smaller number of utility and industrial issues registered gains of a point or more.

Strong rails included Chicago and Northwestern general 3½s, Southern Pacific refunding 4s, Southern Pacific of California 5s, and Texas Pacific 5s.

The stronger tone of shares was directly reflected in the closing prices of bonds with stock privilege features. American International 5½s, American Telephone 4½s and Rock Island 4½s rallied sharply.

A feature of the improvement in industrials was the gain made by Chile Copper 5s, up 1½ points in response to the better outlook in the industry. California Petroleum 5s forged ahead.

Treasury issues again made new 1930 highs. Prices unprecedented in more than two years were reached by Liberty 3½s and Liberty First 4¼s. On one sale Liberty First 4s made a large gain of 12-32nds.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14. (Exclusive)—Daily Steel Trade today says: Rail steel-bar mills have been able to maintain fairly steady operations despite the lack of orders backlogs. The steel fence post business is below normal and farm equipment, steel bed and furniture demand is light. Rail steel-bar shipments for bridge and paving work are slowing down, but work is being closed for next year.

METAL PRICES

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—Copper strong; electrolytic, spot and future, 12.

Corn Follows Wheat Price in Sharp Decline

CHICAGO, Nov. 14. (AP)—Despite surprising relative strength shown by prices for December delivery of wheat here, the wheat market as a whole averaged much lower today. General belief was expressed Farm Board allies were purchasing December wheat on a large scale. Canada's 1930 wheat yield was officially estimated as 11,000,000 bushels larger than forecast in September, and Canadian country marketings for twenty-four hours totaled 2,143,000 bushels against 788,000 bushels a year ago.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous at ⅜@2c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1⅝@2⅛c down, oats 1⅝c off, and provisions showing 12@42c drop.

Corn and oats values suffered in sympathy with wheat weakness. A break of 3-5c in premiums for white corn was witnessed, and there was a further decline in prices for mill feeds.

Provisions went lower with grain, despite steadiness of hog values.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (Exclusive)—Prices in the outside crude rubber market were higher today, gains averaging about ⅛c. Upriver fine for which the quotation is only nominal, was a shade weaker. The South American rubbers, of course, have not played an important role in the market for some time past. London closed quiet with prices unchanged to 1-16d advance, while at Singapore the market ended the day steady, with prices unchanged to 1-16d advance.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—The recovery in curb market shares broadened out in its fourth day to include all important groups.

The advance was accelerated at the expense of bears, who sold in expectation of a secondary decline. The volume of trading was smaller, however, total sales aggregating 628,200 shares.

Copper mostly continued to push higher, as producers were asking 12 cents a pound, an advance this week of 2½ cents. Newmont gained 6 points, Mayflower Associates nearly 4, and Hudson Bay, Consolidated Copper, and Noranda about 1. Roan Antelope, however, slipped off ½, and Consolidated Mining, which had not appeared in the active list in a long time, appeared at 140, off 24 from the preceding sale.

Industrials gave the best account of themselves this week. Aviation Corporation of the Americas gained 2 points in response to the news its subsidiary, Pan-American Airways, was negotiating with Imperial Airways for the organization of a trans-Atlantic air mail route. Aluminum Company and A. O. Smith sold up 10 and 8 points. American Cyanamid A sold up 4½.

Electric Bond and Share and American Light and Traction gained 2. Oils were firm. Cities Service sold up ½, getting above 20 once more.

A feature of the investment trusts was Goldman-Sachs, which rose 1⅛ to 10⅛ in a substantial turnover.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

Funeral Rites Conducted for Levi B. Crouch

Funeral services for Levi Benton Crouch, 96-year-old veteran of the Civil War, who lived at 1125 South Westlake avenue, were conducted at 3 p. m. yesterday at Pierce Brothers chapel, 720 West Washington street. Burial was in Inglewood Park Cemetery.

Mr. Crouch died on Armistice Day in the Veterans' Hospital in Sawtelle.

He was the first volunteer in Washington county, Iowa, at the outbreak of the Civil War, serving throughout in Company H of the Second Iowa Infantry.

He leaves three sons, George W. Crouch of Los Angeles, Charles C. Crouch of San Diego, and Frank C. Crouch of Oklahoma City, a daughter, Mrs. Harry W. Pickering, seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Indian Fighter, Thomas Curnow, Laid to Rest

Funeral rites were conducted yesterday at Pierce Brothers' chapel for Thomas W. Curnow, pioneer of the old West and a veteran of many campaigns against the Indians in Arizona, who died Tuesday night at his home, 703 West Eighteenth street. Interment was in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Mr. Curnow, who was 75 years of age, came to Los Angeles from Arizona in 1918. He was a City Councilman in Miami, Ariz., for many years. When the West was young he was widely known for his work in the campaigns against the Indians, particularly in the conquest of the Indian Chief Geronimo. He leaves his widow, one son, Charles T. Curnow of Miami and two daughters, Mrs. Frances Griffin of Los Angeles and Mrs. Alice Holman of Douglas, Ariz.

RICH MAN'S SUIT HAS NEW TWIST

Book-Altering Charge Enters Merritt Case

Judge Orders Farm Company Records Reaudited

Pasadenan in Alimony Row Up for Court Contempt

Assertions of tampering with the books of the Pacific States Corporation to conceal the assets of Hulett C. Merritt, Jr., were made yesterday in Superior Judge Yankwich's court, where Merritt, the son of a Pasadena millionaire, is answering a contempt-of-court citation. The contempt charge deals with Merritt's failure to pay $1100 a month alimony to his former wife, Mrs. Lou Craig Merritt.

After listening to the accusations Judge Yankwich appointed Anthony F. Palethorpe, certified public accountant, to proceed to Tulare and check on the company's books from 1927 to the present time. Palethorpe was ordered to report his findings when the hearing resumes. Merritt's attorney, Bertin A. Weyl, informed the court that the company will not oppose inspection of the books. Merritt is manager of the company's Tagus ranch.

The wife's attorneys, William W. Bearman and A. Feldman, moved to have the books produced in court, but this procedure was held impractical by Judge Yankwich, because the records are so voluminous.

ALTERATIONS ADMITTED

William N. Winans, book-keeper for the Pacific States Corporation for eighteen years, yesterday declared on the witness stand that he had altered the books. He denied that he did so in order to cover up the younger Merritt's assets. The book-keeper testified that in 1928 he had to make alterations after he had made a mistake in charging some golf club dues and other items against young Merritt instead of against Hulet C. Merritt, Sr.

"I made copies of the pages which I had spoiled by so doing," Winans testified.

"What became of the pages you spoiled?" asked Attorney Feldman.

"I think they were burned in the fire about two years ago," replied Winans.

Edward H. K. Brecht asserted in testimony that he asked Winans what he was doing when he saw him copying from a ledger in 1928, and that Winans answered he was substituting other names for that of young Merritt, so that no assets would show in his name.

WANTS ALIMONY CUT

"Winans said he was doctoring the books for a law suit," testified Brecht.

William Goudie, formerly secretary of the corporation, had made affidavit asserting that the books had been manipulated. He failed to support this accusation in testimony yesterday. He testified that he had seen Winans altering the books, but that he did not know that any attempt was made to conceal the younger Merritt's assets.

Mrs. Lou Craig Merritt testified that she has no income excepting the alimony received from Merritt. She said that their daughter, Adriana, 7 years of age, requires $1000 worth of dentistry. Merritt is $8100 in arrears on alimony payments, the former wife complained. Merritt contends he is only $6600 in arrears and he is asking the court to reduce the alimony from $1100 to $500 monthly.

Suit Against Clyde Plummer Stricken Off

The $100,000 damage suit against Clyde I. Plummer, former candidate for Sheriff, filed the day before election by Attorney S. S. Hahn, was tabled on a demurrer by Superior Judge Edmonds yesterday.

The plaintiff, J. P. Roman, who was arrested for bootlegging on orders of Plummer, formerly a dry agent for Dist.-Atty. Fitts, asserted he was badly beaten and mistreated in the office of the dry squad when he asked to call his wife on the telephone, July 6, 1929.

R. W. Kenney, deputy County Counsel, represented Plummer, who at the time of the arrest of Roman, was in the employ of the county. Kenney contended that the statute of limitations, which prevents filing a civil suit more than a year after the cause of action, prevented Roman's suit from having any standing in court.

Attorney Hahn argued that Roing by the dry agents, and that the statute had not run since Roman had recovered his normal mental man was mentally incompetent for a long time after his asserted beatoutlook. Judge Edmonds held that such mental incompetency was a matter to be established by a court, which had not been done.

The court thereupon gave Attorney Hahn ten days to amend his petition.

Khorassan Host Slates Fete for Visiting Prince

Past Imperial Princes, Royal Princes, charter members and votaries of the Knights of Khorassan, summoned by the Muezzin, will assemble at a Royal Prince's night reception to Imperial Prince Walter W. Austin in Al Borak Temple, 230 South Spring street, 8 p.m. today.

The call was issued yesterday by Herman R. Nies, Royal Vizier.

Judfe Thompson will be master of ceremonies and Col. Kenton A. Miller will deliver the address of welcome. There will be short talks by Harry W. EIGHT REDS IN RIOT CASE SENTENCED

Six Communists Receive Jail Terms as Result of Labor Day Trouble

Eight Communists convicted of various offenses in connection with the Labor Day radical demonstration near the Plaza were sentenced yesterday in Municipal Court.

Patrick Chambers, E. Yamaguchi and Jack Olsen were given seventy-five days in jail each, Thorsten Anderson and Harry Schneidermann sixty days each, and Ann Raynor forty days by Judge Wood. They had been found guilty of assembling to disturb the peace and of refusing to leave the scene of a riot.

Chambers, Emma Cutler and Bartian Gallalian, found guilty of blocking the sidewalk during a street meeting held the night before the demonstration, were fined $25 each or five days in jail by Judge Eagan.

Patient's Tale of Accidental Hurt Doubted

Believed to have been the target of gangland vengeance, despite his protestations to the contrary, James Lonsdale, 55 years of age, of 129 East Fourth street, was taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital under mysterious circumstances early yesterday for treatment of severe knife slashes on the neck, arms and back.

According to Inspector Davidson, investigating the supposed attack, W. E. Murray, a taxicab driver, responded to a call shortly before dawn in front of 1600 North Main street. There two men lifted Lonsdale from their automobile and placed him in the taxicab, instructing Murray to take him to the hospital.

After police surgeons had dressed his wounds, Lonsdale told them he had been injured by falling on broken glass. The surgeons, however, told Inspector Davidson a fall on broken glass could not have caused such severe slashes.

Council Fixes Clean-up Week to Make Jobs

The first week of December was set by the City Council yesterday as the time for a concerted movement on the part of citizens to clean up yards and vacant lots. The movement was originated by Councilman Williams. Yesterday the Public Welfare Committee reported in favor of the project and it was adopted unanimously.

In addition to improving the appearance of the city, Williams contends, the clean-up campaign will reduce unemployment.

Girls Will Get Leadership Tips

A training course in Girl Scout leadership for girls between 10 and 18 years of age was announced yesterday by Mrs. Edith W. Swarts, director of Los Angeles Council of Girl Scouts, and Mrs. Helen M. Laughlin, dean of women at University of California at Los Angeles and local commissioner of the organization. Classes will be held in the auditorium of Virgil Junior High School at 7:30 p.m. on the 17th, 18th, 20th, 21st, 24th and 25th inst.

The course is to be given by Miss Alice Conway, community organizer from national headquarters. She formerly served as regional director-at-large.

OSCAR KARL WEAVER, BASEBALL PLAYER, DIES

Oscar Karl Weaver, professional baseball player and a former All-City catcher at Hollywood High School, died yesterday at his home, 726 North Orange Grove avenue. Weaver had been ill five months with blood poison, which was the aftermath of influenza contracted while playing ball in the Arizona State League last season. He leaves his parents. The funeral services will be conducted tomorrow at Pierce Brothers mortuary and the interment will be at Hollywood Cemetery. Weaver played with the Miami Baseball Club last season.

SUIT PUSHED IN THEATER SAFE THEFT

Publix Corporation Seeks to Recover Plunder and Kavanaughs Will Fight

Seeking to recover $12,790, asserted plunder from the United Artists Theate safe robbery, the Publix Theaters Corporation yesterday prosecuted a civil suit in Superior Judge Scott's court. Edward Kavanaugh, former janitor of the theater, and Mary Kavanaugh, his wife, are serving sentences at San Quentin prison on convictions for the theft. Their attorney, E. C. McDowell, informed the court that the Kavanaughs will fight the case. Nearly all the money is under attachment.

The robbery was discovered August 19, 1929. On the day following the robbery Mrs. Kavanaugh deposited in two banks sums approximately equaling the amount of the theft.

At yesterday's hearing Horton Kahn, house manager, told Judge Scott he had surprised Kavanaugh looking at his notebook, which contained the safe's combination. Clayton J. Long, house treasurer of the United Artists Theater, identified some of the recovered money. The hearing is to continue Monday.

Port Rail Line Car Inspector Loses His Life

Trapped between the last car of a freight train and the caboose as the train started off, John Lange, a car inspector for the Harbor Belt Line Railroad, was thrown under the wheels of the caboose and killed yesterday afternoon at Pier A, Wilmington.

Lange, who was 50 years of age and lived at 532 West Twenty-first street, San Pedro, had inspected the cars and given the train crew their okeh. Apparently he thought he noticed something wrong between the last car and the caboose and jumped between them to investigate, unnoticed by the conductor, who gave the signal for the engineer to start. Lange was alive when pulled from beneath the caboose but died almost immediately upon arrival at the Wilmington Emergency Hospital.

Junk Building Burned With $15,000 Loss

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 14.—The Pacific Junk Company building at 108 West Broadway was totally destroyed by fire here tonight with contents. The loss is estimated at $15,000.

The blaze gained headway in bales of rags and paper and provided a spectacular fire. The building was of corrugated iron, 50 by 80 feet. The origin is supposed to have been spontaneous combustion.

Girl Returns and Explains

The mystery of the disappearance of Pauletta Wright, 14-year-old Beverly Hills High School girl, was solved yesterday when she returned and explained her reason for absenting herself from home was a poor school report card.

She was afraid her mother, Mrs. Cecilia W. Wright of 421 North Canyon Drive, would be angry, and decided to gather courage by staying overnight with a girl friend at the latter's home.

Jury Convicts 'Ray' Dispenser

Conrad J. Anderson was guilty of practicing medicine without a license when he administered "cosmic ray" treatments to Mrs. A. E. Hoover, now dead, a jury in Municipal Judge Galbreth's court decided late yesterday. Anderson, at liberty on $500 bail, was ordered to appear for sentence.

A. E. Hoover of 1122 Wesley avenue, Altadena, the woman's husband, testified that he paid Anderson $1200 for the treatments, most of which were administered last year.

Bandit Trio Robs Theater

While 200 persons in the audience were seeing a motion-picture play at the Marcal Theater, 6025 Hollywood Boulevard, last night, three bandits held-up Miss Clara Beigdy in the theater ticket booth outside.

She was compelled at the point of a revolver to give up $65. The bandits then drove off.

COUNCIL RECONSIDERS VOTE ON ASSESSMENT

Reconsideration of the vote by which the assessment district map for the opening and widening of Beachwood Drive from Franklin avenue to Hollywood Boulevard was approved was made yesterday by the City Council, Councilman Cooke explaining that a group of property owners in the district were under the impression that the Street Opening and Widening Committee was to conduct a hearing next Tuesday.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Bard's, Eighth, between Broadway and Hill—"The Spoilers."

Boulevard, Washington at Vermont—"Her Wedding Night." Two humorous gentlemen help Clara Bow out of an amusing mess.

California, Main and Eighth—"El Presidio." Reviewed in today's Times.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"Just Imagine." A fantasy and simply swell. El Brendel and Maureen O'Sullivan.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood—"The Big Trail." Spectacular in setting and photography, this production demonstrates the power and sweep of Grandeur film.

Criterion, 642 South Grand—"Billy the Kid." An exciting series of escapes intensified by the large film. John Mack Brown.

Figueroa, Figueroa at Santa Barbara—"The Spoilers." The third version and not too remarkable. Gary Cooper.

Filmarte, 1228 North Vine—"The Wild Men of Kalihari." Reviewed in today's Times.

Forum, Pico at Norton—"The Dawn Patrol." Air thrills and a fine story make this an unusual and well worth-seeing production.

Loew's State, Broadway at Seventh—"Renegades." The Foreign Legion seen from an interesting and unique angle. Warner Baxter.

Majestic, Broadway at Ninth—"The Fourth Alarm." Reviewed in today's Times.

Million Dollar, Broadway at Third—"Monte Carlo." Delightful entertainment by Lubitsch. Jack Buchanan and Jeanette MacDonald.

Pantages, Hollywood at Vine—"Playboy of Paris." Disappointing in spite of Maurice Chevalier.

Paramount, Hill at Sixth—"Fast and Loose." With certain reservations this is still a swell show, acted by an eastern cast and Carol Lombard.

Ritz, Wilshire at La Brea—"The Santa Fe Trail." Nothing remarkable, but averagely entertaining. Richard Arlen.

R.K.O., Hill at Eighth—"East is West." A comic twang is heard in this ancient Chinese epic, delivered in Mexican accents by Lupe Velez.

R.K.O., Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth—"Check and Double Check." Amos 'n' Andy bring their droll talk to the screen in an efficient and humorous vehicle.

Tower, Broadway at Eighth—"What a Widow." A silly something not exactly worthy of Gloria Swanson.

Uptown, Western at Tenth—"Those Three French Girls." A rather silly bit of vivacity with Fifi Dorsay.

United Artists, Broadway near Ninth—"Feet First." Laughable and thrilling is this new Harold Lloyd comedy.

Warners' Downtown, Hill at Seventh—"The Gorilla." Reviewed in today's Times.

Warners' Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"The Truth About Youth." Reviewed in today's Times.

Wilshire, 8440 Wilshire Boulevard—"South Seas." A travelogue of real fascination.

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at 11th—"The Bird of Flame." The exotic tropics and that charming vampire, Dorothy Burgess.

El Capitan, Hollyw'd Blvd. nr. Highland—"Parlor, Bedroom and Bath." Charlotte Greenwood strides onto the stage, and the play matters not at all. Destined for a healthy and wealthy run.

Hollywood Playhouse, Vine near Hollywood Blvd.—"Mister Antonio." The favorite Leo Carrillo returns in an ancient vehicle that creaks.

Music Box, Hollywood Blvd., nr. Gower—"The Apple Cart." George Bernard Shaw's prediction of the future is ably portrayed by Alan Mowbray and fellow-actors.

Vine St., Vine near Hollywood Blvd.—"The Green Bottle." Clutching hands and other things that go into a mystery play formula are here in profusion. Oscar Apfel is the featured player.

BURLESQUE

Follies, Main at Fourth—Burlesque.

Divorce Action Cites Drinking in Complaint

DINUBA, Nov. 14.—Charging that her husband became so drunk on the streets of Dinuba, Halloween night, that she was forced to ask for assistance to get him home, Mrs. Matilda Strange has filed suit for divorce against Charles H. Strange.

For several years he has been addicted to excessive use of alcoholic liquor, the wife asserts. They separated on several occasions because of this, but united again when he promised to reform, according to the complaint.

In spite of his repeated promises, he continued to drink, Mrs. Strange declared, and in a final effort to cure his habit of drinking bootleg liquor and patented drinks, she allowed him to make beer at home. This only satisfied him for a short time, she declares, and he then resumed his drinking outside the home.

On one occasion he became angry, seized a shotgun and declared "there ought to be an open season on wives," when she remonstrated with him because of his actions, it is asserted.

They were married in 1918, and have one child, Catherine, 11 years of age, of whom the mother asks custody. The mother also asks $75 a month alimony.

Calm Exists in Troubled Area

LIMA (Peru) Nov. 14. (AP)—A semblance of calm exists tonight in the Cerro de Pasco mining area, where fifteen persons, including two Americans, were killed in labor riots Wednesday, but martial law continues and the mines remain idle. A general strike which tied up Lima's transportation facilities ended this morning and industry returned to normal.

DR. FOX BACK FROM TRIP TO HOLY LAND

PASADENA, Nov. 14.—Dr. Daniel F. Fox, former pastor of the First Congregational Church, returned here today following a fourteen months' tour of Europe and the Holy Land. "We made no attempt to investigate world conditions and contented ourselves with rubbing elbows with the natives of the various countries," he remarked when reporters urged him to express opinions regarding recent events in distant lands. "People are more interesting than any cathedral ever built, but the majority of travelers do not appear to think so," Dr. Fox declared.

Attempt Made to Kidnap Little Girl Frustrated

ALTADENA, Nov. 14.—Attempts to kidnap a 10-year-old Edison school pupil yesterday morning were thwarted through the precaution of the girl's teacher, Miss Helen Burns, it was revealed today by the local Sheriff's office. In certain respects, the kidnaping attempt is reminiscent of the Hickman case.

At 10 a.m. yesterday, Miss Burns was called to the school telephone and a woman's voice requested that the child, whose name is withheld, be sent home immediately. The woman asserted she was the girl's mother.

Recalling the rule that such calls be checked, the teacher discovered that neither the child's mother, nor any other relative, had telephoned the school.

Deputy sheriffs were called and the child was dismissed to walk to her home, followed at a distance by the officers. It is believed that the kidnaper's confederates identified the deputies and warned him to leave the vicinity.

GLENDALE PLANS ITS SECOND EXPOSITION

GLENDALE, Nov. 14.—Plans are well advanced for holding the second annual Municipal Exposition at the City Hall, the dates that have been adopted calling for a three-day exhibit immediately after the first of the year. There is a possibility that the display may be kept open for a week after New Year's Day, J. W. Charleville, City Manager, declared. In the 1930 exhibition the display was housed in the basement of the public service building and departmental offices were kept open for visitors day and night. The purpose of the exposition is to supply the residents of the city with accurate information regarding the operations of the public service department and to assist them to become familiar with the governmental activities of the administration.

VALLEY SCHOOL ANNEX GIVEN DEDICATION

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 14. The new North Hollywood High School annex that cost $90,000, just completed, was dedicated today by Frank C. Bouelle, superintendent of Los Angeles schools, and the building was formally presented by Principal C. W. Sandifur to the school's student body. Claude Hickerson, president for the students, made the acceptance talk. The new structure has eighteen rooms. It will be furnished with the latest of modern school-room equipment.

Prosecution to Face Men Who Shoot Pigeons

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 14.—Vigorous prosecution of Kern hunters shooting carrier pigeons will be carried on by members of the Bakersfield Racing Pigeon Club, John Twadell, secretary of the group, reported today, following arrest of three men near Famosa Sunday for shooting such birds. According to Secretary Twadell, Hoe and Louis Cesmat and Fred Spear have been arrested on such a charge.

According to the club official, one bird was killed and another maimed by shot from guns of the three men. He pointed out that hunters may be fined $10 to $25 for conviction of such an offense.

The Bakersfield Pigeon Club is engaged in breeding fast flyers, and in addition, returns lost or injured pigeons found here that belong to other clubs.

Of late several such pigeons have been found here, and the local organization has more than fifteen that it will return to the Los Angeles club alone.

County Zoning Problems to Be Studied Today

FRESNO, Nov. 14.—County zoning problems will be the subject of a conference here tomorrow between supervisors of the various counties of the San Joaquin Valley, of which more than thirty have accepted invitations of the Fresno county board to attend a luncheon meeting at noon.

The work of county planning commissions will be discussed by Hugh R. Pomeroy, Southern California planning expert, and adviser of the Kern county commission.

W. H. Jahant of Wasco, regional vice-president of the California Association of Planning Commissioners, will preside, and the speakers will include C. H. Segerstrom, W. W. Cox and L. G. Pauly, respectively, chairman of the Tuolumne, Stanislaus and Kern county commissions.

Henning Heads Harbor District Chambers Now

GARDENA, Nov. 14.—A. E. Henning of San Pedro was elected to a second term as president of the Harbor District Chambers of Commerce at the annual meeting at George Washington High School last night. Henning is City Councilman of Los Angeles from this district. Vice-presidents chosen last night are Frank Merriam of Long Beach and Rufus Page of Torrance, Fred Finkle of Los Angeles, Ernest M. Mansur of Inglewood and Loren Howe, Hawthorne. Carl Hyde, secretary of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce, was elected to his sixth term as secretary.

E. Palmer Connor, chief searcher of the Title Insurance and Trust Company of Los Angeles, was the main speaker on the program, arranged by the Woodcrest Improvement Association, as hosts.

PHONE-CONNECTION PETITION ADOPTED

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 14.—Following up the action of the Board of Supervisors Monday to obtain better telephone service for the area lying between Riverside and Perris, the Council has adopted a resolution urging the California Railroad Commission to connect March Field, Moreno, Edgemont, Sunnymead and the surrounding territory to the Riverside exchange. Telephones of the district now are connected with Perris exchange, which closes at night. A hearing is to be conducted by the Railroad Commission shortly and at the time the resolutions of the Council and the Board of Supervisors are expected to influence the commissioners to grant the change. The action of the Council in adopting the resolution favoring the change was taken at the request of A. A. James, secretary of the Moreno Mutual Irrigation Company.

PRINCESS FONTANA GREETS POULTRYMEN

FONTANA, Nov. 14.—Princess Fontana, the white Leghorn hen which established a new high record for Southern California in the Pomona egg-laying contest recently closed, is granting daily audiences to poultrymen from all parts of this district at the large poultry plant of the Fontana Farms Company. Princess Fontana was hatched at the Fontana Farms Company plant on March 2, 1929, and laid her first egg September 22 of that year. From that date to September 21, last, when the contest closed, she laid 217 eggs in 365 days, which indicates that she worked not only every weekday but on four Sundays.

BAY CITY MAN SHOT; DIVORCEE ACCUSED

SANTA ROSA, Nov. 14. (AP)—Richard H. Proctor, San Francisco magazine circulation manager, was shot and seriously wounded early today and Mrs. Charlotte Hindley, Eureka divorcee, is in jail here tonight charged with assault with a deadly weapon. Mrs. Hindley said she shot Proctor when he tried to attack her.

GOV. YOUNG LEASES HOME AT STANFORD

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 14. (AP)—Gov. Young signed a lease for six months today on the home of Prof. Charles V. Taylor on the Stanford compus. The dates are from January 1, to July 1.

The Governor will retire from office the first of the year and is taking the Stanford home largely because his two daughters are attending the university.

STALINGRAD (Russia) Nov. 14. (AP)—Fourteen Americans engaged as foremen in a new tractor plant here have been dismissed by the soviet administration for "systematically violating their agreement with the tractor trust." The Americans were charged with hooliganism, loafing and violating discipline.

NOTICIAS MUNDIALES DE ULTIMA HORA

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Háblase de un Fiero Conflicto Entre Rojos y Campesinos

LONDRES, Noviembre 14.—En despachos de la agencia Reuters llegados hoy de Riga se da cuenta de combates sanguinarios entre campesinos y fuerzas comunistas en las regiones de Ostrov y Optokha, cerca de la frontera leto-rusa.

Dice la prensa de Riga que la población de muchas aldeas se ha rebelado después de las tentativas hechas para llevar a cabo la confiscación del maíz y la colectivización de las granjas.

Dícese que las aldeas de Jelino y Dubki han sido destruídas por los bombardeos de un tren blindado, y otros poblados han quedado parcialmente destruídos. Infórmase de que han sido ejecutados muchos campesinos y numerosas familias encarceladas.

Una Logia Masónica Bombardeada en Rumania

BUKAREST (Rumania), Noviembre 14.—Estalló hoy una bomba en el local de la Gran Logia Masónica Nacional, sito en el centro de la ciudad. Una segunda bomba no estalló. Sospéchase de los políticos de oposición.

Un Acto Bondadoso Sirve de Base a la Redacción de un Testamento

DETROIT, Noviembre 14.—Un testamento que yació olvidado durante cincuenta y três años en una Biblia de familia sirve de fundamento al doctor E. J. Bolio para reclamar los bienes de la señora Ida Marcoux, dueña de casa de viviendas en Chicago, que falleció hace un año. El abogado del doctor se propone ir a Chicago el domingo para presentar el documento en cuestión.

Fue encontrado éste la semana pasada, después de larga busca, y al leerlo rememoró el doctor Bolio las dramáticas circunstancias bajo las que fue hecho. De muchacha, la señora Marcoux era pupila en casa de los padres del médico. Más adelante, fue arrestada y detenido por algún tiempo con motivo del suicidio de un señor casado

Pasados algunos años, al doctor Bolio, que a la sazón era un médico joven, le suplicaron las personas que vivían en la vecindad de una casa de su pertenencia, que lanzara de ella a una inquilina de mala nota, la famosa señora Marcoux. Hizo una averiguación y se convenció de que dicha señora se había regenerado y luchaba por conquistar buena reputación trabajando de costurera. El doctor se rehusó a molestarla, y, agradecida, escribió ella un testamento en el que lega "lo poco que tiene" al doctor Bolio. Testamento e incidente que lo originó se habían perdido en el olvido, hasta que llegó de Chicago la noticia de que la testadora, en su lecho de muerte, había mencionado lo del documento que contenía su última voluntad.

Viuda Muerta de un Tiro, en su Granja

CLARE (Michigan), Noviembre 14. La señora Pauline Gruno, de 65 años de edad, ha sido muerta de un tiro el día o la noche de ayer en la casa de su granja, a trece millas de aquí, donde vivía solitaria. Fue hallado su cadáver por su hijo Alberto, de 21 años, que fue anoche a la granja a visitar a su madre.

NOTAS LOCALES

Ex-Profesor de Colegio que Trabaja Actualmente de Mensajero

Una figura muy conocida de centenares de negociantes del centro, así como de compradores de las tiendas, es la de Charles Sumner Cook, anciano de espíritu vivo, ojo brillante y nevado pelo, que se pasea por la ciudad vestido con el uniforme de mensajero de la Postal Telegraph Company. El público en general no sabe que el señor Cook es físico, naturalista, linguista y exprofesor de colegio, ni que es miembro de la Fi Beta Kapa y también de la Asociación Norteamericana para el Progreso de la Ciencia.

Muy pocos de sus amigos saben que, durante un viaje de un año que hizo a Europa hace poco tiempo, fue recibido Cook por los más grandes físicos de estos tiempos: por von Helmholtz en Berlín, por el profesor Hankel en Leipsic, y por Sir William Thompson, Lord Raleigh y Sir Oliver Lodge, en Inglaterra.

El rostro juvenil del señor Cook, su interés en los asuntos del día, su firme y amable tono de voz, y su sonrisa siempre pronta, dan un mentís a los 72 años que tiene de edad. Ni tiene pretensiones, ni se anda jactando nunca, y sólo unos cuantos de sus íntimos tienen idea de su gran valer como hombre de ciencia y de estudio.

Cirquera que Está Amenazada de Ir a la Penitenciaría

Alice Brahm, veterana caballista en pelo de un circo, que lleva más de un año de estar libre bajo prueba, después de confesarse culpable de un delito de incendiarismo, fue sentenciada a prisión en San Quintín por el juez Wood, por haber violado la citada mujer las condiciones de su libertad bajo prueba.

Hace como dos años se dijo culpable la señora Brahm de haber intentado quemar la casa de un vecino suyo en Culver City. Se le concedió la libertad bajo prueba por haberse probado que el daño del fuego había sido insignificante, y que el cargo había sido formulado y exagerado por sus enemigos.

Pero, hallándose libre bajo condición, la señora Brahm ha sido arrestada por posesión de licor en su casa. Esto, sostiene el tribunal, viola los términos de su libertad condicional, y de allí que la reo haya sido sentenciada ayer a prisión en el penal del Estado.

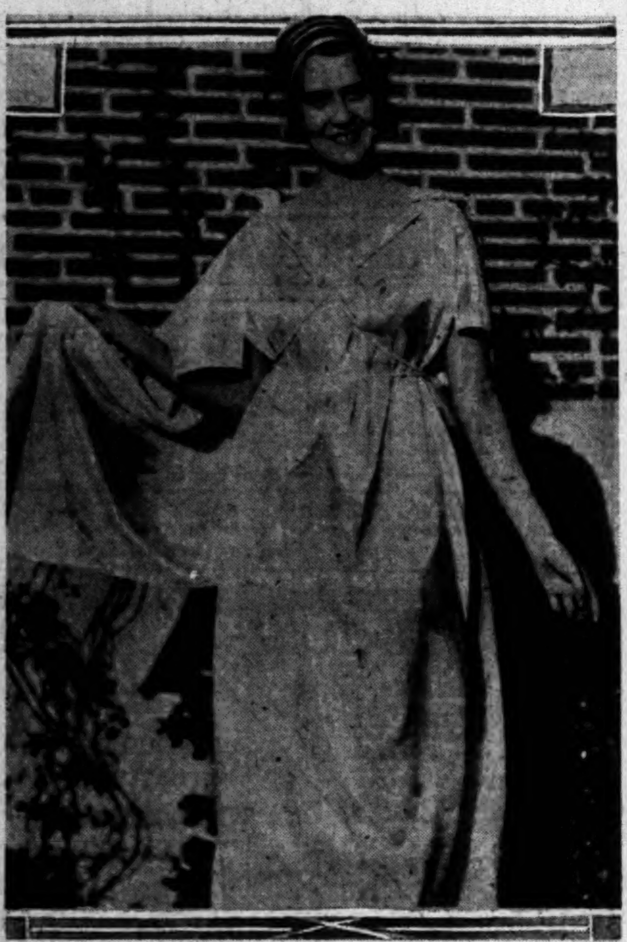
Co-ed Will Preside at Annual Event



Miss Helen Peterson as Helen of Troy

BOARD SETS HEARING ON CAR ROUTES

New Third Street Track May Cause Changes in Present Trolley Runs

A hearing was set for next Friday at 10 a.m. by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation of Los Angeles yesterday on rerouting of Los Angeles Railway cars over new track constructed on Third street between Western avenue and Gramercy Place, which was placed in the hands of the board's engineers to work out with railway officials.

The board decided that before approving the change the people in the district affected should be given a hearing.

The new routing provides that D line cars now terminating at First and Bonnie Brae and turning at Alvarado street should be continued out West Sixth to the company's right of way and on Third street west to La Brea; the present R line to be routed over Seventh as at present, but instead of turning at Alvarado street north to Sixth to be continued out Seventh street to Vermont avenue, then north to Third street and west on Third to Larchmont, over the Larchmont leg to Melrose, as at present; the I line to be routed over Bonnie Brae, Ocean View and Alvarado, turning back at Sixth street, to take the place of the present D line now giving service on Alvarado north of Sixth street.

San Diego Flight Sets New Mark

In vivid contrast to the long days on horseback once necessary for the trip from Los Angeles to San Diego, Lieut.-Col. Roscoe Turner, flying alone in his Hornet-powered Lockheed Gillmore monoplane, took off from United Airport, Burbank, at 3:50 p.m. yesterday and exactly forty-five minutes later landed at Lindbergh Field, San Diego, a distance of 115 miles.

Turner was timed at both airports in establishing a commercial record for air travel between the two cities. The unofficial military record is forty minutes, set and equaled by several United States Army pilots from Rockwell Field, San Diego, flying Boeing pursuit fighters.

AS THE 1930 Helen of Troy, Miss Helen Peterson will preside over the annual co-ed hi-jinks of the University of Southern California with more than 500 feminine students participating in the festival.

This marks the third year that a co-ed has been chosen to conduct the most important women's event on the campus. In addition to being Helen of Troy, Miss Peterson is an Amazon, a member of Alpha Phi Epsilon, Pi Kappa Sigma, president of Mortar Board, honorary senior women's organization, and of the Clionian literary society, and social chairman of the Y.W.C.A.

The hi-jinks will begin with the opening of the gates of Troy by Miss Peterson, followed by her salutation to the co-eds, women of the faculty and their families and friends. President R. B. Von KleinSmid, wearing his scholastic robes, will participate in the program with an address of welcome to the guests. The remainder of the evening will be devoted to skits arranged by twelve sororities and campus organizations using Louisa M. Alcott's "Little Women" as the central motif.

Cecil De Mille Undergoes Knife for Appendicitis

Cecil B. De Mille, motion-picture director, underwent an operation for acute appendicitis yesterday in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital. The operation was performed shortly after noon by Dr. Maurice Kahn and Dr. Albert Frickie, who reported the patient had emerged from the anaesthetic by about 5 p.m., and that his condition was satisfactory.

De Mille was stricken suddenly at his Laughlin Park home. He was working on the screen story of "The Squaw Man," which is to be his next production for M.-G.-M. studios, when pronounced distress warned him to summon physicians. They ordered him removed at once to the hospital for an amergency operation.

Several weeks ago De Mille was a patient in the same hospital, undergoing at that time a minor operation and treatment for a foot ailment.

ASSESSMENTS CONFIRMED

Assessments were confirmed by the City Council yesterday for the improvement of Two Hundred and Fifty-sixth street between Belle Porte avenue and the west city boundary. Confirmation of assessments for the sewering of Motor avenue between Forrester Drive and Manning avenue was continued until next Tuesday.

CHEST ARMY REPORTS GAIN

Campaigners Now Within $939,394 of Their Quota; All Pledge Continued Drive

When J. A. H. Kerr, campaign chairman of the Community Chest, declared that a persistent, determined fight will be waged in all divisions of the organization until the campaign is brought to a successful conclusion, his sentiments were echoed with sincerity and conviction throughout the ranks of campaigners who met yesterday at the Biltmore to hear the latest reports from the battle front. The burden of their campaign cry is that there will be no slackening of effort until the last necessary dollar is in the Chest.

A summary of the campaign totals since the last reports on Wednesday shows that the amount subscribed to date is $2,260,606, or 71 per cent of the total goal. This amount is $939,394 short of the goal of $3,200,000.

After an invocation by Bishop W. B. Stevens, the meeting was given over to reports from the various committee vice-chairmen, and judging from the fact that the great majority of percentages have moved up into the home stretch, Chest workers and officials expressed confidence that the end of their labors is in sight. Work, more work, and still more work, said Campaign Chairman Kerr, is the only answer to this last struggle to get over the top.

In the Million Dollar Committee, the Chandler team leads with 95.05 per cent of its quota, and the Ballard group reports 63 per cent of its goal. The entire central division has reached 80 per cent of its quota of $1,750,000.

Summaries for other geographic divisions are: Residential district, 67 per cent; business district, 61 per cent; public schools, 85.04 per cent;

MISS BOW CASE IN GRAND JURY

Actress-Secretary Row to Be Aired Tuesday

Miss De Voe Will Sue Fitts for Seized Property

Denies Confessing Theft of Employer's Money

Domestic difficulties of Clara Bow, red-headed motion-picture actress, and her former private secretary, Daisy De Voe, will be aired before the Los Angeles county grand jury next Tuesday, according to Dist.-Atty. Fitts.

The District Attorney made this announcement shortly after a conference with Miss De Voe's attorney, Nathan O. Freedman, who has announced that he will file a civil suit for Miss De Voe today against Mr. Fitts and Blayney Matthews, his chief investigator.

Miss De Voe charges that she was taken into custody by Matthews and Marjorie Fairchild, one of his deputies, and held incommunicado for several days at the end of which the officers removed all of her possessions from a safety deposit box. Miss Bow's former secretary asserts that a large portion of the property taken from the safety deposit box belongs to her and demands its return.

COMPLAINT QUASHED

Matthews and Dist.-Atty. Fitts assert that a great portion of the property belonged to Miss Bow.

Immediately after his conference with Attorney Freedman, Dist.-Atty. Fitts issued orders to file a complaint against Miss De Voe. Ten minutes later, however, the District Attorney countermanded the order and announced that the matter will be brought before the grand jury at its next meeting.

The entire controversy arose over the charge of Miss Bow that Miss De Voe had left her employ with certain letters and other valuable articles and refused to return them. The matter then was brought before the District Attorney, resulting in the technical arrest of Miss De Voe and the return of the articles.

In discussing the case Dist.-Atty. Fitts issued the following statement:

FITTS'S STATEMENT

"This matter came into this office in the nature of a formal request for a criminal complaint against Miss Daisy De Voe for the embezzlement of money and property belonging to Miss Clara Bow. The matter was regularly referred to Mr. Blayney Matthews, chief of the bureau of investigation. After several days of investigation, Mr. Matthews reported back that Miss De Voe had made a thirty-page confession of the theft of some $35,000 of Miss Bow's money, a great deal of which was found in her possession.

"It is the policy of this office that before issuing a complaint against a private citizen to first thoroughly investigate the case in order to prevent a mistake or miscarriage of justice. This investigation was completed today, and this office has no other alternative under the law but to place the matter before the county grand jury."

CONFESSION DENIED

Miss De Voe, in conference with her attorney, said she will welcome a grand jury investigation, and what's more, will insist that she be heard. She emphatically denied she had made any confession at the District Attorney's office.

"There was a stenographer present but I made no confession," Miss De Voe asserted. "Matthews asked me a lot of questions and the questions I didn't answer he answered himself. That is the reason I want to be heard before the grand jury.

"I certainly have nothing to fear in this entire matter and I want my side of the story heard as well as the other side. When it's all over I think I will come out all right."

Freedman had nothing to say, other than that he will protect the interests of his client when the investigation is called next week. In

CHAMBER FILLS POST IN HAWAII

Larson to Succeed Linder in Honolulu Office, but Will Delay Departure

J. DAVID LARSON

Appointment of J. David Larson to represent the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce in the Hawaiian Islands as manager of the office located in Honolulu was announced yesterday by A. G. Arnoll, secretary-manager of the chamber. Larson succeeds Max G. Linder, who recently resigned after four years' service in Hawaii to accept an executive position with the Cal-Asia Corporation.

The new manager of the island office was formerly executive vice-president of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, and some years ago was identified with the Omaha Chamber of Commerce as commissioner. He was at one time also president of the National Association of Commercial Organization Executives in Washington.

In preparation for his work, Mr. Larson will remain in Los Angeles for a few weeks for the purpose of contacting concerns engaged in trade in the Hawaiian Islands and to discuss the possibilities for new trade development, Arnoll said yesterday.

"Our surveys show that there is much business in the Hawaiian Islands which could be obtained by manufacturers and producers located in Southern California," said Arnoll yesterday, "and we hope that concerns interested in this trade will contact Mr. Larson."

PENNSYLVANIANS TO MEET

The forty-eighth anniversary of the California Society of Pennsylvanians will be celebrated next Tuesday evening in Fraternal Brotherhood Hall, 845 South Figueroa street.

EX-COLLEGE PROFESSOR NOW "MESSENGER BOY"

A figure familiar to hundreds of downtown business people and shoppers is Charles Sumner Cook, a white-haired, twinkling-eyed, spirited old gentleman who walks about the city attired in the uniform of the Postal Telegraph Company. It is not generally known that Mr. Cook is a physicist, naturalist, linguist and former college professor, or that he is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa and a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Very few of his friends know that during a year's tour of Europe a short time ago Cook was received by the greatest physicists of the age; by Von Helmholtz in Berlin, Prof. Hankel in Leipsic, and Sir William Thompson, Lord Rayleigh and Sir Oliver Lodge, in England.

Mr. Cook's youthful countenance, his interest in current affairs, his firm and congenial tone of voice and his ready smile serve to belie his 72 years of age. He is unassuming and unobtrusive and only a choice few of his closest associates have an inkling of his many scholastic and scientific accomplishments.

In 1879 Cook was graduated from Dartmouth College with a B.S. degree. He then taught there for seven years. He later was transferred to Northwestern University as an instructor of physics, astronomy and French. When necessary he also conducted chapel exercises.

Working incessantly at this position Cook's health failed. Doctors told him he was suffering a nervous and physical breakdown. It seemed that Cook, aside from his many regular duties at the university, had found time to make spec-

SCOPE OF PORTER INQUIRY WIDENED BY GRAND JURY

Fitts Assigns More Men to Case; Pepperdine Called to Testify; Campaign Cost First Topic

The scope of the grand jury's inquiry into various phases of the Porter administration and of his campaign expenditures widened considerably yesterday. following a day of conferences between members of the grand jury and the District Attorney's office.

While no member of the grand jury would discuss the matter, it was learned from authoritative sources that the grand jury inquiry will include, among other things:

(1.) An investigation to determine if Mayor Porter's campaign expenses exceeded the amount named in his affidavits, filed according to law after the last mayoralty election.

(2.) Inquiry into widely circulated assertions that municipal employees and equipment were used to procure evidence by which a local business man obtained a divorce.

(3.) Inquiry into the sale of a large amount of Los Angeles Harbor equipment at a price reported to have been too low.

(4.) Inquiry into the facts surrounding the recent asserted attempt to "frame" Police Commissioner Walkup.

(5.) Investigation into the activities of a large number of so-called undercover men reputedly in the service of Mayor Porter.

PEPPERDINE CALLED

Apparently the matter of campaign expenditures by and on behalf of Mr. Porter prior to his election will be the first matter to be considered. A subpoena was issued calling for the appearance before the grand jury Tuesday of George Pepperdine, head of a motor accessory house and former treasurer of the Porter campaign committee. No secret was made of the fact that he will be questioned as to the cash outlays made in the campaign which elected Porter Mayor of Los Angeles.

Dist.-Atty. Fitts and Chief Deputy District Attorney Stewart yesterday joined Dep. Dist.-Atty. O'Brien, originally assigned to the case, in the preparations for the inquiry. Fitts, Stewart and O'Brien were closeted with a group of grand jurors, including Foreman Morris, for more than an hour yesterday in the grand jury rooms, while the municipal investigation was under discussion.

FITTS'S STATEMENT

Later Fitts said:

"This investigation was begun several weeks ago by certain members of the grand jury and they have now appealed to my office to aid them. Everything that transpired will be presented to the grand jury as a whole in the grand jury rooms, commencing next Tuesday."

With the scope of the proposed grand jury investigation outlined, the possibility of indictments or other action within the jurisdiction of the grand jury became a general topic of conversation in the Hall of Justice and the City Hall.

If the election laws were violated and such a violation proven, it is declared, indictments can be returned on that issue. If such evidence is not forthcoming but other irregularities should be charged in a public report by the grand jury, such a report could be used as the basis of quo warranto proceedings by the Attorney-General, if that official considered the charges of sufficient gravity, to oust Mayor Porter from his position as chief executive of the city.

Mr. Pepperdine, it was ascertained last evening, will not be the only witness questioned regarding the campaign expense fund. Dep. Dist.-Atty. O'Brien announced that he intends to call in W. J. Mosher, chief investigator for the Mayor's office; Charles W. Burke, once Porter's candidate for police superintendent; Charles Burke, Jr., and any others reputed to have had an executive hand in the Porter campaign and subsequent city activities.

WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT

The situation on the campaign-expense investigation as outlined yesterday was this, in brief: After the primary election Porter filed an affidavit saying that his expenses amounted to $23,828.85. The law does not limit the amount that can be spent on a primary campaign, but does require that the candidate list all of his contributions and disbursals.

After the final mayoralty election, Porter filed an affidavit, as required by law, stating that his campaign expenses between the time of the primary and the final election were $1579. On the final election candidates are limited by law to an expenditure not to exceed 20 per cent of the first year's salary of the office to which they aspire. Willful misstatement of expenses on the final election affidavit would be suf-

M. A. NEWMARK, MERCHANT, DIES

Had Resided Sixty-five Years in Los Angeles

Headed One of City's Three Oldest Concerns

Pneumonia Causes Death at Age of 80 Years

Maurice A. Newmark, 80 years of age, one of the outstanding pioneers in development of California's industry, and president of M. A. Newmark & Co., wholesale grocers, died last night in Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, Glendale.

The veteran commercial leader had been in ill health for a little more than a month. He was stricken with lobar pneumonia and removed to the hospital with Dr. John Hopkins acting as his attending physician.

The first attack weakened Mr. Newmark, but he was on his way to recovery when he was stricken with the same malady for a second time. Since the last attack Mr. Newmark rallied and hopes were held for his recovery, but he lapsed into unconsciousness last evening and died at 8:15 p.m.

His body was removed to Bresee Brothers Company, 855 South Figueroa street. No funeral arrangements had been made last night.

Up until the time he became ill Mr. Newmark continued to work in his capacity as president of the large concern he had builded here, with headquarters at 1248 Wholesale street.

During the days he was in the hospital either one of his three sons or his daughter was at his bedside.

His strong constitution helped him make a valiant fight against the disease that proved fatal, but because of his age the double attack deprived him of the strength needed to survive.

Mr. Newmark came to Los Angeles from his birthplace in Germany in 1865 when he was 15 years of age. His uncle, the late Harris Newmark, first of the Los Angeles pioneer family to settle here, brought the lad here and employed him at the time of his arrival in the uncle's general merchandise store, then located on Los Angeles street.

PROBABLE RECORD

For sixty-five years Maurice A. Newmark remained with the same business which he entered as a youth to set what is believed to be a record in Los Angeles of a man being identified with one firm.

From the time he entered his uncle's employ Mr. Newmark steadily advanced and lived to see the development of one of three of the city's oldest commercial establishments—M. A. Newmark & Co.

Under his guidance as president since the firm incorporated in 1904, it has grown to be one of the Southland's largest among similar enterprises and is older by fifteen years than any other here.

Harris Newmark turned the reins of the business over to the nephew in 1885. From his beginning as a clerk in the uncle's small store—one that was able to furnish early Angelenos with practically all their needs—Mr. Newmark rose to be one of the city's leading merchants.

ORGANIZES CANNERY

He organized and built up a canning industry that is able today to place on grocers' shelves throughout the world practically all California's food products.

His industry in pioneering this field marked him as one of the State's most able business men and his early foresight bore returns that justified his confidence in Southern

MAYOR GOES TO MOUNTAINS

City Executive Leaves for Mono Lake Country, Uncommunicative to All Inquiries

Mayor Porter left yesterday afternoon for the Mono Lake country with H. A. Van Norman, chief engineer of the Bureau of Water Works and Supply. He said he will return by Sunday night, but did not divulge his itinerary.

Just before he left he read published accounts of an interview yesterday morning in which a number of questions were asked concerning the grand jury investigation of his administration. He denied the interview substantially, except that he had said, "I have nothing to say."

The published account set forth that he was asked if he took part in any property settlement between George Pepperdine and Mrs. Pepperdine, who died last January, a short time before the divorce obtained by Pepperdine became final.

"I have nothing to say," the Mayor is quoted as saying, and he read it yesterday afternoon and made no comment.

He admitted saying he did not care how much the grand jury investigates, but denied declaring that published accounts had grossly misrepresented the case. He also denied abruptly terminating a previous interview by declining to answer any more questions.

"You can ask me all the questions you want to, you know that," said the Mayor.

"And you'll keep on saying you have nothing to say?" asked the interviewer.

"Yes," said the Mayor.

In connection with the Mayor's troubles with the grand jury it is recalled that about two weeks ago

THE announcement by General Motors that this corporation will not reduce salaries is encouraging as showing that the captains of industry have not completely lost their brains.

To meet an industrial crisis induced by lack of purchasing power by the device of still further reducing purchasing power is financial insanity.

FIZZ The discovery of soda fizz as a cure for pneumonia by chemists of the Edison company points a curious fact. Nearly every important departure in medicine within the last generation has been made either by chemists or engineers. Soda and water is now the accepted sure cure for what we call "colds."

A GREAT SIGHT There is something pathetic in the fact that a White House conference has been called to meet the problem of finding a way for city children of the industrial age to play.

During the recent Pomona fair I met a man who was out there with his little boy. He explained that the child had read about pigs and wanted to see one.

BACK TO THE HACIENDAS In California I look to see a great movement back to the land—much in the manner of England. It is well on in progress right now.

In England only the very rich can have a country home and a city home. In California it is possible for those of moderate incomes.

People of the financial status of Douglas Fairbanks have their ranches and raise things; but people of less financial stature can have their patches of land outside. Mountain and desert lands are dirt cheap in California; and the wise ones do not attempt to raise anything thereon. They keep it as nature made it.

LIBEL The Veterans of Foreign Wars are perfectly right in their protests about the way soldiers and sailors are depicted in current fiction stories, stage plays and movies.

To judge from war stories, our soldiers divided their time between bellyaching about their sufferings and chasing French girls. The one book I know that viewed the war as a tough job to be met with philosophy is "Forward March."

LEATHERNECKS I have spent a good part of my life with soldiers and sailors and I am prepared to stagger the nation with surprise by announcing that service men at leisure are not solely occupied with loose ladies. This in contradiction of the idea broadcast to the world by the movies.

ANNA MAY WONG The death of the mother of Anna May Wong ends a life that I think was filled with bewilderment.

Mrs. Wong remained to the last a simple little Chinese peasant woman. Her daughter came home at night to the abode of a Chinese laundryman surrounded with all the traditions of an age-old Orient. She went out every morning to glow and dazzle in a world that was, to her family, a sort of unreal fairy tale.

Now that she has become world famous, Hollywood tries to assure us that they knew her all the time. But this is not true. Anna May Wong had to go to England to find appreciation for her subtle, alluring orientalism.

AQUEDUCT LINE REPORT FILED

Parker Route Recommended by Engineer Board

Total Cost of Construction to Be $206,279,000

Explanation of All Surveys Made in Detail

a diversion of 719 second feet during the first year and reaching a capacity of 1500 second feet at the end of fourteen years, varies from $2,460,000 for the first year to $3,232,000 in the fiftieth year. This makes an average annual pumping cost of $3,217,000 for the fifty years.

While it was recommended that a diversion dam be constructed at the Parker intake, it was stated that the water could be pumped out at this point directly from the river without a dam. Arizona's permission would have to be procured to construct such dam. Without a dam an expensive settling or clarification works would have to be constructed.

On the Parker route the water would be delivered to the coastal plane through San Gorgonia Pass below Banning, after crossing the San Andreas fault to the east on the surface, passing under the San Jacinto Mountains in a tunnel and emerging near the mouth of Potrero Canyon in the San Jacinto Valley, where the San Jacinto fault is crossed on the surface. From that point the water is delivered to the terminal reservoir at Puddingstone or Brea reservoirs by one of several projected routes. A power drop of 406 feet is available at Colton, if the line is routed that way, which leaves a net pump lift for the route of 1117 feet.

Dr. F. L. Ransome, geologist, reported that a route through San Gorgonio Pass is preferable to one through Cajon Pass.

REPORT LENGTHY

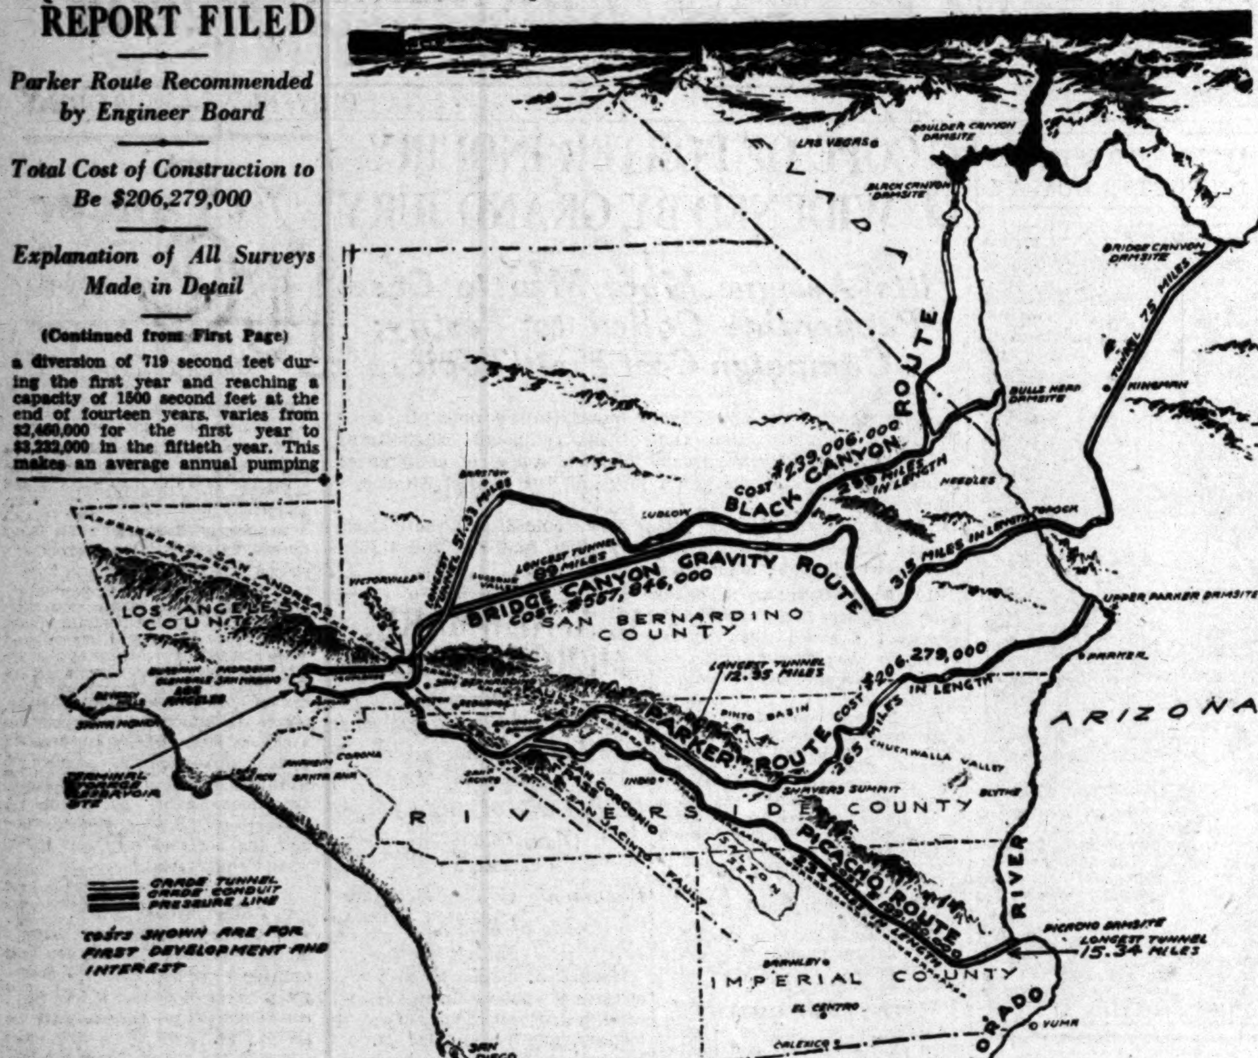
The complete report covers four large volumes of typewritten matter, charts and maps. In addition to Weymouth's summary analysis and recommendations, there is one volume devoted to general surveys and estimates by J. B. Bond, chief field engineer of the district; a third volume on power and pumping systems for the various routes by J. M. Gaylord, chief electrical engineer, who was loaned to the district by the Edison company; and a fourth volume on terminal storage requirements by Julian Hinds, chief designing engineer.

The consulting board is comprised of Thaddeus Merriman of New York; A. J. Wiley of Boise, and Richard R. Lyman of Salt Lake City. The latter two are in Los Angeles now.

Appreciation for the thoroughness of the report was expressed to Weymouth and his staff by Director Bullock. It was announced that the report will be given the fullest circulation and that in the near future a general meeting of officials and other interested persons of member cities of the district will be held at Pasadena to consider the report in the near future.

The application of Long Beach for membership in the district was received yesterday and will be acted on later.

River Aqueduct Line Recommended for Southland



Route 265.5 Miles Long Would Cost $206,279,000 to Build

How Colorado River water may be brought to Southern California is graphically portrayed in the accompanying map drawing by Times Staff Artist Charles H. Owens, done from a report submitted to the directors of the Metropolitan Water District yesterday. The recommended Parker Route is shown along with the Black Canyon, Bulls Head, Bridge Canyon and Picacho routes. The map shows at a glance comparative amounts of tunneling, conduit and pressure lines. The pressure lines include pressure tunnels and syphons. The water is forced through a pressure tunnel but flows through a grade tunnel. The terminal reservoir shown may be one of several sites under consideration. An interesting feature of the map is the showing of some of the fault lines, but not all of their branches are indicated. Cost and length of each route is indicated, the cost being for first development only and including interest during construction.

MAYOR PORTER INQUIRY WIDENS

ficient basis for a perjury indictment, the prosecutors say, though not implying that such a condition necessarily exists in this case.

BACKER APPEARS

Mr. Pepperdine appeared at Dist.-Atty. Fitts's office yesterday in company with Attorney W. J. Clark, who recently defended Mayor Porter in a civil action over the campaign expense matter, and the lawyer had this to say about the situation:

"I have been informed by Dep. Dist.-Atty. O'Brien that the grand jury seeks to determine whether Mayor Porter committed perjury in his election funds report and I have advised Mr. Pepperdine that if he has any information that such a crime has been committed, he should tell the grand jury all that he knows about any such occurrence."

Attorney Clark intimated that while he will advise his client to tell of any election irregularity within his knowledge, that he will also counsel Pepperdine not to discuss things immaterial to the issue that may be used as political ammunition for enemies of the Mayor.

ADVICE REVEALED

"I intend to advise my client," Clark told Fitts, "to make a written statement of any and all things pertinent to this issue that he may know and have it ready to present to the grand jury 'next Tuesday."

Mr. Pepperdine, originally slated to have been questioned by the Criminal Complaints Committee of the grand jury yesterday, was not taken before that body when Fitts explained to the jurymen that any evidence taken outside of the grand jury room, or when less than a quorum of that body was present, would destroy the force of any subsequent indictment that might be returned upon the same testimony.

Mr. Pepperdine cannot refuse to testify when he comes before the jury Tuesday, O'Brien declared yesterday, citing a section of the California Statutes of 1907, which specifies that a witness testifying about election expenses may not refuse to give evidence on the ground that such testimony might incriminate him, but that when he gives such testimony he cannot be prosecuted, except for perjury if he gives false testimony.

OTHERS LISTED

Mr. Pepperdine had no statement to make, other than that issued by his attorney. He waited in Fitt's private office for nearly two hours, while Fitts and his staff conferred with the grand jurymen on the floor below.

After the session was over, it was announced that in addition to the others already named, Charles R. Rowett of Long Beach, secretary of the 1928 grand jury of which Porter was a member and who later was identified with Porter's Mayoralty campaign, will be called before the jury. Merle Allen and A. E. Sherman also were named as prospective witnesses.

The activity of the grand jury and Pepperdine's presence in Fitts's office were the signal for considerable activity among local politicians, some of whom braved the corridors of the Hall of Justice for first-hand information.

Among these was Hugh Macbeth, Negro, who described himself to newspaper men as a "missionary" to the Central-avenue district in the interest of the political uplift of the Negroes. Macbeth, recently reported to have had a row with the city administration, asserted that now he is on the most friendly terms with the Mayor; so much so, in fact, he asserted, that when he saw Porter Thursday the Mayor extended him the warmest greetings.

Grand Jury Foreman Morris declined the Mayor's request that the grand jury take part in the Mayor's "Crime Commission," which since has stirred certain of the Municipal Court judges to wrath as an invasion of their province.

A rally of folk from Wyoming will be held next Wednesday evening in Veterans' Hall, 246 South Hill street.

CRIME WAR TACTICS HIT

Restraint on Police Means of Getting Evidence Denounced by Experienced Officials

Indications that the war against gangsters in Los Angeles also includes a war against the policies of certain public officials who disapprove of police officers entering known habitats of criminals to obtain information against felons were seen at the Hall of Justice yesterday. Several prominent officials openly declared they are opposed to the present method of the Los Angeles Police Commission which frowns upon investigators mingling with minor criminals in an effort to catch those guilty of major crimes.

At the same time it was disclosed that a dispute has arisen concerning the prospective chief of the special antigangster detail which has been proposed by Dist.-Atty. Fitts to combat gangster activities in Los Angeles.

It is understood that Dist.-Atty. Fitts already has asked Sheriff Traeger whether or not he would approve the appointment of Capt. Clyde Plummer, unsuccessful candidate for Sheriff at the recent election, as chief of the proposed organization. Although Sheriff Traeger declined to discuss the matter in any manner whatsoever those in close touch with the situation state that he is opposed to the appointment.

Further consideration of the proposition is scheduled to take place in the District Attorney's office next Tuesday.

TRIO KILLED IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Two Men Pedestrians and Woman Auto Passenger Victims of Fatalities

Two men and a woman were killed in traffic last night, two at Long Beach and one at Huntington Park. Two were pedestrians and the third was riding in a car which was struck by a Pacific Electric train.

Michael Roarty, 64 years of age, 1984 Myrtle avenue, Long Beach, died in St. Mary's Hospital in that city last night, as the result of an accident on Artesia Boulevard between Cherry and Ritchfield boulevards. He was walking with his daughter when he became confused and ran in front of a car driven by F. A. Burnett, superintendent of the Sully-Miller Paving Company of Hynes. Burnett was not held. Roarty suffered internal injuries and broken legs.

James Devine, 60, of 5951 Malabar street, Huntington Park, went against the traffic signal at Santa Fe and Slauson boulevards, Huntington Park police reported, and was struck by a car driven by John Wilson, 134 West One Hundred and Seventh street, and knocked under another car driven by Mrs. James Wray, 1165 East Seventieth street. He was killed instantly.

Mrs. Carrie Hulse, 57, of 5631 Olive avenue, Long Beach, was killed instantly when a car driven by her husband, Fred Hulse, collided with a Pacific Electric car on the San Pedro-Long Beach line on the West Anaheim Boulevard crossing. The body was taken to the Clinkenbeard mortuary.

Franklin W. Peck, 38-year-old attorney, 434 South Roxbury Drive, Beverly Hills, was in the Hollywood Receiving Hospital last night with a possible skull fracture and contusion of the brain, following a collision with a car driven by A. W. Ingoldsby, 831 Milan avenue, South Pasadena. Investigating detectives said the collision came when Peck was attempting to escape from a previous minor accident.

The police report of the accident said that Peck first drove his automobile into the rear of another machine driven by Leonard W. Hotz, 1314 North Genesee street, at the corner of Western avenue and Beverly Boulevard. Although the damage was slight, Peck attempted to escape and when Hotz jumped to the running board of his car to stop him he was pushed away by the driver.

Peck then continued on Beverly Boulevard, the report said, until his automobile reached Van Ness avenue, where it collided head-on with the car driven by Ingoldsby. Both cars were demolished and Peck was thrown to the pavement.

Two detectives of the Central Police Station who reached the scene of the second accident almost at the time of the collision aided in extricating the injured man from the wreckage. They said a search of his car revealed a bottle of whisky.

Police surgeons at the Hollywood Receiving Hospital declared Peck's injuries made a sobriety test useless and he was held in the hospital pending further investigation today.

M. A. NEWMARK, MERCHANT, DIES

California as a food producing and distributing center.

From the moment he arrived here, when the Plaza was "downtown," Mr. Newmark adopted Los Angeles as his city and a few years after his arrival established one of the pioneer homes on Spring street, between Sixth and Seventh streets.

When, in 1904, the march of business and industry made this site too valuable as a residential location, Mr. Newmark had his old home moved to a lot on South Vermont avenue, near Exposition Park. It was moved as a matter of sentiment with Mr. Newmark and still remains intact.

For nearly thirty years Mr. Newmark had resided at 880 West Adams.

MARRIES COUSIN

He married his cousin, Mrs. Edna Newmark, whose maiden name also was Newmark. She passed away here in 1918.

By nature Mr. Newmark was averse to any type of display and very seldom attracted public attention, excepting through his grocery products. He was an early member of the California Club and his home was a mecca in pioneer society circles.

In his long career as a commercial leader he was said by members of his family not to have posed for a photograph.

He leaves one daughter and three sons, Miss Edna Newmark, who resides at the family home, and Robert Newmark, vice-president of M. A. Newmark & Co.; William Newmark, also connected with his father's business, and Alfred Newmark, insurance broker, all residing in Los Angeles.

spite of the coming grand jury quiz, Freedman said, Miss De Voe will file her civil action to recover valuables and money held by Mathews.

Neither did Miss Bow have any comment to make yesterday at the Paramount Studio. She said she had been requested by the prosecutor's office not to make any statements whatever. In all probability Miss Bow will be called as a witness. Her attorney is W. I. Gilbert, who yesterday issued a statement in behalf of Miss Bow in which was outlined the hiring of Miss De Voe two years ago and asserted acts subsequently which brought the investigation by Dist.-Atty. Fitts.

Driver Ends Life on Truck

George W. Heeg, 44 years of age, a laundry truck driver, living at 5706 Lexington avenue, ended his life yesterday, according to Hollywood police, by blowing out his brains with a shotgun as he sat at the wheel of his truck in a garage at 5506 Sierra Vista avenue. The body was discovered by his wife, Mrs. Zoa Heeg, and a friend, Floyd Fox. Heeg left two notes, both addressed to insurance companies.

Police records show he attempted suicide by gas last August.

JEWEL ROBBER GETS $300,000

Diamond Merchant Bound in Private Office

Bandit Posed as Buyer of Ring for Wife

Reingold Taped and Beaten by Suave Gunman

By posing as a prospective customer bent on buying a valuable ring for his wife a suave, but desperate jewel bandit yesterday gained admission to the private office of Moe Reingold, diamond merchant, in the Title Guarantee and Trust Company Building at 220 West Fifth street, and after binding and assaulting his victim, helped himself to more than $300,000 worth of rings and unset gems and walked to freedom with daring unconcern.

A moment later two other bandits held up a Pico-street jewelry shop and robbed the proprietor and his wife of $1000 in miscellaneous merchandise, thus increasing to 112 the number of robberies reported to date this month, as compared with only forty-six perpetrated during October.

SCORES PASS DOOR

The Reingold robbery took place about 2:30 p.m., while scores of persons on business in the building passed the sixth-floor suite occupied by the merchant. Reingold at the time, was in his private office, which faces the street and which a partition separates from the reception room. At her desk in the reception room sat Miss Dorothea Krick, secretary to the merchant, while David Dautloff, another member of the firm, busied himself in the adjoining showroom.

Entering the outer office with the disarming air of a well-to-do buyer, the desperado announced himself as "Mr. Harris," and stated he wished to see the merchant about a purchase. Miss Krick announced the man to her employer and the latter instructed her to admit him. Reingold was at his desk, his back to the Fifth-street window. He invited the well-dressed stranger to occupy a chair on the opposite side. The bandit seated himself leisurely, then explained he wished to look at some diamond rings with a view to selecting one for his wife.

Reingold graciously produced from a desk drawer a ring-laden tray. Then, as his caller scrutinized a particularly lustrous ring, the merchant produced a tray of unset diamonds, among which nestled one of fifteen carats valued at $44,000.

"Perhaps you would be interested in one of these," suggested Reingold. "Your wife might prefer to design her own mounting."

Ignoring the merchant's suggestion, the bandit drew a revolver, arose quickly and, indicating a corner near the windows, commanded in a modulated voice:

"Get over there and lie down—and don't make a sound or look around—or I'll blow your head off!"

TAPED MOUTH

Reingold obeyed the command. As he stretched out on the carpeted floor, the robber clamped a piece of adhesive tape over his mouth and with other pieces secured his wrists and ankles.

The bandit then stepped to the desk and started collection of the rings and stones in view. Glancing over his shoulder he caught Reingold watching him in disobedience of the command. But, instead of shooting, as he had threatened, he bent over and struck the merchant a crushing blow on the right side of the forehead with the butt of his gun. He then scooped up the diamonds remaining on the desk top, rifled two other trays he took from the drawer, one of which contained more than $100,000 worth of stones, dragged his bound and gagged victim to an inside corner of the office, and opened the door to the reception room.

Pausing a moment in the slightly open doorway and making sure Miss Krick would observe and hear him, he addressed a parting shot to Reingold:

"Well, I'm much obliged, sir . . . I'll bring the Missus in tomorrow . . . I'm sure she'll be pleased with the one I like. Good afternoon!"

The stranger then closed the door, smiled at the unsuspecting secretary, and went on his way.

Reingold at once tried to attract attention by kicking his heels against the partition; but it was some minutes before any untoward sound was heard by either Miss Krick or Dautloff. The latter finally heard the unfamiliar noise and, entering Reingold's private office to investigate, found the merchant bound and gagged.

After receiving first-aid treatment from police surgeons and a private physician, Reingold told Detective Lieutenants Woolman, Malina and James the robber-assailant appeared to be an Italian about 35 years of age, 5 feet 5 inches in height, weighing about 150 pounds and wearing a smart brown suit and light hat. The only other clews police have are a few fingerprints obtained from the rifled jewel trays by Fingerprint Expert Gaskell of the police identification bureau.

The other jewel robbery yesterday occurred in the Bristol Jewelry Company shop at 1552 West Pico street. Two men entered the place and told Frank Bristol, the proprietor, and his wife that they wished to buy a watch. When Bristol placed an assortment on the counter, the pair drew guns and stuffed the contents of the proffered tray in their pockets. Before leaving, one of the bandits told Bristol he was hungry and had a large family. Bristol estimated his loss at about $1000 in watches, rings, lavallieres, etc.

Three men in an automobile early yesterday held up Nick Timchenko, 9860 Easton street, Fox studio art director, and robbed him of $175 in cash. They crowded him to the side of the road on Benedict Canyon Drive near Beverly Boulevard, as he was on his way home in his own car.

Another bandit obtained $48 from O. B. Evans, cafe proprietor, 114½ West Ninth street, early yesterday, as he opened the place for business.

CHICAGO GANGSTERS REPORTED IN TIA JUANA

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 14. (AP)—Local and government officers in Tia Juana, today were reported making a search for a supposed Chicago gangster who appeared in one of the cafes there last night, but who fled when he overheard a policeman telephoning to his superior officers asking if the suspect should be put under arrest.

Tia Juana officers stated that they had been informed two Chicago gangsters named "Two-Gun" Burns and "Kid" Gleason had been seen in town, but today they were unable to locate either of the men.

The Tia Juana officers also stated that they had received a tip to the effect that one of the men was in reality "Scarface" Al Capone, but they attached little credence to the report, as Capone is well known to a number of Tia Juanans.

Five men were arrested on suspicion of having been in company with the suspects, and after a rigid examination were escorted to the international line. Officials in Tia Juana today stated that, in line with a government edict, the police of the border town will use severe methods to keep out gangsters.

GEMS WORTH $80,000 STOLEN

CHICAGO, Nov. 14. (AP)—Jack Salter, a jewelry salesman from New York, reported to police tonight three men who invaded his hotel room robbed him of diamonds and other jewelry which he valued at $80,000.

MOTHER'S LOVE WINS AGAIN

Foster Parents Give Up Baby Shannon

Pathos Marks Courtroom Scene

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell F. Rose say good-by to Baby Rose Shannon. Inset—Selma Shannon, the mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Rose of 835 West One Hundred and Second street, yesterday stipulated in Superior Judge Blake's court that a mother's love for her child overrules the contention of any foster parent for the custody of the infant.

The case was brought into Judge Blake's court by Selma Shannon of 1067 Lillian Way, who charged that her physician had permitted her baby to be placed in care of the Roses without her full consent.

Under the habeas corpus proceedings brought before the court yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Rose stepped aside and stated that they had no desire to deprive the mother of her child. But in relinquishing their custody of the 22-month-old girl they insisted upon the right to visit the child whenever they wish.

Judge Blake granted this request in his order returning the infant to her mother.

PRISON CELL YAWNS FOR CIRCUS GIRL

Judge Ends Probation of Alice Brahm and Orders Her to San Quentin

Alice Brahm, veteran circus bareback rider, who has been at liberty under probation for more than a year after pleading guilty to a charge of arson, yesterday was sentenced to San Quentin prison by Superior Judge Wood for violation of the terms of her probation.

Miss Brahm nearly two years ago pleaded guilty to a charge of attempting to burn down a neighbor's home in Culver City. Later she was granted probation after it was shown that slight damage was done and that the charge was fostered by enemies.

But after obtaining probation, Miss Brahm is asserted to have been arrested for possession of liquor in her home. This, the court held, was a violation of the terms of her probation.

Consequently the defendant yesterday was declared to be a probation violator and sentenced to State's prison.

Tourist From Winnipeg Dies of Heart Attack

The first contingent of Canadian tourists to Los Angeles this season was shocked yesterday by the sudden death of one of their number, Donald McCormick, 68 years of age, of Winnipeg, former president of the McCormick Lumber Company.

Mr. McCormick had gone to Pomona and was discussing a trip he intended taking when he suffered a heart attack.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. today at the Graham & Isbell mortuary, 915 West Washington Boulevard. Gen. M. Grant, president of the Canadian Club of California, and John Hooper, president of the Canadian Tourist Society, will deliver eulogies.

The body, accompanied by Mrs. C. Wynkop, a daughter of the lumberman, who is a member of the tourist party, will be returned to Winnipeg for burial.

Marital Clouds for Rainmaker

Charles Mallory Hatfield, rainmaker, had very little sunshine in his home.

This fact was asserted to be of legal record yesterday when Mrs. Mabelle Claire Hatfield brought suit for separate maintenance charging that her husband could not properly provide for her.

Mrs. Hatfield demands a share of community property consisting of a residence at 5327 Maplehurst avenue, and a business establishment at 231 North Brand avenue, Glendale. She also asks for custody of her 13-year-old son.

coast to the north for them and their boat.

The little shell weighs 135 poundis when provisioned. It is sloop-rigged with a trisail and jib, inflated rubber leeboards and a twelve-inch aluminum keel. Having no watertight cockpit, it is not a true kayak, but is unsinkable, as proved when it shipped a lot of water from combers on the Santa Barbara-Ventura voyage.

Pohl and Riek yesterday were planning to truck the craft to Los Angeles for exhibition and for installation of a small motor before continuing two weeks hence on their perilous voyage. They are due in Montevideo in March for the 100th anniversary of a German colony there.

Ingalls Leaves for San Diego on Aerial Tour

Assistant Secretary of the Navy David S. Ingalls in charge of aviation, left Los Angeles yesterday for San Diego, well satisfied with his inspection here of aviation equipment. The assistant Secretary is making a national tour of aviation establishments of the government, in advance of a request by the Naval Affairs Committee for an appropriation of $32,000,000 for the maintenance of the air fleet.

Will Rogers entertained the naval leader and his party at the Rogers ranch in Santa Monica Thursday evening. Rogers accompanied Ingalls to San Diego yesterday in the latter's 180-mile-an-hour two-seated fightinfi plane, the Hell Diver. It was stated here by one of Rogers's friends that the humorist does not plan to accompany Ingalls to Washington, but will return to Los Angeles tomorrow.

Daugherty in Move to Quash Charges Loses

All the officers of the United Church Women of Los Angeles, an auxiliary of the Church Federation, were re-elected for another year at the organization's annual meeting and luncheon at the Immanuel Presbyterian Church yesterday.

The officers are Mrs. Lucie C. Tanner, president; Mrs. W. D. McConnell, vice-president; Clara B. Homer, secretary, and Mrs. H. H. Hale, treasurer.

In a report of its work during the past year, the Women's Service Bureau of the organization disclosed that it found jobs for almost 2000 girls and women.

The chief speaker on the program was Dr. Hugh K. Walker, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, who gave an interesting talk on his recent trip to Oberammergau to see the Passion Play. Other speakers were Jessie York, Mrs. R. Cornell and Mrs. McConnell.

Manslaughter Charge Against Autoists Fails

Elwell A. Hodge and Walter A. Smith yesterday were acquitted of manslaughter in the death of Robert E. Fisher, who was killed in an automobile accident at Ninth and Serrano streets two months ago. The verdict was returned by a jury in Superior Judge Aggeler's court at the end of a two-day trial.

The prosecution contended that Fisher's death was caused by the negligence of both Smith and Hodge. Fisher, the victim, was riding with Hodge at the time.

During the trial, however, S. S Hahn and M. C. Spicer, attorneys for Hodge, and Harold Judson, representing Smith, introduced evidence indicating that Fisher would not have suffered serious injury had he not leaped from Hodges's automobile shortly before the impact.

MANY SEE TABLES SET FOR PRIZES

Highland Park Ebell Club Captures First Award in Barkers' Tournament

BY OLIVE GRAY

The table-setting tournament, by a group of women's clubs, yesterday attracted a larger throng than heretofore, the broad aisles in the Galerie at Barker's being the scene of deep interest to the club members and their friends, when the formal tea tables, gleaming with handsome silver, lovely china and glass, came up for judgment.

So beautiful were the tables in the contest that it was with difficulty the winner could be chosen.

The first prize, a set of fine blue table damask, was awarded to the Highland Park Ebell Club, Mrs. A. T. Pullman, chairman. The Los Angeles Women's Advertising Club was accorded second place, Mrs. A. Honeywell representing the club.

In the contest for Thursday, with formal dinner tables the theme, first prize was given to the Los Angeles Women's Advertising Club, Mrs. A. Honeywell, representing; second place being decided in favor of the Santa Monica Women's Club, with Mrs. Case representing.

Today at 12 o'clock the last of the prize decisions will be made, buffet supper tables being the theme. After this award, Mme. Bachelor, adviser of the International Silver Company, will lecture in the auditorium of Barker Brothers on "Hospitality," illustrating by photographs, many fine tables known to her in European countries.

Tables have been judged on general effectiveness, originality, correctness and beauty of color scheme the latter feature being materially aided by flowers freely chosen from the Steffen Flower Shop, and all wares for the tables being personally selected by the contestants from the various sections throughout Barker Brothers' store.

LIVE STOCK SHOW PLAN EXPLAINED

Importance of Event for Los Angeles Described in Talk to Rotarians

Stimulating the production of better live stock throughout the State and thereby improving the quality of meat offered consumers is the prime object of the Fifth Annual Christmas Live Stock Show and Rodeo, to be held in Los Angeles November 29 to December 6, according to C. C. Hine, vice-president of Globe Grain and Milling Company, who spoke before the Los Angeles Rotary Club yesterday.

The live stock industry, with its various related branches, represents the greatest industry in the State, Mr. Hine declared. The annual turnover is estimated at $446,000,000 as against oil production of approximately $350 000 000, he said.

The live stock show is recognized both nationally and internationally as the third largest held in the country, and is growing in importance every year, with exhibitors sending herds from everywhere in the United States and from some foreign countries, Mr. Hine said.

The rodeo is under the direction of Dr. Hugh Strickland, and will give two performances daily, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening.

Council Kills Move on Water Bureau Inquiry

The proposal of Councilman Williams that an investigation of charges and counter-charges about politics in the organization of the Department of Water and Power was voted down by the City Council yesterday, 10 to 5, Jacobson, Lewis, McAllister and Randall supporting Williams.

Williams was aroused by the accusations hurled by Mayor Porter and E. M. Scofield, ousted Water and Power Commissioner, that "sinister influences" and "political intrigue" are active in water and power affairs.

Councilmen Cooke, Burns, Davis and Webster pointed out that similar investigations in the past got nowhere, with every prospect that this will meet with failure.

Actress's Suit Trial Delayed

Trial of a $53,650 damage suit instituted by Evelyn Stark, actress, against Victor H. Levy yesterday was continued until the 17th inst., when called in Superior Judge Craig's court.

Miss Stark complains of personal injuries received when Levy's parked automobile plunged down a hillside, May 22, 1929. The actress asserts she entered the car at Levy's invitation and that the automobile's brakes were not set. The car ran down grade on Camrose avenue, striking a tree at Glencove avenue. Miss Stark's jaw was fractured.

Levy contends that the brakes were set, and that Miss Stark entered the car alone and tried to drive off after midnight. Yesterday's continuance was granted because Levy's attorney, George H. Moore, was conducting another case. Attorney Joseph L. Fainer appears for the actress.

STAGE DANCER SEEKS $50,275 FOR CRASH

Soney Sidonie, stage dancer, yesterday sued for $50,225 damages as the result of an automobile collision on Washington Boulevard, August 25, last. Miss Sidonie named as defendants Frank O. Thone driver of the car that crashed into hers, and Eugene Zellerbach, owner of the car. She had stopped to permit a pedestrian to cross the street, she said, when her car was struck from behind.

COLLEGE HEAD TO TAKE CHAIR

Cheverton Becomes Leader of School Tomorrow

California Christian Ready to Extend Welcome

Distinguished Guests Will Be Present for Event

Thirty-five colleges, universities and other educational institutions will be represented by delegates tomorrow afternoon at the formal inaugural ceremonies for Cecil F. Cheverton, Ph.D., new president of the California Christian College of Los Angeles.

Fifteen educational institutions from outside California are sending or have delegated representatives.

Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, has designated Verne O. Knudsen, Ph.D., who now is teaching in the University of California at Los Angeles, as its representative. Butler University, Indianapolis, has delegated Warren Grafton, alumnus, minister of First Christian Church of this city. University of Oregon is sending Dr. Clinton H. Thienes, Ph.D. Melville Dozier, class of 1867, Furman University, who was a former professor there and who now resides in Los Angeles, will doubtless be the oldest delegate present.

MANY INSTITUTIONS

California institutions which will be represented, include Berkeley Baptist Divinity School, College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, Fullerton Junior College, Holmby College, Immaculate Heart College, La Verne College, Los Angeles Pacific College, Loyola University, St. Mary's College, Occidental College, Pacific Unitarian School for the Ministry, Pasadena Junior College, Pomona College, University of Redlands, San Diego State College, San Francisco Theological Seminary, Santa Ana Junior College, University of the West, University of Southern California and Valencia University.

When California Christian College was founded in 1920 Vernon Stauffer, then of Nebraska, was called to become its dean. After remaining two years and laying a strictly educational foundation for the school, he resigned and moved east, where he died within one year. Arthur Braden, now president of Transylvania University, Lexington, Ky., was called as dean in 1922, was made president in 1924 and served the college until the fall of 1929, when he resigned to move to Kentucky.

Dr. C. F. Cheverton, who is to be installed tomorrow as third president, received his early education in the public and high schools of Rich Hill, Mo., and later entered Drake University, Des Moines, where he received his A.B. and A.M. degrees.

PRESIDENT YOUNG MAN

After teaching two years in Drake Dr. Cheverton obtained his doctor of philosophy degree from Boston University and also studied in Columbia University. He was teaching in Eureka College, Illinois, when California Christian College called him in 1920 to head the department of religious education, which chair he still holds. President Cheverton is just 40 years of age, and thus takes his place among the younger presidents of American colleges.

Tomorrow afternoon's exercises, which begin promptly at 3 o'clock, are open to the public. The inaugural address will be delivered by Dr. Harry O. Pritchard of Indianapolis, general secretary of the Disciples Board of Education. Sixty-five members of the combined glee clubs will make their first seasonal appearance on the program under direction of Prof. Herbert G. Tovey.

Pauline Starke Seeks $6050

Pauline Starke, motion-picture actress, yesterday sued James Cruze and James D. Meyer, stockholders in the concern which, Miss Starke says, discharged her four days after hiring her to work four weeks at $1500 a week.

The picture in which Miss Starke was to appear was "The Great Gabbo," and to make her appointment, Miss Starke flew from San Bernardino to Los Angeles in an airplane. This cost $50, it is asserted, and makes the total damages asked $6050.

Death Valley Sleeper Added

To take care of expected increase in travel to Death Valley this winter the Santa Fe will inaugurate weekly sleeping-car service between Los Angeles and Death Valley Junction, commencing next Thursday.

A Pullman will leave Los Angeles each Thursday on the Missionary, at 8:35 p.m., and arrive at Death Valley Junction at 8:35 a.m. the next day. On the return trip the car will leave Death Valley Junction each Saturday at 5:30 p.m. and reach Los Angeles Sunday on Train No. 17, at 8:35 a.m.

On the fourth floor of Schwabacher-Frey's Store, 736 S. Broadway, they are conducting the most interesting free lessons in plastic clay and art craft decorating! With Xmas presents to be made such lessons will be very worth-while! Your only expense, remember, is for the materials you use.

Here's a suggestion, for those who want to learn a trade! See the Liberty Candy Company, who teach you either for home or commercial purposes, candy making, chocolate dipping, and cake ornamenting. Supplies may be bought from them, too. The address is Fourth Floor Grant Building, 355 South Broadway, TUcker 4156.

Here's an excellent suggestion— Why not order now for your husband's Christmas present, shirts made to his individual measurements by Arthur W. Werner, the Custom Shirt Maker of 122 South Spring street (MUtual 1589.) Certainly no finer present would your husband ask for!

For removing silk from corn when preparing it for the table, or for canning purposes, a small hand brush is better and quicker than the fingers.

To avoid a soggy crust, take the white of one egg, beaten lightly, and brush it over the crust before baking; then place it in a hot oven for a few seconds; the egg will harden and the custard will not soak into the crust. The rest of the egg can be mixed with the custard.

Olive oil of the finest, as well as the best imported Italian and French groceries, may be had at R. Fazzi & Co., 219 S. Spring, MUtual 7612.

Surprise Salad—Two tablespoonfuls of gelatin; one-half cupful of cold water; two cupfuls of boiling water and pineapple juice; one-half cupful of vinegar, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of salt, one-half cupful of sugar, one cupful of shredded cabbage, one green pepper or pimento; one cupful of canned pineapple, one small onion. Soak the gelatin in the cold water, add the boiling water and fruit juice. After the gelatin is dissolved, add the vinegar, sugar and salt; stand it in cold water and when it begins to thicken pour into a cold wet mold in alternate layers with the remaining ingredients. Serve with lettuce and mayonnaise dressing.

Thanksgiving will soon be here and we have much to be thankful for. Among other things it is reported that turkeys will be much cheaper this year.

This reminds us of the dressings which are so enhanced in flavor by the addition of delicious seasonings. If you like to excel in this line, you will demand Ben-Hur Poultry Seasonings at your grocers.

Like all Ben-Hur Spices, Ben-Hur Poultry Seasoning is the finest possible to produce. It is a blend of all the proper spices, each one of the very highest quality, the blending of which brings out a most wonderful and delicious flavor in the dressing. You are sure to be complimented by the guests if you use Ben-Hur Poultry Seasoning.

Practically all dependable grocers carry the Ben-Hur line of food seasonings.

Oh, but Mandalay 'Coco-Hon-ee' is wonderfully good on hot cakes and waffles these cool mornings! Have you tried it yet? You know it is a syrup made from cocoanuts way off in old Manila, and you may buy it in bamboo container or in jars. Young's Market Company at Seventh and Union sell it, so does the May Company grocery department, Bullock's candy department and the Model Grocery Company, in Pasadena.

If lemons are put in a fruit jar filled with cold water as soon as purchased and the top screwed on tightly, they will not dry up and will keep for several weeks.

When boiling turnips, add a teaspoonful of white sugar to the water to improve the flavor and lessen the odor.

Those game shears shown at Steinen's Cutlery Shop, 210 West Third street, are such a help in carving your turkey . . . just cut right through the joints without getting the bird off the platter. Why they are almost indispensable, and not expensive. Don't be without a pair on Thanksgiving day!

To peel apples easily—Pour boiling water over apples which are to be cooked; they will peel much easier and it will save much time.

Best way to skin beets without bleeding—Put them in cold water as soon as cooked; then draw the hand gently down each beet and the skins will come off easily. Leave stems an inch long on beets and the color will not cook out.

Have you had the misfortune to break your silver-backed comb? If so the following news will be of interest to you: Just think, the Peerless Platers of 239½ S. Spring st., (upstairs) can replace said comb and make it like new! I would suggest that you see them at once.

To "glaze" meat means to paint it with a brush dipped in thick gravy. To make the glaze, reduce a good stock to one-half its bulk by constant boiling, gradually reducing the heat as the process progresses. To glaze a pie, beat up an egg well with a tiny bit of sugar; add a little milk, beat up well again and go over the pie with a pastry brush when ready for the oven.

What a treat of treats you are going to have when you eat your plum pudding this year—if you use the recipe I am giving you today, you'll notice it calls for Guasti Sweet Sherry Flavoring . . . and Guasti Burgundy Wine Jelly . . . need more be said?

GUASTI PLUM PUDDING

One-half pound raisins, one cupful currants, one-half cupful citron (diced,) one-half cupful crystallized fruit, (pineapple and cherries,) three-quarters cupful Guasti Sweet Sherry Flavoring, two tablespoonfuls lemon juice, two cupfuls brown sugar, three-quarters cupful butter, or one cupful shredded suet, four eggs, one-quarter cupful Guasti Burgundy Wine Jelly, one-half teaspoonful cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful nutmeg, one-quarter pound bread crumbs, (two-day-old bread,) three-quarter cupful flour, one teaspoonful soda.

Cut fruit and combine with Guasti Sweet Sherry Flavoring and lemon juice. Cream the sugar and butter. Add well-beaten eggs, jelly, spices and crumbs. Sift together flour and soda several times and add to creamed butter and sugar mixture. Add fruits. Pour into oiled and floured molds. (One-pound baking powder cans may be used.) Adjust cover and steam one-pound molds for three hours and large ones four hours. Turn out of molds when done.

You can always find a suitable place in your home for the kind of Fluff rugs which the Hoffman Rug Works make out of your old carpets! Why not call them up now and have some of these interesting floor coverings made? The address is 2814 W. Jefferson St., EMpire 2048.

To ripen tomatoes or green bananas, put them in a paper bag and lay them away in a dark place for a few days; never put bananas in the refrigertor. To prevent sliced bananas from turning dark, sprinkle them with lemon juice.

Quick way to peel carrots—A few passes over a coarse grater will rid carrots of their skins quicker than any other way.

Let the Children's Hospital Salvage Department of 712 Maple ave., make use of your discarded clothing and other household articles you no longer have use for. "Nothing is too old or too new, too large or too small" to send them. Don't forget. Their phone number, by the way, is TUcker 1203.

Can rhubarb in cold water—Select choice stalks, wash them carefully and cut them to fit the jars, taking care not to remove the skins. Pack in sterilized glass jars in vertical rows and cover with fresh cold water, let stand for ten minutes; drain off the water and again fill to overflowing with fresh cold water and seal tightly. When cooked it will taste like fresh. Fresh blueberries, gooseberries, plums and solid grapes (stemmed) may also be canned by the above method; the skins must be perfect. Store away from light and heat.

For washing potatoes, beets, turnips, celery, etc., use a small brush. It does the work better and saves time and fingers.

Ex-Constable at Inglewood Wins Probation

Convicted of five counts of permitting prisoners to escape from his custody, Harry Amend, former Inglewood constable, yesterday was released under five years probation by Superior Judge Fricke.

It was charged Amend accepted bail money from five prisoners and after releasing them failed to prosecute them or to account for the money.

Under the terms of probation Amend must refund to Los Angeles county all bail money he received.

ORDINANCES ADOPTED

The ordinance of intention for the opening and widening of Broadway between Ninety-third street and One Hundred and Twentieth street was adopted yesterday by the City Council, as was the ordinance of intention for the opening and extending of Albers street between Fulton avenue and Sunnyslope avenue. Both are set for the hearing of protests December 30.

PENNEY PRAISES RETAILERS

Chain Store Magnate Declares New Economic Basis of Nation Proving Sound

Retailers are setting a good example for the rest of the country, in the opinion of J. C. Penney, chairman of the board of the J. C. Penney Company, operators of 1400 stores throughout the United States.

In an address to members of the Rotary Club at the Biltmore Penney declared that wherever he went during several months' traveling he found stores going ahead at a good rate, making money, turning their stocks, maintaining their personnels and building for an increasingly prosperous future.

The stock market crash, Penney said, left the industrial and commercial fabric of the country unimpaired and the merchant expressed the opinion that most persons who give utterance to pessimistic statements are more frightened than hurt.

"The general social and, therefore, the general economic structure of the country has found a new base and that base is a sound one," he said. "It provides for national expenditures at a rate equivalent to that which existed for a long period prior to deflation of market values.

"The drop in commodity prices, such as foods, clothing and similar items," he continued, "reveals the interesting fact that sales volume by items of merchandise is increasing, rather than diminishing. In our own business, sales volumes in dollars and cents for the first eight months of the year is ahead of last year, despite the fact that, in many of our volume moving items, there have been reductions of prices amounting to as high as 30 per cent."

Penney said that he has found the spirit of optimism particularly noticeable in the West.

Poultry Show Plans Rvealed

All branches of the poultry industry, it was announced yesterday, will be represented at the fifth annual Los Angeles County Midwinter Poultry Show in the Shrine Auditorium, December 2 to 7, inclusive. Entries to date include standard poultry, turkeys, waterfowl, pigeons, rabbits, baby chicks and eggs. In addition commercial hatcheries, milling companies and accessory manufacturing concerns have reserved exhibit space. All displays will be judged under American Poultry Association rules.

Copies of the premium list may be obtained from Robert T. Lyans, secretary, Greater Southern California Poultry Association, 377 West Milford street, Glendale.

Wife Demands Property Share

Mrs. Enna Elizabeth Momsen demands a share of $300,000 in community property, in her divorce petition, on file against Otto Andreas Momsen yesterday; after nearly seven years of married life.

Momsen was sullen and morose, according to the petition, and often threatened her with violence. On another occasion, he refused to give her money to attend her aunt's funeral, and refused to "sympathize" with her on account of her bereavement.

FEDERAL PRISONER'S WIFE GIVEN DECREE

Horace D. Hitchcock, now serving a sentence in McNeill Island prison, yesterday was divorced by Amy V. Hitchcock in Superior Judge Craig's court. Conviction of felony formed the grounds upon which the wife obtained her decree. She offered evidence to show that Hitchcock was found guilty here July 11, 1929, on charge of using the mails to defraud.

Judge Craig awarded Mrs. Hitchcock custody of her children, William, 10 years of age, and Robert, 6 The Hitchcocks married June 3, 1917.

Tale of Lipstick Clews in Home Wins Divorce

Lipsticks and feminine apparel were found strewn around her home when she returned from the mountains, Mrs. Elsie May Farrar yesterday complained to Superior Judge Bowron in winning a divorce from Ray H. Farrar, dentist. Mrs. Farrar said that on finding lipsticks, apparel and empty bottles, she deduced that there had been a party attended by women at her home during her absence.

The Farrars married January 23 1923, and separated October 3, last. The wife asserted that on March 1, 1923, her husband was out until 3 a.m., and explained he was studying at the fraternity house, when really he had been at the beach with another woman.

Judge Bowron granted the wife a decree and approved a property settlement by the terms of which Farrar is to pay $104 a month for the support of his son, Richard, 2½ years of age.

Oil Well Tax Action Delayed

Due to the negative votes of Councilmen Barthel and Jacobson, which prevented unanimous consent for suspension of the rules, the ordinance fixing a license fee of 1 per cent of gross revenue upon oil wells in the city was not adopted yesterday by the City Council, but was continued for action until next Friday.

WAGE CLAIMS FILED IN GRAVES CAMPAIGN

Sixty-seven wage claims against the campaign committee of Sidney T. Graves, defeated candidate for Supervisor for the Third District, were filed yesterday with the State Labor Commission. The amounts asked range from $5 to $66.67 and total approximately $900. Deputy Commissioner Barker set the 19th inst. for hearings before Deputy R. A. Redifer. The claimants reported the sums asked are due them for work on behalf of Graves's campaign.

INTRODUCED SMYRNA FIGS

G. P. Rixford of San Francisco, who was killed by a railroad train recently, is given credit for the introduction of the Smyrna fig to California. He imported cuttings in 1880 and many of them were planted by Senator Stanford on his Vina ranch. Those first plantings were a complete failure, the fruit did not grow larger than marbles, then dried up and dropped from the trees.

It was not until George F. Roeding of Fresno and his father made a thorough study of figs in Asia Minor that the trouble with those first California plantings was discovered. The Smyrna fig bears only female flowers, while the Capri, or wild fig, bears both male and female. The wild fig was brought to California. George Roeding took a quill and blew pollen from wild fig blossoms and produced four perfect Smyrna figs, the first ever matured in this country. Afterward the pollination was effected by means of a small insect called the blastophaga.

California owes a debt of gratitude to Rixford, even though his first fig experiment was not successful, for upon it was based others which brought to this State one of its most valuable industries.

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE

Proof of the popularity of the plan for a bridge across the Golden Gate is seen in the fact that the vote on the $35,000,000 bond issue to insure the success of the project was three to one in five of the six counties most interested in it. A part of Mendocino county was the only section strongly opposing the bridge, though there were many in the other counties that had tried to discourage the plan on both esthetic and economical grounds. The esthetes set forth the plea that such a structure would mar the natural beauty of the Golden Gate. Those making the economic argument said that the saving in time by motorists would not offset the tremendous cost.

What probably helped along the passage of the bonds was the opinion that the expenditure of the $35,000,000 would cut down unemployment in the bay district, which, of course, it will. The bridge plan was most popular in Marin and Sonoma counties, which led in the election by piling up a ten-to-one majority in favor of the bonds. In San Francisco city and county the vote was about three to one, as in some of the other counties.

The bridge is now assured, whether those of esthetic taste are going to like it or not. As to an improvement of this kind the esthete is hardly the one to consult, but rather those of practical views. The bridge is going to be of great value in facilitating transbay traffic. It is doubtful, when it is built, that anyone will refuse to use it on esthetic grounds.

AQUEDUCT ROUTES

Pending detailed critical engineering study of the report on aqueduct routes furnished to the board of directors of the Metropolitan Water District by its chief engineer, P. E. Weymouth, no definite conclusion can be drawn as to the route the aqueduct should take. Such critical study will no doubt be given it by the board of review and by others, and then a body of data will be in existence from which the directors and the public can form a reasonable conclusion.

Chief Engineer Weymouth appears strongly to favor the route from the Upper Parker dam site, which, he concludes, offers the most for the money and will ultimately be the cheapest. He estimates the cost of an aqueduct from this site at $206,279,000 including interest for the first development (640 second feet) and says the average cost of water delivered to the terminal reservoir, over a forty-year period, will be $26.56 an acre foot. The pump lift of the Parker aqueduct, if a diversion dam is constructed, will be 1523 feet, and without the dam presumably somewhat higher. Construction of a diversion dam will require consent of the State of Arizona, but if so constructed it could be used as a diversion point for the Parker-Gila project in Arizona and so would become useful to both States.

Other routes reported upon are the Black Canyon route, cost $239,006,000, with a pump lift of 1662 feet, and an estimated average cost of $28.72 per acre foot; the Bulls Head route, cost $227,346,000, pump lift 2051 feet, water cost $29.51 per acre foot; the Picacho route, cost $199,180,000, pump lift 1997 feet, water cost $28.41; all-American canal route, $174,265,000, pump lift 1888 feet, water cost $24.59; and the Bridge Canyon gravity route, cost estimated at $557,846,000, pump lift zero and annual average water cost per acre foot $51.25. All cost figures are estimates.

In reference to the last estimate it is fair even to Chief Engineer Weymouth to say that his feeling adverse to the all-gravity route has been demonstrated more than once in the past. The estimate which he makes for this route is from the top of a 600-foot dam at Bridge Canyon. The plan for a Bridge Canyon gravity aqueduct put forward by E. C. La Rue contemplates a much higher dam and consequently tunnels at a shallower depth. It also would provide more power. La Rue's cost estimate is less than half that of Weymouth's. Weymouth says that Bridge Canyon offers suitable dam sites, even for a much higher dam than the one he has figured.

Returning to the Weymouth report, it practically declares the Picacho and all-American canal routes out of the question because both follow for long distances the line of the San Andreas fault and for other reasons which he believes would make them unsafe and undependable. The Black Canyon and Bulls Head routes also traverse unsafe areas, he considers. None of the routes except the Parker route, according to Weymouth, has really suitable facilities for intermediate storage.

On the question of terminal storage the report favors the Puddingstone reservoir for the Parker, Picacho, all-American and Bridge Canyon routes and the Pine Canyon reservoir for the Black Canyon and Bulls Head routes. An intermediate reservoir at Hayfield, east of the Little San Bernardino Mountains, is proposed for the Parker route.

The Puddingstone reservoir is recommended because it permits carrying the water across the San Andreas fault on the surface, through San Gorgonio Pass. Most of the other routes would cross this fault in a tunnel, and it is considered dangerous to do this because of the danger of interruption through earth movement.

The practical elimination of the Pine Canyon reservoir from consideration will be a disappointment to the people of Pasadena, who have been counting on assumption by the Metropolitan Water District of a part of the cost of the dam that city is now building at Pine Canyon.

The report is in immense detail, running to several hundred pages of facts, figures and estimates, and will require weeks of study.

The route favored by the chief engineer, that from Parker, will require the use of settlement basins or other clarification works if the water is drawn directly from the river, but none is contemplated if a dam is constructed. The height of such a dam is necessarily limited by the level of Needles, which is fifty-eight miles up the river, and one of seventy-two feet is contemplated. The route contains no tunnel more than 12.9 miles long, and is largely in surface conduit. Dr. F. L. Ransome, geologist, is quoted as saying this route is the most favorable geologically and least likely to be disturbed by earth movement.

According to the chief engineer, it would be possible at some future time to tie the Parker route into a gravity line from Bridge Canyon. Bridge Canyon construction, he admits, will release a large amount of the available power from Boulder Dam and provide considerable additional power, and he concludes that this might be advisable at some future time when the demands for power have grown and cheap fuel for steam power is exhausted.

The cost of pumping is not given directly for any of the routes, but the amount of power required for Parker is estimated at 309,300 kilowatts without a diversion dam and 291,040 if the dam is built. This is equivalent to 415,000 horsepower and 390,000 horsepower, respectively. The total power produced by Boulder Dam has been estimated at 640,000 horsepower. Some of the pumping would be done with secondary power.

CLIMATE AND CLOTHES

In looking forward to the rapidly approaching festival in which we will all give thanks for something let us not overlook the fact that a protracted November season of warm weather has permitted us to wear out all of our summer clothes—and that next year necessity will be the mother of a new wardrobe!

TIME TO WAKE UP

Gov.-elect Hunt says the report of his death "was very much exaggerated." If his views on the Boulder Dam question were overstated, too, there would be no hitch in the progress of the great Southwest Empire.

The
LEE SIDE O' L.A.
BY Lee Shippey

HER husband was a prosperous attorney. But lingering illness came and all his accumulation, even his life insurance, went to doctors and hospitals. After the funeral she checked up, for the first time, and found she was an almost destitute woman with four children to support.

For a while she got by, on personal trinkets and credit, but soon saw that neither could last long. She had no training for store or office work. She had abilities, but not of the kind ordinarily merchantable. She told all her friends to remember her if they heard of anything she could do—and they promised and thought no more about her.

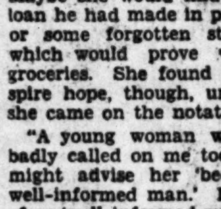
In desperation she searched through her husband's old papers. Maybe she would find trace of some loan he had made in prosperous days, or some forgotten stock certificate which would prove worth a week's groceries. She found nothing to inspire hope, though, until in a diary she came on the notation:

"A young woman who needs work badly called on me today, thinking I might advise her 'because I am a well-informed man.' How little most of us 'well-informed men' really know of the problems and opportunities of such people! The only advice I could give her was to go to the Bureau of Vocational Service."

She'd never heard of that bureau. She looked it up. She had a talk with the counselor, whose business it was to know the problems and opportunities of people like her. Fortunately, there was an opening for the very talent which had been her pleasure, rather than her vocation, before. She was directed to a position which now is taking good care of her and her four children.

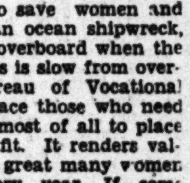
The Value of Advice

No finer service is being done in this town, to our mind, than is being done by the Bureau of Vocational Service for Women and Girls at 426 South Spring street. And it will do twice as much good as it is doing now if the Community Chest is supported as it should be this year, for it is one of the Chest agencies which has been handicapped for lack of adequate appropriation. Six hundred women and girls asked advice there last month and they were given the best advice obtainable. Of course, no bureau can call jobs down out of a clear sky. The bureau keeps in touch with employers of women and girls and its standing with them depends on supplying them just the kind of help they need, not just anybody and everybody who comes to the bureau looking for work. Its chief service is that of counseling. And though nobody wants advice from most of us, everybody wants it, when in trouble, from an expert. That is why lawyers and doctors thrive, whether their clients do or not. At this bureau women and girls can get expert advice far more disinterested than that of the lawyer or doctor, and get it for nothing. It is so overworked and understaffed now, though the Chest has done the best it could for it under the curtailed budgets of recent years, that even advice must be given speedily.



Women and Children First!

In slack times somebody always raises the cry that the men must be taken care of first, as they are the heads of families. But now many women are the heads of families. Many of the girls and women card-indexed by the Bureau of Vocational Service have four or five people dependent on them. Why should we think it noble to save women and children first in an ocean shipwreck, then throw them overboard when the good ship Business is slow from overweight? The Bureau of Vocational Service tries to place those who need it most, but tries most of all to place them where they fit. It renders valuable service to a great many women of that kind every year. If some philanthropist would enable it to employ a couple more field workers it could help many more. But at such a time as this, of course, it cannot help them all. It is distressing to look at the long line of women there every morning, waiting to interview the counselor, and realize that many of them will have to go away with little more hope than when they came.



We listened while the counselor interviewed several women and all she could do was give them good suggestions and place a card summarizing their qualifications in the index. But every day numerous employers fill their needs from that cabinet—for in it are listed everything from filing clerks to opera singers. Domestic help is not listed.

Southern California Idea

Miss Winifred Hausen, director of the bureau, is the originator of it and also of the one in Pasadena. Miss Helen Fisk is associate director. Nowhere else in the country, it is said, is there a similar bureau. There are many employment bureaus, but only in these two is counseling the major service. And wise counseling may mean a great deal, either to the girl just out of school or to the woman in middle life suddenly thrown on her own resources. Most people who really want to work are clever enough to get ahead if they get started on the right track.

Joshua Little Says

"Man Ends Life in Restaurant." Why mention one out of countless thousands?

Anyway, Hoover's game. He proclaimed Thanksgiving just after election returns came in.

The public is inclined to suspect that "Monopoly," shouted by one film group at another, translates into "They beat us to it."

There are compensations. Now that the young folks do their spooning in the car the old folks get a chance to enjoy the living-room evenings.

NO RUBBER RESTRICTION

It is announced from London that no further attempt at restriction of the production of raw rubber is to be made by the British because co-operation between the leading producers is impossible. Less than five years ago the British controlled the market and so restricted production that the price went up to $1 and more a pound. Today the same grade of crude rubber is worth only 8 to 9 cents a pound. This terrific drop is solely the result of the competition which speedily followed the formation of what was believed to be a strong monopoly.

Sir Eric Geddes, one of the largest tire producers of Great Britain, in a recent circular to the shareholders of his company, points out the effect of the last restriction scheme. The plan was successful in raising the price of rubber, but as it included only the British-controlled plantations, it gave the Dutch companies of Java and elsewhere a fine opportunity to plant more trees, which they did at once. From 360,000 acres in 1923 the Dutch increased their plantings to 1,300,000 acres in 1929 and are still at it, while Firestone, Ford and other Americans have also entered the business in a large way.

About half the Dutch production is native-owned, many of the natives owning only a few trees each. The natives have no expensive boards of directors, no heavy office expenses, no rigid standard of living. They and their families care for and tap the trees themselves. It is to them that we owe the low price of tires in this country today. Their competition may yet result in a condition that will cause other producers to retire from the field. This probably would be the case should the Dutch plantings be increased to 2,000,000 acres, or 600,000 acres more than the British plantings in Malaya.

But whatever happens the back of the British rubber monopoly is broken and, as it would seem, irremediably.

THE GOAT

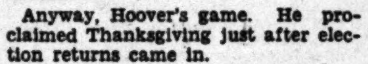
The editor of the Daily Californian of the University of California at Berkeley is rather hard put to find a suitable goat for that 74-0 upset by the Trojan university of Los Angeles.

However, somebody must have spanked him, for immediately after his first outburst he hurried into print with a denial that he meant any person in particular in suggesting sundry things concerning coaches, or that he referred to any particular university in hinting at subsidizing.

The alumni, sports writers of the metropolitan press both north and south and others were castigated collectively. It is old stuff to blame defeat on others.

The football team of Berkeley itself was game. There was nothing yellow in the Blue and Gold. There was no shame in being licked 74-0; but there is shame in lack of sportsmanship.

"Nothing succeeds like success." The athletic youngsters of the high schools of the State naturally trek to the campus of victory. The alumni of a university doubtless turn the feet of prospective students toward their alma mater. This is not a censurable, but a praiseworthy, loyalty. Nor is it confined to any university.



THE NEW RICH AND THE BARD

By James J. Montague

The quaint Elizabethan wit
  Of Falstaff and his pals
Is not the stuff that makes a hit
  With gangsters or their gals,
And when for poor Antonio's life
  Does gentle Portia beg
She cannot please the gunman's wife
  Nor move the hard-boiled yegg.
In these gay days of New Romance
The poor old bard stands not a chance.

Not Romeo's despairing cry
  Nor fair Ophelia's tears
Can gain the tribute of a sigh
  From cold-eyed racketeers.
And when the melancholy Dane
  Strolls out to do his stuff
The crook, in accents of disdain,
  Observes: "Aw! can the guff!"
To those who have the ready cash
Bill Shakespeare's work is simply trash.

The patrons of the drama now
  Won't dish their sugar out
To watch a medieval row
  Or hear tragedians spout.
They want to see upon the boards
  The kind of folks they've met,
Not ancient kings nor battling lords,
  And what they want they'll get.
So you and I must heave a sigh
And bid the dear old bard good-by.

FORWARD THE AMATEUR!

BY WILLIAM HAMILTON CLINE

Having spent some years of my past life in the show business—not as an actor, wholly in the managerial end—I rather flatter myself that I know something about the quality and purpose of a stage production when I see one.

Ergo, having been allied always with the professional side of the theatrical game, you may well believe that the ultimate anathema to me was—and is—an amateur performance in stage guise. From all which I have ever fled as from a plague.

Accepting these two dicta as basic and essential in what here follows, prepare for the big upset:

An amateur musical comedy that I attended—by invitation and request—last week not only afforded me keen delight as a playgoer of parts, but, strictly considered professionally and by the tests to which such are usually put, ranked so high that I was amazed when informed that it had been conceived, written, composed and staged wholly by amateur employees of the Southern California Telephone Company; that the orchestra and the entire cast and chorus—some sixty in all—were enlisted entirely from that company's forces; that the affair was given to overflow houses for three nights, yet only for telephone folks—not open to the general public at all—and that the months of preparation had all been put in by the concern's boys and girls on their own time, out of business hours; that they kept their regular tasks going meanwhile, this being just for the pleasure they might afford their co-workers, and from the esprit de corps that has been a feature of this organization's personnel, and undoubtedly has been vastly aggregated by this very event.

Which latter facts, even beyond the real and very evident merits of the show itself—and I speak by the card in my enthusiasm about these, too, believe me—certainly gave me pause and a lot of thoughts.

Here is a huge corporation—the sort we are prone to call without a soul—whose employees are willing and eager to demonstrate their loyalty and devotion to it and to its rank and file in so fine a way as this—isn't such a corporation a bit more human—hasn't it more of a soul—than we credit it with, to arouse such feeling in those who work for it? Especially when its own support and approval are given so heartily in co-operation on its part? Mustn't there be something rather closer, finer, dearer, if you please, in the relations between it and its employees than is generally suspected? And doesn't it also suggest to other such concerns a matter to be pondered over, for the good of all involved?

Again—where would one be likely to look for abundance of Thespianic talent than in the serried ranks of such matter-of-fact employ as a telephone company must necessarily offer? Linemen, hello girls, mechanics, electricians—who would suspect them of stage aspirations, voices of real quality, acting ability of a high order, stepping skill, choral powers? Yet one only had to glimpse this talented ensemble—whose lovely prima donna, as an instance, never before had sung in public anywhere—to be assured that the world abounds in abilities all undiscovered; that in the most unlikely places artistry may be found; that the occasion, as ever, has the man able to dominate it.

Yet further—more than ever, after such an experience, one familiar with the theater—one whose metier was ever the legitimate at its best—is convinced that the spoken stage is a long ways from the dead thing so many declare it to be. But he is also convinced that the dear public, if professional producers still refuse to satisfy its longings for decent, adequate, high-grade dramatic and musical pabulum—that dear public will get out and provide its own, from foundation stone to finished structure, and that it is quite capable of doing so, admirably, in a manner and with a quality to put the work of many an entrepreneur to the blush, to make many a "regular" show look like a complete washout.

What a treat those clean, fine, clever amateur youngsters did give this blase ex-managerial professional! What a great, purposeful, co-operative spirit they and their employer demonstrated by it. What a field for joint enterprise, cohesiveness, good-fellowship, it pointed out to other like employers, in the family atmosphere thus created, its hearty feel of united effort, its aura of friendship, camaraderie, love one for another, which cannot be bought for any price save by reciprocity along the same lines.

Why cannot we have more of this spirit in business? This exchange of amenities between boss and worker? This clever utilization of talent and ability and its hearty recognition? This real love of humanity, that after all is more precious, even as it is more valuable, than gold; aye, than as refined gold; a thing not purchasable at any mere price?

SNOW REMOVAL

Economic loss due to being snowed-in during the winter months is keenly felt in some sections, consequently the thirty-six States of the snow belt are becoming more active each year in keeping highways always clear. Six years ago only 27,000 miles of State highways were kept open during the winter, but now nine States use a snow-removal process which keeps their whole State highway system clear. The other twenty-seven States carry out plans of varying scope for clearing out 120,000 miles of highway. Whole towns which used to be shut off from the world after every snowstorm will be benefited by the modern swift methods of snow removal.

LETTERS TO The Times

[Name and address of writer must accompany all letters for this column. Letters of a personal nature or involving contentious religious questions are not acceptable.]

From Harry Carr Fans

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Poor W. W. McFarren! He doesn't like Harry Carr on the front page! My chief reasons for taking The Times are Will Rogers and Harry Carr, and so long as I live I hope they will appear on the front page of The Times to start my day right.

OLGA P. McKIBBAN.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] When Mr. W. W. MacFarren writes you criticising Harry Carr for devoting so much space in his column to "Old California," it is not necessary for him to state that he is a recent arrival. There are thousands of real Californians living in Los Angeles who love to hear and read of the old picturesque days of California so full of beauty and romance and I dare say many Middle Westerners find enjoyment and education in reading of the background of the State of their adoption. If there is a State in the Union that has background worth writing about it is certainly California.

Instead of abolishing Harry Carr's column from the front page, I would rather he had two columns devoted to "old California."

ANNA B. NOBLE.

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The letter of W. W. MacFarren in today's Times furnishes me with the opportunity, long desired, of expressing my deep appreciation of Harry Carr's outstanding contributions. I have been a constant reader of The Times for more than twenty years. I want to say that I have never read in any other journals as refreshing or interesting a column as that of Harry Carr's in The Times.

A. D. SHAMEL.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Because people do not choose to live in the past is no argument that they do not care to hear about it. When Harry Carr quits I quit The Times. I enjoy his column. It is so different from the cut and dried modern junk that we have to read nowdays. Long life to Harry Carr and his column."

MRS. HELEN REAM.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In this morning's paper W. W. MacFarren makes boast that there are a few thousand of your readers who would like to see "Front-Page Carr" go away back and sit down. Well, I am one of the several thousand who never fail to read Carr's "Lancer" every day and like it! I am asking MacFarren why he states that Carr wishes to live in the past or seems to live in the past. Is there anything more beautiful than the history of early California and the old missions? It is a good thing that there is some one like Harry Carr who can give us occasional glimpses of "old California." Carr's column is one of a very few in the papers of today which is interesting and so written as never to be boring.

STANLEY D. WILCOX.

SALVATION SEEN IN SOY BEANS

BY SUZANNE PEHKOFF

The soy bean, highly recommended by dietitians and quite neglected by the American people, has found enthusiastic admirers among the soviet commissars. The rank and file of the proletariat has been wavering in its allegiance lately, due to the meager food rations allowed. Hit folks in the stomach or pocketbook and an indignant outcry will inevitably result. The Russians have no pocketbooks under the new dispensation, but they still retain their stomachs, though they have little to put in them.

The government heads were becoming agitated over the situation when some bright soul bethought him of the soy bean and the vast assortment of dishes that can be made from it. Anything from soup and bread on up to candy can be contrived from this humble but healthful legume.

The bean is now spoken or respectfully as "our young revolutionary Chinese ally." Farmers are being urged to plant it extensively and city dwellers to work up a taste for it. The government propagandists have been carrying on an extensive advertising campaign to acquaint the public with its varied uses. "Plant soy beans," runs one of these adds, "and you plant milk, meat and egg omelets."

The Reds have compiled two cook books of recipes for soy foods, and restaurants and homes are being circularized to get them interested in such dishes. Special training classes to teach cooks the preparation of this new food have been started in all the cities and large towns. Dinners comprised entirely of soy beans in various guises are served at factory and governmental dinners and the Soy Institute of Moscow recently held an exposition of 130 varieties of soy dishes.

GOLF LESSONS' FEES TO RISE

Supt. Hoyt Asserts Present Charge Much too Low to Inspire Confidence

On the ground that its present charge for individual golf instruction at the Griffith Park playground is so low that it raises the question of the quality of the instruction in the opinion of patrons, the present charge of 50 cents for each half hour of such instruction has been raised to $1 by the Playground and Recreation Commission on recommendation of Supt. Hoyt.

The rise of 2the2 fee to $1 will be effective December 1. Group instruction charges are to remain the same, being 25 cents a person for groups of from five to nine, and 10 cents per person for groups of ten or more.

DRILL TEAM CELEBRATES

SEA-TO-SEA PLANE LINE PUNCTUAL

Ninety-five Per Cent of All Trips Completed by Transcontinental Craft

Completing 95 per cent of its scheduled flights in the first two weeks of operation, Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., the first all-air mail and passenger line between Los Angeles and New York, has done much to dispel the belief held in some quarters that air service between the Middle West and the Atlantic Coast must necessarily be irregular because of weather conditions.

Such was the statement made last night by H. W. Beck, western region traffic manager. He continued:

"Of the fourteen flights scheduled out of New York, it was necessary to cancel only two because of weather conditions. Five of the fourteen flights scheduled to arrive in New York in the evening were canceled short of their destination, but three of the cancellations were because of darkness rather than the weather. It is expected that the airway will be lighted for night operation about the first of the year, at which time a twenty-four-hour service from coast to coast will be inaugurated, with planes flying both day and night.

"In establishing its record of 95 per cent completed flights Transcontinental and Western Air flew 152,304 miles for an average of 10,880 miles daily compared with 11,256 miles scheduled daily."

Woman Given $15,163 Verdict for Injuries

Mrs. Margaret A. Dodd yesterday was given a $15,163 verdict against the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company for injuries testified to have been suffered by her when run over by a bicycle ridden by a Postal Telegraph messenger.

An attempt to prove Mrs. Dodd a "professional plaintiff" failed after the jury refused to consider evidence that she had been injured twenty-three years ago while alighting from an automobile and had been hurt in 1921 while getting off a street car. In 1925 she nearly died from taking sleeping powders by mistake and in 1926 she was seriously injured when a pistol she was examining went off.

Court Summons Screen Writer

Luther Reed, screen writer, must appear in Superior Judge Westover's court the 28th inst. to testify why his first wife, Naomi Childers Reed of New York, should not collect $250 a week alimony ordered to have been paid several months ago.

Superior Judge Doran heard testimony yesterday that Reed was considerably behind in his payments. Attorney Roger Marchetti represented Mrs. Reed.

Suspect Loses Footrace With Fast Detective

Dashing out of Central Station, Jack Carson, 39 years of age, accused shoplifter, led detectives on a swift chase along Hill street yesterday. He dodged around pedestrians, causing excitement, but could not shake off Detective Lieutenant Moug, who caught him near Third street.

Carson had been twice arrested on charges of shoplifting in downtown department stores. After the first arrest, October 17, last, he was placed on probation, but was again taken into custody yesterday. He was in the room of the bunko squad when, edging close to the door, he made his sudden break.

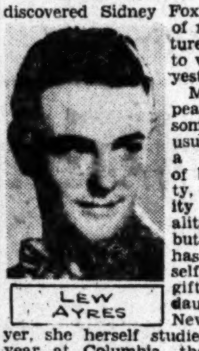
UNIVERSAL TO TEAM PLAYERS

R.-K.-O. Star Gets Lead in "Gold Diggers of Hollywood;" Phillips Holmes Wins Paramount Hero Role; Charles Rogers Seeks New Star

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Universal is looking forward to teaming Lew Ayres and the newly discovered Sidney Fox in a series of romantic pictures, according to word received yesterday.



LEW AYRES

Miss Fox appears to be something unusual as regards a combination of brains, beauty, acting ability and personality. Although but 19 now, she has shown herself variously gifted. The daughter of a New York lawyer, she herself studied law for a year at Columbia, then took up writing for a year. Then the modeling of gowns on Fifth avenue, and thence went to the stage.

Carl Laemmle, Jr., met Miss Fox at a New York party while she was playing in "Lost Sheep." He decided she would do supremely well in pictures, but she refused to have a screen test, fearing, she said, she wouldn't be successful. Lewis Milestone hates making screen tests, so the guileful Carl hit on a plan. He told Lewis Milestone that he knew of an actress that should be a hit in pictures, but that she absolutely refused to let him, Milestone, make a screen test of her. When the director heard of this it was something else again. "Oh, is that so?" he said. "Well, we'll see!" Then Laemmle told Miss Fox that Milestone was a wonderful director, but refused to make a test of her. She, too, said in effect, "Oh, is that so!"

The upshot of it all was that both, being piqued, decided to win the other over and consented to a meeting, with the result that a screen test was made and Miss Fox came forth as one of the most brilliant possibilities so far discovered for the talkers.

The actress, we hear, will play the leading feminine role in John Murray Anderson's picture, not yet titled. It is possible that Lew Ayres also will appear in the picture in the male lead, with Charlotte Greenwood featured in the comedy role.

RITA LAROY STARS IN TEC-ART FILM

For the first time in her professional career, at least since she came into pictures, Rita Laroy is to have practice in playing the role of a good girl. She leaves behind her a long trail of film vamps.

RITA LA ROY

Miss Laroy has been loaned by Radio Pictures to Tec-Art to play the leading feminine role in "Gold Diggers of Hollywood," the role being that of a sweet little extra girl come to Hollywood looking for a career.

Bill O'Connor will direct the picture, which is to be made as a special.

PHILLIPS HOLMES GIVEN NEW LEAD

That very busy young actor, Phillips Holmes, has just been assigned by Paramount to another highly pleasant job, that of playing opposite Nancy Carroll.

PHILLIPS HOLMES

Holmes left last night for New York, where he is to play the featured male lead in "Stolen Heaven," which George Abbott will direct.

"Stolen Heaven" is an original story by Dana Burnet. Holmes has a number of distinguished roles to his credit of late, including "Criminal Code," "Grumpy" and "Her Man."

Rogers Searches for Lead

Charles R. Rogers seems to be a very optimistic man. He is looking about for a young actress, beautiful and talented enough to play three widely diverse leading roles in as many pictures. She must be young to fulfill the requirements of all three leads; she must be talented in order to portray varied emotions, and she must not be too well known, as he wishes to develop a star.

The stories in which this paragon will appear will be Nevis Shane's "Dark Flame," John Farrow's "Registered Woman" and Robert W. Chambers's "The Common Law."

Roland With Universal

It looks as though either Gilbert Roland is not to be Norma Talmadge's leading man in her next United Artists' picture, or that the actress will postpone the making of it until he finishes the engagement for which he is about to be contracted.

GILBERT ROLAND

Roland, we hear, will play the leading male role in Universal's Spanish version of "Resurrection," shortly to go into production, under supervision of Paul Kohner, who is in charge of all Universal's foreign-version pictures.

We learn also that French and German versions of "Resurrection" are to be made.

And, by the way, following the rule that practice makes perfect, Edwin Carewe's current Universal English version of "Resurrection" is said to be even better than its United Artists predecessor. The current one, of course, is a talker.

Vin Moore's Next

Director Vin Moore's next Universal will be a picture cofeaturing Harry Langdon and Slim Summerville.

The duo of comics played in "See America Thirst," you remember, and the comedy promises to be a knockout. The new picture will be a travesty on society and sex pictures.

Roles Straightened Out

From Jules Raucourt comes somewhat excited word that he and not Gaston Glass will play Ian Keith's role in Fox's French version of "The Big Trail," and so we are pleased to make the correction.

Gaston Glass will play the leading role, that essayed by John Wayne in the English film.

Occult Writer in Court Fight

Mrs. Ida E. Lawrence, writer on occult subjects, yesterday appeared in Superior Judge Gould's court to conduct her legal fight to hold interest in Montebello property valued at $22,500. She and her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Peacock, are named defendants in William J. Gunn's action to quiet title in the property.

Judge Gould granted a continuance until the 19th inst., to permit Mrs. Lawrence's attorney, Walter E. Bennett, to call additional witnesses.

GUILTY PLEA ENTERED BY ACCUSED AUTOIST

Frederick Wise of 806 Woodlawn avenue, Venice, yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of driving his automobile while intoxicated. Superior Judge Fricke granted him permission to file an application for probation, which will be heard on the 28th inst.

World Institute of Y.W.C.A. to Offer Displays

Seventh annual international day will be observed today at the International Institute of the Young Woman's Christian Association at 435 South Boyle avenue.

There will be a fair in progress from 11 a.m. until late in the evening with offerings on display from Armenia, China, Japan, Korea, India, Russia, Sweden, Germany, France, Ukrainia and other countries. At 8 p.m. there will be an international program consisting of musical and dance numbers presented by artists of many nationalities.

An opportunity will be given, according to Mrs. George Herbert Clark, chairman of the institute, to guests to meet groups of the different nationalities living in the city. The committee in charge of the affairs for the day is comprised of Mrs. Emory Bogardus, chairman; Mrs. Frank A. Payne, Miss Rose F. Smith and Mrs. Sumner Spaulding.

YOUNG WIFE TELLS OF QUICK SEPARATION

Their honeymoon waned to separation, Mrs. Edna Josephine Johnston yesterday told Superior Judge Tappaan in winning a divorce from Harry Curtis Johnston. They married September 2, last, and separated two weeks later. The wife, 19 years of age, instituted suit through her mother, Mrs. Edna E. Clifford. "Eight days after we married, he punched me in the face, knocking me down in the Benson Hotel, Portland," asserted Mrs. Johnston. "On September 12, he took my wedding ring and pawned it. While in our hotel room he threatened to throw me out of a window. On September 14 he refused to buy me food, and I lived on a small box of candy until my mother wired me some money."

DETECTIVE BURLESQUE REVIVED

Talking Film of 'Gorilla' on View at Warner Theater, With Gribbon and Frisco

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Messrs. Mulligan and Garrity, those indefatigable sleuths, are out to get their man—pardon me, monkey—again, on the screen at Warner Brothers Downtown Theater. You will remember them, of course, as the comedy detectives of "The Gorilla," and in the talkie version they are portrayed by Harry Gribbon and Joe Frisco. Or perhaps it should be Joe Frisco and Harry Gribbon, although they are both about equally funny.

"The Gorilla," by this time, is almost a classic. It had a long and popular run as a stage play, and a silent version was shown a few years ago. Any adaptation made at this time would therefore have its routine aspects.

However, the new revivification of the Ralph Spence comedy melodrama has sundry novel twists, as well as some of the older tricks, and therefore will pass as fairly popular entertainment. Laughs due to scary events and the repartee of the comedy detectives furnish diversion, and the mystery and suspense underlying the humor are enlivening. Doubtless, just about the best that might be expected of a play idea that has naturally lost some of its freshness, but is still a rather good idea.

Everything happens on the estate of a certain Cyrus Stevens, just outside of New York. Here Mulligan and Garrity are assigned to track down a huge ape that is supposed to have done several killings. Stevens is marked as the gorilla's next victim. The hour for the fatal deed is set at midnight.

On the stroke thereof, when the foredoomed one and his friends are in the library of his home, a hairy arm is seen to be thrust into the room to turn out the light switch. And that's the start. Disappearances, reappearances, presto, chango, happen with clock-like regularity, and often with a heartening sort of gayety. The picture is hardly to be taken seriously, because it is so full of hokum, but that's rather in the game with "The Gorilla."

Aside from Frisco and Gribbon, who are good, Walter Pidgeon, Lila Lee, Edwin Maxwell, Roscoe Karns and Purnell Pratt are importantly present. The colored servant enacted by William Philbrick is one of the biggest inspirations for uproariousness.

On the program with this feature are two short films—one "Politics" with George Jessel, and the other "Knocking 'Em Cold" with Andrew Tombes. Jessel's talk is frequently witty.

Screen Record of Adventurer at Filmarte

In the heart of Africa there still exist tribes of human beings who have progressed no further than the Stone Age. Principal among these tribes are the Bushmen, killers by instinct and occupation.

A search for this strange specimen of humanity resulted in an expedition under the supervision of Dr. C. Ernest Cadle for the Denver Museum of Natural History. Thoughtfully, Dr. Cadle recorded his travels with the camera and the title of his picture is "Wild Men of Kalahari," which is now showing at the Filmarte Theater.

Dr. Cadle has in his film given a comprehensive, if superficial, survey of southern and interior Africa. He starts his journey in Capetown and travels northward to Zanzibar and thence he invades the beautiful, treacherous heart of an uncivilized country.

What instinct for the dramatic Dr. Cadle lacks is somewhat compensated for by enlightening sketches of native life. Humor and grace characterize his insight into the Zulu clan, once lords of creation and now pullers of carts.

But it is the Bushmen on which interest centers; wild men of the lowest strata of civilization. Remarkable views of their habits and customs have been captured by the camera; but their very peaceful nature destroys the excitement which one expects from a band of professional hunters.

In all his entire chronicle Dr. Cadle has obtained no better moment than that in which he introduces a phonograph to these animal creatures. This part is really an amazing achievement.

On the generous list of short subjects which the Filmarte offers on its program for the week are to be found a comedy entitled "Father's Advice," which features Will King. It could be funnier.

There are also a badly recorded musical burlesque, "Italian Marionettes," and another of the Music Master series, "Franz Liszt." This endeavors to portray the circumstances in the composer's life which prompted the writing of his Second Hungarian Rhapsody and "Liebestraum." Nathaniel Shilkret and his orchestra accompany.

Pietro Gentile Well Received at Auditorium

Pietro Gentile, tenor, assisted by Ruth Bowes, pianist, and the composers, Homer Simmons, Mary Carr Moore, George Liebling and Gertrude Ross, gave a benefit recital at the Philharmonic Auditorium last night. The occasion was dedicated to the Mothers' Memorial, sponsored by Mrs. C. C. Calhoun. Mrs. Calhoun spoke at length on behalf of the proposed establishment of a temple in Washington, D. C., as a memorial to mothers.

Mr. Gentile's program included "The Sun-Rise Call," by Carlos Troyer; "Vision Fugitive," from Massenet's "Herodiade," "Chant Hindou," by Bemberg; an Italian group with guitar and piano accompaniment; compositions by the four Los Angeles composers mentioned above; Chinese Love Lyrics by Franklin Harris and the Chant du Toreador from Bizet's "Carmen." The songs were well received by a small audience.

This afternoon Fritz Kreisler will play a representative violin program, and this evening Walter Gieseking will give his third piano recital within the week, both at Philharmonic Auditorium.

"BIG HOUSE" PRESENTED IN SPANISH

"El Presidio" Enacted on International Screen by Capable Latin Cast

BY SALVADOR BAGUEZ

Filled with continuous action and depicting the grim routine of penitentiary life, "El Presidio," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's newest contribution to the galaxy of Spanish talkies, was presented for the first time anywhere and with a gala premiere at the California International Theater last night.

Taken from the story by Frances Marion, with the dialogue of Miss Marion and Joe Farnham translated by Edgar Neville and directed by Ward Wing, "El Presidio" is the Spanish adaptation of "The Big House," that excellent picture which helped so much to re-establish Wallace Beery, whose fine portrayal of the role of "Killer" Butch was possibly the best delineated character of the picture.

Suffice it to say that this latest M.-G.-M. Spanish audible screen offering is identical to the English version in almost every respect, save that it lacks the latter's colloquial speech so typical of most convicts. It should be realized, however, that it is impossible to adapt the proper slang of all the different Spanish-speaking countries of the world and the result—as may well be imagined—is a picture presenting a large group of prisoners using the Spanish language at its best.

To offset this slight and unavoidable error, there is the commendable work of Jose Crespo, who portrays his role of Morgan with the same sympathetic charm that Chester Morris displayed in the original version. There is also the very good characterization of Tito Davidson, who reveals himself an actor of great promise. And of course one must not forget Juan De Landa, whose interpretation of the role created by Beery will long be remembered as one of the best.

Luana Alcaniz, beautiful actress from Spain making her debut in America, appears in the film undoubtedly to add a touch of romance to an otherwise glamourless but novel melodrama and gives a commendable performance. Juan De Homs, as the warden, Luis Llaneza, as an old guard, and Giovanni Martino as chief of the guards, give portrayals of quality, as do Alma Real, Romualdo Tirado, Gabry Rivas and others.

Preceding the customary presentation of the members of the cast from the stage, a short, a comedy and newsreel were shown.

Thrills Mark New Picture at Majestic

The chief interest of "The Fourth Alarm," a Standard production which opened yesterday at the Majestic Theater, lies in the fire sequences near the finish of the picture. They are handled in a thrilling manner, and for a certain type of audience the film will no doubt be pleasing. The story is of no consequence other than as a good lead up to the big fire.

The cast of "The Fourth Alam" includes Nick Stuart, Ann Christy, Tom Santschi, Harry Howen, Ralph Lewis and Jack Richardson. Philip H. Whitman directed from a story by Scott Littleton.

Stuart plays the youthful smoke-eater son of the fire chief, Ralph Lewis, and meets the millionaire's daughter, Miss Christy, when he suffers a broken leg to avoid crashing a truck into her auto. They fall in love and as a climax Stuart again saves her after she has gone to the top floor of her father's chemical plant to investigate Stuart's charge that her father is making nitroglycerine. Fire breaks out about this time and the scene is all set for the gallant deed.

Tom Santschi portrays the father of the girl and does a good job. Stuart is likeable and Miss Christy plays the straight heroine role, quite a departure from her comedy appearances, capably enough.

"The Fourth Alarm" is a fair program attraction and it would seem well fitted to play as half of a double bill. The thrills are its main asset. A newsreel, cartoon and short comedy complete the Majestic program.

'Doctor Klaus' Just Good Old 'Folk' Theater

BY JACOB COOPER

It seems as though a play does not have to have a good plot—or any plot at all, for that matter—in order to hold the interest of an audience. This was quite evident last night when the Neuhaus German players presented "Doctor Klaus" at the Wilshire Ebell Theater.

This old play by Adolph L'Arronge dates back some fifty or sixty years ago, when all that was required was to make an audience laugh or cry, or both, and no weapons barred. There was some sort of a plot in "Doctor Klaus," but it was so negligbile and conspicuous by its long protracted absences in the general action that it did not count at all.

Instead, the performance consisted of a patchwork of characterizations, episodes of humor and touches of melodrama. In this episodic treatment which was almost kaleidoscopic lay the entire interest.

There is nothing "arty" about it. It is just good, old "folk" theater in which there is something for every member of the family and every sort of taste. Comedy, however, had the upper hand.

Starting out with a situation of a young girl who is married to an impoverished nobleman and ignorant of the fact that her father is supporting him, the play then goes into its second act which is something else altogether. The home of Dr. Klaus is then presented and with it the two or three characters who really stand out in the play through force of their lines and acting. The story commenced in the first act is then cheerfully forgotten and only brought up again as an occasional breathing spell.

From the standpoint of audience reaction, the honors of the performance go to Otto Kottka for his portrayal of the laconic lackey in the Klaus household who has Aesculapian aspirations and prefixed every noun with "so called." His dry humor was very catching and a scene in which he attempts to doctor a peasant is fraught with much that has been overlooked by movie gag writers.

A very excellent performance was given by Berthold Sprotte in the name role, and some more good comedy was furnished by Kurt Herrnfeld who proved himself an able comedian in last year's performances.

The balance of the cast contained some fine talent, but not much opportunity was given for its display.

Y.M.C.A. Group Plans to Attend "The Big Trail"

Fox West Coast Theaters will play host to members of the Y.M.C.A. at Grauman's Chinese Theater today with a special showing of Raoul Walsh's "The Big Trail."

"The Big Trail" will be seen for the last time on the 23rd inst. Reservations are now being made for the gala premiere of "Morocco" to be held on the 25th inst.

JOYMAKERS OFFER STAGE FARCE TODAY

"Fun in a Chinese Laundry," a farce comedy, will be presented by the Joymakers of the Harrison-Wallack Studio in the school's theater this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Joymakers, under the direction of Edwin W. Wallack, Mme. Morgan Machon and Mlle. Prager, have been rehearsing for some time on the production, and the proceeds gained from the performance are to be turned over to the Community Chest.

ACTRESS AT UNIVERSAL

Helen Twelvetrees, who is at present enacting the name role in "Millie," at Universal, will begin work at Pathe, her home studio, as soon as the other production is completed. She was loaned to Charles Rogers for the picture while a suitable story was being prepared for her at Pathe.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

RAYMOND HACKETT, the actor, who did such a fine job of the boy in "The Trial of Mary Dugan," when that play ran at the Mason a season or so ago, is going to reappear on the Los Angeles stage. He is going to play the leading role in "Up Pops the Devil" for Belasco and Curran, which will be one of that firm's next vehicles. It seems that Raymond is the brother of Albert Hackett, who helped write the comedy and who is to be seen in it in New York.

And furthermore, one of the local rialto scouts reports that the play will arrive at the Belasco on Christmas Day.

"East Lynne" in Laguna

Folks who, undaunted by the crisp weather, may be hieing themselves toward the southern beaches and Agua Caliente this week-end, have a treat in store for them if they stop off at Laguna Beach and witness the pretentious production of "East Lynne" to be seen there this evening. The famous old sobby is being done to the hilt by a group of villagers.

Modern Youth Frolics About at Warner's

A pleasantly trivial effort entitled "The Truth About Youth" came yesterday to Warner Brothers' Hollywood Theater and will probably serve this next week to pass the time for folks who want their movie fare a la cream puff—insipid and sugary.

"The Truth About Youth," according to this, is that you never know what young folks are thinking about.

The well-mannered youth who should be terribly in love with the pretty girl has, instead, fallen with a crash for a sexy, hard-mouthed wriggling cabaret dancer. And the pretty girl, who, according to all precedent, should be that way about the youth, has, instead, a tremendous crush on the lad's guardian.

The plot is vaguely reminiscent of a half-dozen other plots, and is, perhaps, based on some stage play or another.

David Manners plays the handsome and willful boy who fails to live up to his guardian's expectations and falls into company far too sophisticated for him. Loretta Young is the sweet young thing. Conway Tearie is the guardian. Myrna Loy is the menace.

They make a handsome quartet and do the best they can with trite situations and lines. William Seiter directed.

For those interested, there is an excellent Times-Universal newsreel with Graham McNamee talking. And there are a couple of Vitaphone varieties, one called "Curses" and the other presenting Charles Hackett, the tenor.

Last Week of Farce Slated at El Capitan

Charlotte Greenwood will wave farewell to El Capitan Theater on the 22nd inst., when she makes her final appearance in "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath."

With a record of eight weeks already to her credit, Miss Greenwood at the end of her engagement will have closely approached her own record of thirteen weeks at El Capitan.

In addition to her characterization of Polly Hathaway, ambitious newspaper reporter, in the farce, Miss Greenwood also sings a comedy number after the second act.

Johnny Arthur plays the chief comedy role, while other members of the cast include Sally Starr, John Litel, Grace Stafford and Mia Marvin. Dale Winter and Henry Duffy in "Michael and Mary" will be the attraction to follow "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," into El Capitan on the 23rd inst.

"Billy the Kid" Proves Popular at Criterion

According to announcement from the Criterion Theater, the public during the past week showed more than an ordinary interest in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer "Realife" production of "Billy the Kid." Attendance during the week showed an unusual increase, it is reported.

Usually the opening week of an attraction sets the pace for the balance of an engagement, but it is said that "Billy the Kid" is an exception to the rule.

The picture was directed by King Vidor and is an adaptation of Walter Noble Burns's "Saga of Billy the Kid."

Heading the cast is Johnny Mack Brown in the name role. Other players are Kay Johnson, Wallace Beery, Roscoe Ates, Wyndham Standing, Russell Simpson and Karl Dane.

Sunday Night Shows Resumed

Owing to the popularity of Dorothy Burgess in "The Bird of Flame," now playing at the Belasco Theater, and the briefness of the engagement, the management announces that Sunday evening performances for the remainder of the engagement have been arranged.

It has been the policy of the Belasco, the management asserts, to eliminate Sunday performances whenever possible, but in the case of popular attractions and short engagements, they will be offered to accommodate those who are unable to secure seats for other performances.

The usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given during the remainder of the run.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

WHAT KIND OF MILK?

Many people are doubtful as to whether they should use raw, pasteurized or evaporated milk. The difference is not as great as many people suppose. Any kind of milk is good milk as long as it is clean and uncontaminated. The type for you to use depends more on where you are located than upon any difference in nourishing qualities. Here is a short summary of the different kinds of milk:

Raw milk in its fresh, uncooked state contains practically all the elements needed for the body's nutrition. If you are living on a farm and can get your milk fresh and clean from a healthy cow you cannot obtain any better kind of milk than raw milk. If you are living in the city, however, it is better to get the pasteurized milk or evaporated milk unless you can afford the certified inspected milk which, because of the special care it requires in handling, is usually somewhat more expensive than the other forms of milk. The raw milk does not keep as well as the pasteurized, and if you cannot use your milk soon after you buy it, it is better to use the pasteurized milk.

Pasteurized milk is the safest method of providing fresh milk to large communities. It is probably the best plan for the average family in cities to depend upon this type of milk for their milk supply, but they should use in addition to it some orange juice or tomato juice, for a large part of the Vitamin C, which is contained in raw milk, is lost during the pasteurizing process. The loss of vitamin C in pasteurized milk does not interfere with any of the other nutritional properties of the milk and babies will grow just as well, provided they obtain some of the vitamin C foods in addition. If milk must travel, it is much easier to handle if pasteurized and usually safer.

Evaporated milk is canned, unsweetened milk from which much of the water of fresh milk has been evaporated. More of this kind of milk is sold than all the other forms of concentrated milk added together. This milk is almost a necessity in districts where no fresh milk can be obtained. Milk was designed by nature to be used immediately. The tin can overcomes this difficulty and brings to the consumer a container of milk which is both sweet and clean and with a good taste. Evaporated milk is always safe to use, as it is free from all live bacteria when you open the can. Experiments have proven that evaporated unsweetened milk can be safely used in an infant's diet provided some of the foods containing vitamin C, such as orange juice or tomato juice are used in addition. Some babies seem to digest evaporated milk better than the fresh milk, and for this reason evaporated milk is coming to be quite a popular baby food.

Dried milk or powdered milk is a creamy powder made of milk solids with most of the water removed. Both the powered whole and powdered skimmed milk are available. This type of milk is especially valuable in out-of-the-way places and is useful on hiking trips, exploration camps, etc., where the weight is an important item. The dried milk is the whole milk with only the water removed. For this reason it may be used in place of fresh milk even for feeding infants, providing some of the foods containing vitamin C are used in addition. Dried milk is proving quite popular for the manufacture of ice cream, milk chocolate, bakery products and synthetic cream. A drink tasting very much like fresh milk may be made by adding water.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

GRANDMA'S SOUP

Place in a kettle one and one-half cupfuls of peeled and chopped leeks, one and one-half cupfuls of finely chopped cabbage, one cupful of finely chopped onion, one and one-half cupfuls of peeled, and chopped celery; add enough cold water to cover. Bring to a boil and when the vegetables are beginning to get tender, add a seasoning of salt and pepper, and simmer until all the vegetables are soft. Add two cupfuls of hot milk, and serve with croutons or toasted French rolls.

REDONDO SALAD

Rub a cold bowl with a clove of crushed garlic, and mix in it two cupfuls of cooked, and flaked halibut or canned tuna, two cupfuls of cubed, cold boiled potatoes, two cupfuls of finely shredded cabbage, four finely chopped young green onions, the chopped whites of two hard-boiled eggs, and two teaspoonfuls of finely chopped parsley, and a seasoning of salt and paprika. Take one-half a cupful of oil, mix with it three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, and pour over the salad. Mound on lettuce-covered plates, and garnish with the yolks of the hard-boiled eggs pressed through a sieve and ripe olives.

SPONGE DROPS

Beat the yolks of three eggs until thick and creamy and slowly beat into them half a cupful of sifted sugar, one teaspoonful of lemon juice and half a teaspoonful of grated orange rind, beat until light and lemon colored; beat the whites of the eggs until stiff and dry, adding to them half a teaspoonful of salt. Sift half a cupful of flour and fold it into the beaten yolks of the eggs, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Drop from the tip of a spoon onto a baking sheet, sprinkle with powdered sugar, and bake in a slow oven. When cool remove from the sheet and put together with a tart jelly.

OYSTERS CREOLE

Heat five tablespoonfuls of olive oil in a saute pan, add two finely chopped onions, one shredded green pepper and one crushed clove of garlic; stir and cook until the onion is lightly browned. Drain off the oil, add two cupfuls of canned or fresh tomatoes, two teaspoonfuls of chili powder, half a teaspoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of chopped parsley; stir and cook for ten minutes, add two cupfuls of drained oysters; cook for four minutes and pour over squares of buttered toast.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

SELF-CHOSEN DIET OF LITERATURE IS BENEFICIAL TO CHILD

Recently a doctor completed three years' experiment in allowing small children, almost babies, to select their own diets. She found that while the child drank copiously of cod-liver oil on some days, on other days it was not touched. The child might eat heartily of eggs and then not touch them for a week. All the foods given were those that rightfully appear in the child's diet, but no effort was made to influence the child to make a "balanced" choice. The result was excellent. The children grew and thrived and really managed to give themselves the right foods by their hit-and-miss choices.

APPLICATION TO LITERATURE

While this experiment might not appeal to the average mother, who prefers to do her own choosing of rations, it might well be applied to literature. I have a very strong belief that children should be allowed to read the type of literature which appeals to them personally at the moment. Children should be surrounded by the types of books which we know from experience to be valuable to them, but we should not gnash our teeth when their choices are a long way from the conventional ones we might prefer.

The exhibition of undesirable emotions which we are apt to find in certain types of books, the display of mischief which amuses us as well as children, and the playing up of villainy, cupidity, revenge and anger are seldom demoralizing to the child reader. In fact, it may be safer for the child to experience such emotions vicariously through reading than to try them out in real life. I have the mildest of sons, and his reading taste at a certain period of his life was for the most blood-thirsty literature. In fact, the lurid covers of magazines and books which he read at that age were almost nauseating. But with a memory of some of my past and gone interests I let him satisfy himself while I continued to buy him the books I considered good and desirable literature. Just as I expected, the interest is now completely dead; in fact, deader, I feel, than if he had never read such books.

BENEFITS OF VARIED READING

When the girl reaches adolescence, she begins to have tastes over which we have less control. She submerges herself in romantic and emotionally "messy" fiction which has no relation whatever to real life. I cannot see that this interest, like the boy's, is anything but temporary. The state is personally satisfying at the moment, and is, therefore, valuable for that very reason.

It is inevitable that our choices of literature for children, even a publisher's choices, are made when our experience gives books a meaning and flavor they cannot possess for children. In fact, most of us are not honest enough to confess that previously we had tastes of which we now feel ashamed. It is, I feel, valuable for the child to learn discrimination, and to develop his own sense of values through all kinds of reading. Like the hit-and-miss choices of the baby who eats what he wants when he wants it, the results are usually excellent.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

THE THING THAT HAPPENED

A thing at first may be perplexing
And end in being sadly vexing.
—Peter Rabbit.

There was nothing strange in the sudden disappearance of Whitefoot the Wood Mouse. He is such a timid little fellow that he disappears at the slightest sound or movement. You see, there are so many hungry folk looking for Whitefoot that he cannot afford to take any chances. So he is forever dodging out of sight when there is no need to dodge, simply because he is not sure. Peter Rabbit knew this and waited for him to return.

But suddenly something happened that put all thought of Whitefoot from Peter's mind. He heard a song, the same pretty little song that had so surprised and then puzzled him before, the dream songs, as his friends called it. You should have seen the sudden way in which Peter sat up, and the look of surprise and delight on his face. Eagerly he looked for the singer, but in vain. Not a bird was to be seen. Yet that that song came from the throat of a bird Peter hadn't a shadow of doubt.

Once more he heard that little song. This time he was certain that it came from a little tree back of that big old stump. Peter hurried around to the other side of the stump and eagerly looked for the singer. He could see all through that little tree. No one was there. He was sure of it. The little singer must have flown before he got where he could see. Anyway, this is what Peter thought.

"What are you looking for in that little tree?" asked the squeaky voice of Whitefoot the Wood Mouse.

Peter turned to find Whitefoot peering down at him from the top of the old stump. "Oh, Whitefoot, did you hear it?" cried Peter eagerly.

"What?" asked Whitefoot.

"That song!" replied Peter excitedly. "I heard it twice. Didn't you hear it!"

"It must have been while I was gone," said Whitefoot. "Where did it come from?"

"I thought it came from this little tree, but I couldn't be sure of it," replied Peter. "I hurried around here, but if the singer was here he had flown before I could get a glimpse of him. Of course, he may not have been in this tree. You know how hard it is to tell just where the whistle of Winsome Bluebird comes from; it seems to come from everywhere and nowhere in particular. It sounds way off when Winsome is right near, and sometimes it sounds near when Winsome is some distance away. I think this song must be like that. Oh, dear, I do wish you could hear it. Let's keep still awhile and perhaps we will hear it."

"Oh, Whitefoot, did you hear it?" cried Peter, eagerly.

So Peter and Whitefoot kept very still for a long time, but the little singer did not sing again. "He must have flown away," said Peter at last with a sigh of disappointment.

"Perhaps you frightened him," said Whitefoot. "Excuse me a minute. I won't be gone long." He ran down the side of the old stump and scurried away along one of his secret little paths.

Not two minutes after Whitefoot disappeared Peter heard that pretty little song again. This time Peter was sure that it came from some bushes growing around an old log on the ground and nearly hiding it. He wanted to rush over there, but feared to frighten the singer. He wished Whitefoot would return. Perhaps the two of them together might find that singer.

"Well," squeaked Whitefoot, "what are you staring at now?" He was back on the old stump.

"Oh, Whitefoot, what did you go away for? I heard that song again while you were gone and this time I am sure it came from among those bushes over there," cried Peter.

"You go over there and I'll watch to see if anyone flies," said Whitefoot.

So Peter hopped over to the bushes while Whitefoot kept watch from the top of the stump. Peter hunted and hunted and Whitefoot kept watch, but all in vain.

"It certainly is queer," said Peter.

"Isn't it?" replied Whitefoot.

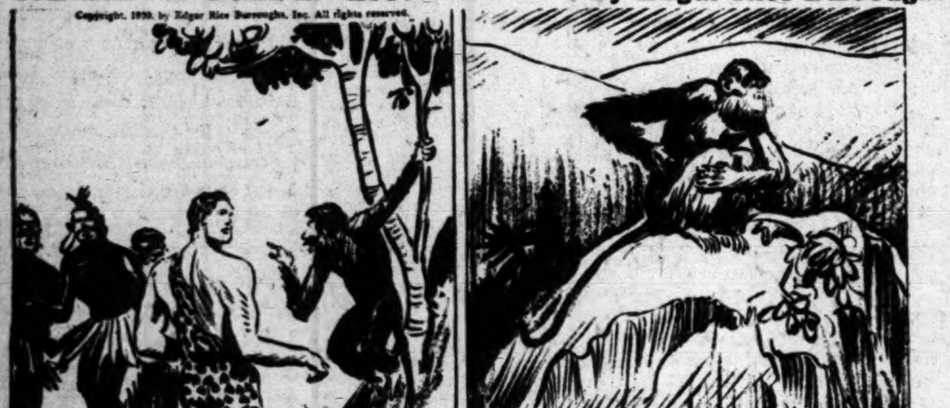
TARZAN AND THE GOLDEN LION

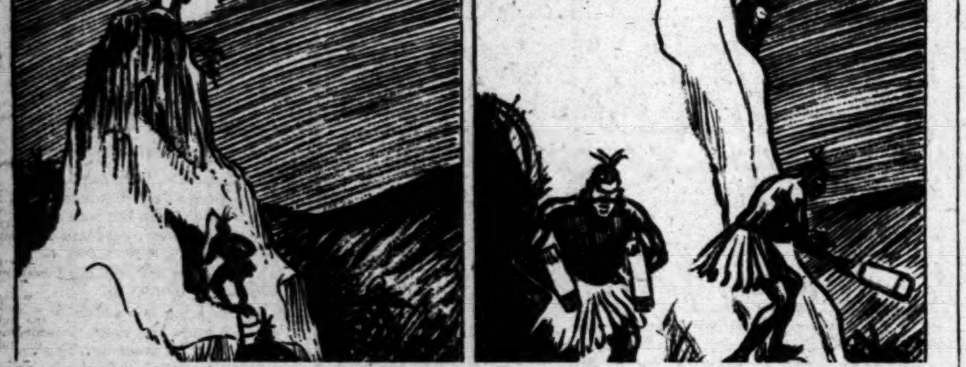
By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Copyright, 1930, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.



"Tarzan," cried Manu, the monkey, in the language that was common to both of them, "it is Manu, Tarzan, come to warn you. Do not go to Opar. Cadj and his people wait to slay you." The white man and the blacks looked up at the sound of his chattering voice. Seeing it was only a monkey making the great racket, the blacks returned to their slave tasks. The white man similarly ignored the words of warning. Manu knew the blacks could not understand his language, but he knew the big white man could. He couldn't comprehend why "Tarzan" failed to pay any attention to him whatsoever.

Again and again he called Tarzan by name, shrieking his warning anew. But the great Tarmangani seemed not to hear or understand him. Manu was mystified. Why should Tarzan of the Apes be so indifferent to the warnings of his old friend? At last the little monkey gave up. He trembled at the thought of recrossing the valley, for he knew his enemies prowled by night. He scratched himself and hugged his knees—a very forlorn and unhappy little monkey.



But he knew he was safe on the high kopje and decided to stay there during the night. The full moon rose. By its light Manu saw "Tarzan" urging his men to mount the completed ladders. Manu had never seen the white man so cruel and rough with his natives. When they had all ascended, "Tarzan" followed. Manu saw them disappear, apparently into the heart of the great rock. . . . Some hours later they commenced to reappear and now each black man was burdened by two heavy objects carried in both arms.

Manu watched these men cast their burdens, looking like oblong stones, over the edge of the kopje. Then they descended to the ground, lowered the ladder and hid it. They took the blocks which they had brought forth from the heart of the kopje and following "Tarzan" set out to march away. Manu was certainly puzzled. But he knew the ways of men were peculiar. Were they not always loading themselves with trinkets which impeded their progress and otherwise making life complicated? Manu congratulated himself he was not a man, yawned—and fell asleep.

Dr. Munro, who has been active in supervising the plans and construction of the new dormitory group, appears unconcerned at the turn of events that has placed the organization and operation of the $1,000,000 plant in the hands of minors.

"I have implicit confidence that the three representatives selected will return with a better plan than the faculty could work out and that their report will be adopted," he declared.

ARMITAGE'S RETIREMENT CONFIRMED

Manager's Announcement on Grand Opera Change Forecast by "Times"

Merle Armitage, manager of the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association for seven years, announced yesterday that he will not be with the organization next year.

First news of Mr. Armitage's retirement was printed in The Times three weeks ago in an interview with David T. Babcock, president of the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association for the past year. Mr. Babcock stated at that time that no new contracts could be let for manager or singers until a new guarantee fund for the opera is raised, the five-year guarantee having expired this year.

Gaetano Merola, director of the San Francisco and Los Angeles Grand Opera Companies, left last week for New York and Europe to engage artists.

The withdrawal of Mr. Armitage as manager of the Los Angeles association will change the aspect of local opera measurably. He came to this city to reside permanently nine years ago, having previously managed tours of well-known opera companies and internationally known artists across the country. After two years as manager of the Fitzgerald Concert Bureau, Mr. Armitage and Mr. Merola started the present Los Angeles Grand Opera Association.

industrial district, 58 per cent; Beverly Hills, 100.80 per cent, and West Los Angeles, 96 per cent, with unreported subscriptions that will take it well over the top, the district chairman reported.

The business district silver trophy, awarded to the team having the highest percentage at a certain point in the campaign, and to be awarded permanently to the team which leads in any three campaigns, was presented yesterday to Sam Tierman, vice-chairman of division No. 5, with 105 per cent of its goal. This trophy was donated by Mr. Kerr.

The trophy for the industrial division, presented by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, was awarded to Sam Haver, division No. 206, with a score of 72 per cent. In the central division the William Lacy cup was awarded to Will G. Farrell, committee No. 18, with 159.72 per cent and for the residential district the honors went to Mrs. Lewis Scheller, district E, with 102 per cent.

Campaign Chairman Kerr closed the meeting with the encouraging word that the drive this year is $25,149 further toward the goal than it was at the same period in the campaign last year.

Report luncheons were announced for next Tuesday and Friday in the music room at the Biltmore.

WOMAN NOW HAS POLICE BOARD POST

Council Confirms First of Her Sex on Commission; Miss Smith to Study Task

"I have no preconceived idea as to what I shall do. How can one from the outside possibly know what is going on until he has had some experience on the job? I shall observe closely and then make up my mind as to what action I shall take," was the statement of Miss Kate Smith, former vice-principal of the Polytechnic High School, whose appointment to the Police Commission was confirmed by the City Council yesterday.

"I belong to no organization and represent no clique," she continued. "In regard to the present crime wave I have nothing to say at this time, nor have I any measure that I wish to discuss for its suppression. I repeat that I feel that before I make a statement I want to know more about the work I will be called upon to do as a member of the commission."

The City Council, by a vote of thirteen to two, confirmed Mayor Porter's nomination of Miss Smith who will succeed President Thorpe whose term ran out last July, but who has stayed on the board pending the selection of a successor.

Considerable debate preceded the confirmation of Miss Smith. Councilman Martin, chairman of the Police and Fire Committee, which handled the confirmation, opposed the action, while his colleagues on the committee, Ingram and Williams, supported the position taken by the Mayor.

Martin, who has contended all along that the Police Commission is no place for a woman, reiterated that view, declaring that women should not be called upon to hear testimony which at times, "would cause a blush of shame to creep over a man's face."

Williams said he believes Mayor Porter was sincere in nominating Miss Smith to keep a campaign promise to put a woman on the board.

The minority report of Martin, refusing the confirmation, was voted down first, and Martin was joined by Jacobson and McAllister. When it came to confirmation, however, only McAllister voted with Martin in opposition.

Miss Smith, a grammarian, is the first woman ever to serve upon the Los Angeles Police Commission.

PROFESSOR NOW MESSENGER BOY

troscopic observations of stars, to make hundreds of sunspot sketches and to establish a name for himself as an entomologist by reason of a collection he made of rare butterflies.

It was heart-breaking for the college professor when he was told he must give up his books and his indoor work and get a position where he could be in the open air. He had just been offered a high-salaried position with a publishing company but because of the doctor's orders was unable to take it.

Since he was told to get plenty of air he decided to get the best obtainable and came to California. Soon after his arrival he entered the local offices of the Postal Telegraph Company. There, to the astonishment of the employment manager, he asked to be hired as a messenger carrier. Before being given the job the college professor found it necessary to assure his employer that his intentions were sincere.

Cook has since become enamored of his work. He believes it has made a new man of him and that his body has recuperated some of its former strength. He has now decided not to relinquish his position because he is again physically able to write articles for scientific publications, to enlarge his collection of butterflies, to translate books from the German, French and Spanish into English, and to engage in astronomical observation.

Although he lives in a peaceful, quiet neighborhood at his bachelor quarters on West Eighth street, he loves the teeming life of the city. He considers himself a part of it and is deeply interested in new developments. His philosophy of life, gained after years of experience, is that by continually keeping busy, true happiness may be attained.

Above all things, health is the most to be valued, Cook emphatically declares.

"The greatest genius of the age or the most learned man in the world cannot enjoy life if he does not have his health," Cook says after long reflection on his own eventful life. "Work hard, play hard, educate both body and mind, one as much as the other," he advises.

Store Workers Dance Tonight

Employees of the Broadway Department Store will give their annual dance this evening at the Elks' Temple. Several thousand Broadway employees and their friends are expected. Cards also will be enjoyed and there will be a program to which radio artists will contribute.

The proceeds will go toward a Christmas fund to provide gifts for Sawtelle soldiers in the tubercular wards. The patients are the recipients of special attention from the Broadway employees, who have been visiting the hospital monthly for years, giving entertainments and distributing cigarettes, fruit and candy. Larry Frick, president of the employees' association, who is in charge of plans for the ball, announced yesterday that Col. John A. Hadley, governor of Sawtelle Soldiers' Home, and his staff, will be special guests of honor.

TALE OF MATE'S VISIT WINS WIFE DIVORCE

Mrs. Marguerite F. Olney proved to the satisfaction of Superior Judge Doran that her husband, Fred B. Olney, salesman, was in the apartment of another woman when he was supposed to be out of town on a business trip, and as a result her divorce decree was on file yesterday. A witness testified that Olney had appeared at the door of a woman's apartment in his shirt sleeves, after he had not satisfactorily explained to his wife his absence from home.

NEW HARBOR OIL PROJECT READY

Loading Terminal for Cased Products Completed

Will Be Open to Inspection of Visitors Today

Start of $300,000 Plant Set for 20th Inst.

BY WALDO DRAKE

Completion today of the port's $300,000 case-oil terminal, said to be the most fireproof unit in the world, was announced yesterday by the Harbor Department. The new pier, at Berth 181, Wilmington, will be open for inspection today, but will not be placed in operation until the 20th inst.

Designed by George F. Nicholson, harbor engineer, the 440-foot pier, with its 340-foot steel-and-concrete shed, is the first section of the 1000-foot oil-loading terminal projected at the site by the Harbor Department. The present unit has provision for simultaneous loading of case-oil cargoes by two vessels, with storage space within the transit shed for 227,200 cases.

Every possible feature for fireproofing the terminal has been utilized in its design. The eight steel doors at the front of the transit shed do not come down to floor level, there being a forty-six-inch concrete bulwark across the bottom of each doorway. A similar thirty-eight-inch concrete firewall runs along the outer edge of the thirty-five-foot apron wharf, so that all gasoline or kerosene is inclosed within liquid-tight walls from the time it leaves the truck until it is stored aboard ship.

The concrete switch houses containing the shed's electrical equipment operate from outside the shed, to remove any possibility of short circuits, while the entire structure is equipped with a new-type overhead sprinkling system. The greater portion of the port's case-oil exports, which average more than 400,000 cases monthly, will be handled from the new terminal.

LINER VIRGINIA TO SAIL EAST ON MONDAY

Panama-Pacific Line's electric speedster Virginia, in tomorrow from San Francisco, will sail for New York, via the Canal and Havana, Monday morning with 400 cabin passengers and 5000 tons of California freight.

Among her passengers will be J. C. Blick and Charles Folkenbach, scientists from the paleontology department of the American Museum of Natural History, who are en route to Guayaquil, Ecuador, on a research expedition. Others departing include R. S. Mosher, manager of the Miramar Club, at Panama; Oscar Reichow, manager of the Los Angeles Pacific Coast League baseball club; Oscar Vitt, manager of the Hollywood club, both of them being en route to Montreal to attend the baseball managers' convention, and A. L. Miller, executive of the Panama Canal staff.

Official announcement that the resignation from the United States Intercoastal Conference of the Dollar Steamship Line, the Luckenbach Line and the American-Hawaiian Line, effective yesterday, have been withdrawn was made yesterday by Thomas G. Widmeyre, Pacific Coast head of the conference.

Yesterday's action marks the third postponement of the resignations of the intercoastal trade's "Big Three," which were originally to have become effective early last October. Mr. Widmeyre's announcement added that the withdrawals have been made pending a general meeting by all lines in the intercoastal trade, both conference and nonconference operators, in mid-January.

Admiral Line's Los Angeles-Ensenada liner Admiral Rogers began her revised schedule last night when she sailed for the Mexican port at 8 o'clock with 100 passengers. She will hereafter make two round-trip voyages per week via San Diego. She returns here next Monday at 7 a.m. and sails again Tuesday night.

The new Chilean naval tanker Maipo is due at the port this morning on her maiden visit to load a cargo of fuel oil at the Union Oil terminal. She is in command of Capt. Samuel Ward.

Hawaii being too far away to hear audible radio broadcasting of today's game between U.S.C. and University of Hawaii at the local Coliseum, a dot-and-dash report, play-by-play will be sent. Hawaii over short wave by the Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company. Fred L. Dewey, district manager, sitting in the Coliseum will hammer the key which sends the words through transmitters at Clearwater and across the air into newspaper offices in Honolulu. There it is expected to be read into a broadcaster for island distribution. On land-line telegraph it has been done many years, but Dewey believes this play-by-play by radio telegraph is a novelty for Southland games.

Expediting the coming government suit to condemn and acquire part of Plaza Park as a site for a Federal building at San Pedro Charpless Walker, assistant United States District Attorney, said publication notices to heirs would start in ten days. Publication will require sixty days, indicating the case may come to trial by February, next. The structure will cost $600,000 and will house offices of thirteen government divisions. The San Pedro Chamber of Commerce has asked expedition to relieve unemployment.

Thirty members of the football team of the University of Hawaii will be among the 175 passengers sailing for Honolulu tomorrow on the Lassco flagship City of Los Angeles. Departure was delayed a day to accommodate the team. Passengers will include Austin Shaw, portrait painter of Pasadena; Henry A. Johnstone, retired British army captain, and Joseph H. Sharp, artist of Taos, N. M., and Pasadena.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14. (AP)—Fresh from her annual dry docking the intercoastal liner Virginia in command of Capt. James E. Roberts will sail from here tomorrow. She came off the Hunter's Point dry dock yesterday.

The Virginia was on the ways a day longer than expected when an inspection revealed her propeller was damaged. She will sail from here with a capacity cargo and a large list of passengers, Panama-Pacific Line officials say.

The monthly meeting of the Pacific Traffic Association will be held here next Tuesday night.

F. W Gomph, agent of the Pacific Freight Tariff Bureau, is to be the principal speaker. His topic will be "the publication of bureau tariffs, concurrence forms and the functions of a tariff publishing agent."

Officers for the ensuing year will be nominated at the meeting.

SEATTLE, Nov. 14.—The Alaskan liner Northwestern, her rudder lost as the result of a recent storm, was being towed here today at the rate of about six knots an hour from Dundas Bay, on the inside passage to Alaska, by the giant tugs Creole and Douglas. Local offices of the Alaska Steamship Company were informed the crippled passenger vessel should reach here Wednesday or Thursday. Passengers bound here were taken aboard the liner Alameda.

Representing practically the last of the salmon pack from Southeastern and Southwestern Alaska, 54,000 cases were being discharged here today by the liner Tannana. It is one of the largest shipments brought this year.
